The largely increased prohibition vote throughout the country at the late elections is an indication of the growing hostility of the people of this nation to the rum power and traffic. The temperance millennium may not be so far distant as some imagine. We hope it is not.

The amenities of journalism are not very closely observed between the Lincoln Journal and its country exchanges: The "Topics Man" seems to exercise unbridled license in abusing the members of the profession who may have unwittingly incurred his displeasure. The young man who writes the "Topics" should be transferred to the press room and set to washing rollers. Dirty work seems to suit him.—Gazette-Journal.

SENATOR VAN WYCK arrived here to-day preparatory to the reconvening of congress. His appearance on the streets created considerable excitement, as he was greeted on all sides and was the observed of all observers.

The above is taken from a Washington dispatch to the rankest of the rank bourbon sheets, the Kansas City Times. Evidently the "old man" was locomotion in his granger buckboard, with which he essays to catch the Nebraska farmer's vote.

In view of the prevalence of diphtheria in this locality, as well as in various sections of the state and country, the following may come as the very utterances of wisdom:

The appearance of that deadly disease, diphtheria in so many sections of the country is a general warning for every city and for every household to clean up. It is a disease which grows and flourishes where there are uncleaned streets and alleys, badly ventilated houses, foul sinks and vaults, and deficient plumbing. All these combined don't cost as much to remedy as doctors' and undertakers' bill, aside from the calamities to the homes.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

CONCERNING Grover Cleveland, the opinion has heretofore obtained and prevailed that he was so hopelessly pachydermatous as to be impervious to the keen shaft of the journalist even. This view, in the light of more recent developments, seems to be utterly erroneous, as the president is described as daily growing more and more sensitive toward newspaper men. In fact his extreme irascibility of temper and habitual irritation of mind seem to indicate that he is approaching the condition of mind of Henry VIII, when, toward the close of his life, he kept continually crying out to every new person who approached him, "To the Tower with him." Such seems to be Grover's animus towards the meek and lowly faber pusher.

Worse Than a Fire Alarm,

One of the most dreadful alarms that can be sounded in a mother's ear is produced by croup; dreadful, because it is known to be dangerous; the more dreadful because the life of a loved one is in jeopardy. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is a never failing safeguard against this dangerous disease. Its reputation as a preventive and cure of croup is fully and firmly established. In fact, it is the only remedy which can always be relied upon. Sold by Willey & Walker and McMillan & Weeks.
