The Soap that Cleans Most is Lenox.

A Good Wool and Mutton Sheep.

One advantage that Merinos have over the Down is their fine wool and abundance of oil, which protects them from the rain and sudden changes of temperature. The Down with their long, open fleeces soon get wet and chilled in a storm, but the wool of the Merinos is so oily that the water runs off more readily. The Merinos are hustlers and will find good picking where the Down would starve. They will also bear herding in large flocks, but seventy-five of Down breed is all that should be put in one flock. The Dickinson, or Black-Top American Merino, are the best that can be found. They are large, strong and not as wrinkly as the Spanish Merino. Cross them with a Down ram or a Horned Dorset and the lambs will grow rapidly and make splendid early lambs to dress, thirty-seven pounds in about six weeks. The ewes will shear a heavy fleece of valuable wool and in the end will give a good carcass for mutton.—Farm and Home.

"Dinner for Two. Appetite for One?" Said a dyspeptic to the waiter, ordering for self and friend. And suppose he had an appetite, it would have agonized him, subsequently, to gratify it. Of the abominable pang that even a little meal causes the confirmed victim of indigestion. Purgatory on earth—no less. Altogether unnecessary, though. Begin at once, systematically, a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, you unfortunately with refractory stomachs. In saying this we merely echo the recorded experience of thousands who have used the great stomachic to their lasting benefit. For the inaction of a sluggish liver, and for any or irregular action of the bowels, both very apt to accompany dyspepsia, this Bitter regulator is equally efficient. Malarial complaints, kidney trouble, rheumatism and neuralgia depart when a resort is had to the Bitters.

Couldn't Help Herself.

Watts—So she refused you, did she?
Dumley—"Yes; said she wouldn't ever be a sister to me. That made me mad and now she's got to be one to me."

"Watts—How is that?"
Dumley—"I proposed to her sister and was accepted."

The Comptroller and the Banks.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 15.—The recent failure of the Keystone Bank of Philadelphia has directed special attention to the great responsibility that is vested in the comptroller of the currency. From his office in the treasury department the comptroller has to keep eyes on 3,665 banks, with a capital ranging from $50,000 to $5,000,000 and aggregating more than $1,000,000,000. Each of these banks must report its condition to the department five times a year, and the comptroller may call upon them at any moment without warning for a statement of their condition on a certain day. All these reports have to be carefully examined and compared with former reports and other statements published by the banks. If anything irregular or in the least suspicious is discovered, the directors of the bank are notified and requested to correct or explain, as the case may require. It is the custom to notify each of the directors in a separate letter, that there may be no concealment on the part of any one of them. Besides this there is the control of the corps of examiners, the supervision of the solvent banks in many other particulars and the settlement of the accounts of the insolvent, the redemption of old notes and the chartering of new and closing of old banks retiring from business, the allowing of which the comptroller must give his attention. To assist him in this he has a force of about thirty examiners and ninety-two other employes. Through this office the bank gets its charter to exist. The division of issue sees to its currency; the redemption division sees that the old notes are properly chewed up into material for pulp ornaments which tourists fancy; the division of reports keeps its weather eye on the banks during their varied existence, and finally, if they are not well managed, it becomes the duty of the insolvent division to close them up and try to satisfy the creditors. The insolvent division has had its hands full lately between examinations, liquidations and explanations. It is not a popular branch of this financial system. It was not provided for in the general plan approved by congress, but with the approval of the powers, born of necessity, it came into existence and plays a very important part in the system of bank supervision. The bank examiners' reports go there and the fate of a tottering bank is there decided, as far as the government's decision goes.

Indian Pow Wow.

CHAMBERLAIN, S. D., June 15.—The Indians at Lower Brule agency held a grand pow wow to discuss matters of interest to their future welfare and lay plans as to their action upon the arrival of the Sioux commission a few weeks hence. The commission will have some trouble in arranging matters satisfactorily to these Indians. The most important question discussed at the council today related to the proposed removal of the Lower Brule agency to a point farther north on the Missouri river. The Indians are divided on the matter, there being many of them in favor of going up the river, but a still larger number appear determined to go south of White river to Rosebud reservation, where they claim the land is better. As the government will insist on them all locating together it can be seen that the commission will have considerable difficulty in settling the matter to the satisfaction of both parties. The Indians, however, are anxious that the matter be settled in some manner, as many of them desire to take their allotments of land in severity on the new reservation upon which they will be placed, if the commission can arrange without friction where that reservation will be.

Over Sixty People Killed.

BERNE, June 15.—A horrible accident occurred on the Moenchenstein & Bale railway today through the collapse of a bridge beneath a heavily loaded excursion train. The train was crowded with people on their way to attend a musical fete. Over sixty persons were killed, while hundreds were injured. The engine and the first car plunged into the river and all the passengers in the car were drowned. The cars remained suspended from the bridge. All the trainmen were killed. Thirteen cars were saved.

The musical fete at Moenchenstein was abandoned as soon as the news of the accident arrived and hundreds of villagers hurried to the scene to assist in rescuing the victims.

The bridge was an iron structure, which was considered well built and substantial. The only apparent reason for the collapse of the bridge is that the train left the rails and threw its entire weight on one side of the bridge.

Food Scarcity and High in Peru.

PANAMA, June 15.—The president of Peru has issued a decree admitting free of duty into the republic the following articles: Live sheep and cattle, dried meats, salt beef, smoked or pickled fish, wheat and corn, potatoes and all other vegetables, eggs, cheese, chestnuts, peas, beans, rice, grape seed, herbs and spices, and has decreed an export duty of 20 soles, silver, per head on cattle exported and 2 soles per head on sheep exported. This action, as announced in the decree, is in consequence of the scarcity and consequent high price of food in Peru caused by the floods that have followed the heavy rains throughout the country and by the enormous demands for all forms of food caused by the war in Chili. The export of provisions from Peru to the armies of the insurgents along the coast of Chili has so reduced the stock of flour and meat that speculators have taken advantage of the situation and advanced the price of beef to 40 cents per pound in the Callao and Callao departments, where and bread are held at similar Strawberries.

Why are they called "straw" berries? Smart men differ on that. Some say it is on account of their hollow, straw-like stems. Others think it is because they have to be covered with straw or similar protecting material in winter. The most classical explanation is that our Anglo-Saxon forefathers use to raise them and they gave them this name because the berries are generally on the ground, that is "strawed" or "strawed" around.

SAY! While "CUT & SLASH"

Does not set up any Special Claim to the patronage of any particular sect or class of men. It does not rank at the head of ALL Pipe Smokers. Of course "CUT AND SLASH" does not expect the patronage of that class of humanity called "Dudes" or "City Bleds," who may think it nice to pay 10 cents for a ounce package of tobacco, when 5 cents might buy as good—possibly better tobacco. We are simply trying to give the consumer the best tobacco we can—2 Ounces for 5 Cents, and are anxious to have as many people as possible try it. If it does not suit, don't expect them to buy any more. If you never try it you will never know how good or how mean it is. Give entire satisfaction wherever introduced. Pipe smokers say it is a "winner." If you have never tried it, don't say that you never will, but ace the part of a wise man and try it at once. It will be sure not to kill you, but we will not guarantee that its use will not make a congressman or a poet out of you. Will you try a package? Retail dealers can buy from Wholesale Grocers and jobbers at factory prices. Put up in 5 pound cartons, 25 pound bales, with show card and 25 samples in each bale.
