THE railway passenger men in these parts have had a number of spats recently. One is accused of cutting the pooling rate, while another charged with secretly paying commissions or otherwise using crooked methods for securing business. It is crimination and recrimination. A joint rate is established to day only to be shaved tomorrow by one or the other party to the pool. A traffic pool was never formed and kept inviolate, and the chances are, one never will be. Of course, the traveler gets the benefit of any cut rate, and from his stand point the deeper the cut the better. These passenger rate wars, however, do not as a rule inure to the public benefit in the end. The people in some way must make up the losses. An elective railway commission might make this a subject of investigation on the part of the state. A cut rate from Chadron to the Missouri river means that a railroad making it can afford to carry passengers at a less rate than is required by law. The railway commission might rule that a reduced rate given to one party of tourists must also be extended to every party of tourists.—Bee.

NEBRASKA.

Newsp Notes About Nebraska Places and People.

John Norton of Chadron was drunk the 'other day. He drank to his shame and his sorrow. He lay down to sleep on the track near the lake. A train came along, but he didn't awake. They gathered him up with a pitchfork and rake and took him home in a wheelbarrow.

The Norfolk Journal is fifteen years of age.

Grand Island is to have a new three story brick hotel.

Diphtheria has put in its deadly appearance at Kearney.

The Oxnards have contributed $100 worth of coal to the poor of Norfolk.

There will be no more joint debates of a public nature in Nebraska until after Christmas.

It has been discovered by the Columbus Journal that chloride of gold is a specific for diphtheria.

The Norfolk sugar factory closed the season after making 8,800 barrels of the granulated variety.

A Chadron school ma'am has resigned her position and salary to get married. She is a heroine.

The village of Lynch has shouldered the responsibility of bridging the raging Ponca at its own expense.

Colonel Warner, an urbane usher of the Grand Island opera house, was relieved of $28 by a pickpocket.

A Broken Bow farmer lost a pocket-book containing $45 cash money. The finder seems to have kept it.

Several Merrick county farmers are shipping in sheep from Wyoming. They believe in diversified farming.

Sim Ballard is wanted at Superior by anxious creditors, who were left comfortless when he suddenly disappeared.

Numerous Holt county farmers have a large supply of potatoes, for which they are harvesting a big crop of dollars.

E. H. Wickham, one of Midland's most successful farmers and stock raisers, is making preparations to winter 2,000 sheep.

From September 1, 1891, to September 1, 1892: there were 303 cars of grain and 200 cars of live stock shipped from Ansley, Custer county.

In Frontier county several inches of snow fell on election day. It is not surprising. Nothing in fact can ever again astonish the American people.

The little son of Lewis Loomer of York was instantly killed by the caving in of a cistern arch. He was holding a lantern while the cistern was being repaired.

Eight thousand sheep were shipped from Grant to Omaha and Chicago last week. They were driven from Wyoming to that point. It required 140 cars to hold them.

Newspapers that crowd their columns with patent medicine advertisements, to the exclusion of live local intelligence and select gems of thought, are not standing up for Nebraska worth a cent.

The York Foundry and Engine company has been awarded a large order of castings for the B. & M. railroad company to be used at Alliance. They competed with Omaha, St. Louis and other large cities and carried off the prize.

The Derby farm, recently sold to Andy Syec for $4,000, was resold the other day to Frank Krupecka for $4,300. This is a fair sample of how land is increasing in value in this neighborhood.—Exeter Enterprise.

J. M. Adams of Bostwick precinct was in the city Saturday and brought some wheat to the mill that tested sixty-four pounds to the bushel. He had a field of forty acres that yielded him thirty-two bushels per acre.—Superior Journal.

Beet pulp is being shipped from Grand Island to neighboring towns.

Three farmers took in the town of Leigh the other night. They filled up in a saloon and then emptied the place, bartender and all. Then they searched for more worlds to conquer and for a short time had everything their own way, but they were finally gathered in by a posse, lodged over night behind unfriendly bars, and in the morning compelled to pay a schedule of damages and contribute liberally to the school fund. And the way of the transgressor is hard.

It is conceded that the Nebraska Australian ballot is effective, but slow.

About 500 persons here viewed on Monday the petrified man discovered near Chadron a few days ago. Valentine and Fort Niobrara physicians pronounce it a genuine petrification. E. A. Huston has purchased a one-third interest in the petrification and he and his partners will exhibit the same in several of the large cities and then take it to the world's fair. These gentlemen will reap a large fortune by exhibiting this perfect petrification of a human being.—Valentine Republican.
