THE Hastings Gazette-Journal will bloom into a morning daily on or about May 1st.

It is against the law to "pass," but under Hoyle a fellow can still "order up" and "go alone." Congress has left some rights.

THE late failures at Curtis would indicate a boom of the small "b" order, somewhat like the progressive locomotion of the crab.

Just look at the trade dollar, remarks a moralist. It has limped round remarking, "In God we trust," and its faith is rewarded by redemption.

THE TRIBUNE will probably be excused for calling in question the prognosticating powers of Editor Risley of the Culbertson Sun, when he states that, "The beginning of next winter will see 1,200 to 1,500 inhabitants in Culbertson." We will be generous with you, Bert, and place it at 600.

A SPECIAL to the Inter Ocean from Cedar Rapids, Iowa, says: Sheriffs and other county officials in 75 counties report prohibition successful. There are no open saloons in about three-fourths of the counties. Drunkenness decreased 75 per cent. and crime has also decreased. The law is gaining favor.

THE registration books of Leavenworth, Kansas, have been closed and show the names of 4,318 men and 2,673 women as voters. Two hundred of the leading women have organized themselves into an "election committee," and they propose to show the world what women can accomplish at the ballot box under the new law.

THE inter-state commerce law, as interpreted by trunk lines and the Central Traffic association, abolishes all commissions heretofore allowed agents on tickets to the agents in different parts of the country. This will make a difference in their income of from $50 to $500 per month. Commissions have cost the railways annually $5,000,000. —Omaha Bee.

On Friday last a train of twelve cars heated by steam from the locomotive was run from Portland, Me., to Lake Maranacook and back to Portland, a distance of 120 miles. The speed of the train was not retarded, and a temperature of 80 degrees was maintained even in the rear car throughout the run. In the face of such a successful practical test as this, what justification can there be for the retention of the coal stove?

JOHN GARRETT, in a recent speech, is reported to have said that if the Lord had told Adam on the day that He breathed the breath of life into him that He would give him $25,000 a year for taking care of the garden, and Adam had kept his job and drawn his salary regularly until now, he would not have drawn as large a sum as Wm. K. Vanderbilt left at his death. Commenting upon this statement, and to show how interest can get away with wage earning, the Dubuque, Ia., Times says: "Had Adam, while living in the garden, found one of our big copper cents and placed it at compound interest with satan or the serpent at 6 per cent., he would have more money coming to him than there is on the face of the globe."

LET us look for a moment at the newspaper chronic faultfinder. Suppose a newspaper man, every time he hears of a man who severely criticises him or his paper in public, should retaliate by holding up to the public gaze the faults and shortcomings of said faultfinder, what would be the result? Why, the criticizer would think himself terribly outraged and would thirst for the editor's gore. Then the poor quill driver would get shot or shoot somebody. That patient beast of burden, the country journalist, never does this except under great provocation. It isn't because he is afraid to do it, but because he isn't mean enough. He allows men to go around trying to destroy his business. He hears his paper called a worthless sheet because its editor in doing his duty stepped on somebody's toes. Such worthless scoundrels should receive no mercy at the hands of the press.—Burdette.
