Hill's counsel and friends are endeavoring to secure a commutation to life imprisonment, but advice received from Lincoln are to the effect that the governor has made no move in the matter, it being the usual practice to seek the views of the members of the supreme court and the trial judge, and as the governor has made no request of the judges mentioned, it is generally presumed that he is disposed to let the death sentence stand. The commutation of the prisoner's sentence would be accepted with considerable regret by the people of Cass county.
