At Lincoln the jury in the case of the administrators of the estate of W. H. Morse, one of the victims of the Rock Island wreck, against the company, brought in a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $2,000. The case has excited little interest in legal circles, as it is the first one prosecuted since the conviction of George W. Davis for wrecking the train.

J. M. COLEMAN of Neligh drove out to his farm a load of grain. Returning he was walking by his wagon with the lines tied to the seat. The team became frightened and Coleman reached for the lines, but was thrown under the wagon, both wheels running over his left shoulder and arm. The arm was badly mangled and will doubtless have to be amputated.

Ex-Congressman McKeighan Dead.

Hon. W. A. McKeighan, ex-member of congress from the Fifth Nebraska district, died at Hastings. Mr. McKeighan had been seriously ill since his attendance at the Trans-Mississippi congress at Omaha some two weeks ago. His disease took a desperate turn and for several days the end has been patiently awaited. He was a sufferer from dropsy, complicated with heart and lung trouble. His funeral was held at Red Cloud.

William Arthur McKeighan of Red Cloud was born of Irish parents in Cumberland county, New Jersey, January 19, 1842; removed with his parents to Fulton county, Illinois, in 1848, where he lived on a farm and attended common school; enlisted in the Eleventh regiment, Illinois cavalry, September, 1861; at the close of the war settled on a farm near Pontiac, Ill.; took an active part in organizing the farmers' association; was elected vice president for the Eighth congressional district; removed to Nebraska in 1880; took an interest in organizing the alliance; was elected county judge of Webster county in 1885; in 1886 was democratic candidate for congress against Hon. James K. Laird and was defeated; was again nominated for congress by the alliance of the independent party; was endorsed by the democratic convention, and elected to the Fifty-second and re-elected to the Fifty-third congress as an independent, defeating William E. Andrews, republican; renominated for the Fifty-fourth congress and was defeated by Hon. William E. Andrews.

Thurston's Railroad Bill. Senator Thurston's bill for the reorganization of the Union Pacific, says a Washington dispatch, made familiar through the press during the month, was introduced on Thursday in the senate and referred to the committee on Pacific railroads. Senator Thurston will devote a large portion of his attention to pushing this measure to an early consideration by the senate, and has strong hopes of being able to secure its passage during the present congress. While Senator Thurston has resigned his solicitorship of the Union Pacific railway, he takes not an unnatural interest in the road, and will be looked upon as the chief promoter in Washington of subjects relating to its interests. Mr. Thurston's private secretary, Mr. E. C. Snyder, will prove an ally to him in literary work connected with the road. Mr. Snyder has already printed several interviews with Nebraska's junior senator upon the Union Pacific and is expected to do good work in explaining intricate details connected with the bill and in bringing them properly before the public.

A Lincoln Bank Closed. Lincoln dispatch: The German National bank suspended and was taken in charge this morning by H. J. Whittemore, national bank examiner. Gold Finds in Nebraska. Heuron dispatch: The report comes from Friendenson, a postoffice seven miles up the little Blue river, that gold has been discovered there. A Degner has been using sand from the river to do some plastering and has thrown what he did not use where the postoffice is run in it. He killed a duck and in the gizzard was found a piece of gold about the size of a grain of corn. It was polished bright and was worn smooth. Shelby dispatch: What is supposed to be the fountain head of the Milford gold fields was discovered yesterday on the farm of R. J. Cook, five miles southeast of town. While digging sand on the banks of the Blue River Cook noticed small particles of glittering metal. It was examined by himself and some neighbors, who renewed the digging with exultant spirits. The news of the discovery spread and at nightfall a large crowd had gathered. The sand is black and is being worked six feet below the surface.

An Old-Time Physician Gone. Dr. George M. Brinker, who has been seriously ill for some time past, died last week at his home in Nebraska City. Dr. Brinker was one of the oldest physicians in the state. He was born in Virginia in 1812, received his education at the University of Pennsylvania, came to Nebraska City in 1865 and with the exception of about two years has resided there since that time. He was a member of the Presbyterian church, an active Mason and prominent in the councils of the Otoe county medical society. His death has been anticipated for some weeks past.

TALK ON VENEZUELA.

COMMISSION BILL AMENDED IN THE SENATE.

Mr. Sherman Says There Will Be No War and That There is No Occasion for All This Haste—Mr. Morgan Would Like Prompt Action—The Senate Substitute for the House Measure.

Dismissing Venezuela Matters.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—The foreign affairs committee of the Senate met early this morning and devoted the time before the assembling of the Senate to consideration of the Venezuelan commission bill passed by the House the day after the President's message was sent to Congress. After some discussion, the following was agreed upon:

"That the sum of $100,000, or so much thereof as may be necessary, be and the same is hereby appropriated for the expenses of a commission to consist of three members to be appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, to investigate and report to him the facts in regard to the divisional line between the republic of Venezuela and British Guiana; provided, that section 2 of the act approved July 31, 1894, making appropriations for the legislative, executive and judicial expenses of the government shall not apply to any commissioners appointed under this act."

When the senate was about to convene Mr. Allen of Nebraska consulted with his Populist friends as to whether he would consent to allow the commission bill to go to third reading and passage to-day. Finally he said that he would not object to its passage to-day.

As soon as the Senate met, Mr. Morgan secured unanimous consent for the consideration of the House Venezuelan bill and it was at once read. Then he offered the Senate substitute and briefly explained the changes.

Mr. Platt of Connecticut said that any delay would be construed in England as hesitation on America's part and that it was essential not to change the bill. As to that part which changed the wording as to the report of the commission upon the true divisional line, or the facts in the case, he claimed that the facts would be the divisional line. The amendment of the Senate would be construed as conceding on the part of the Senate and the Senate should notify Great Britain that America is behind the President.

Mr. Sherman said that the President's course had been approved unanimously by both houses of Congress. England was not making any fresh aggressions and was not taking the matter very seriously. He thought that the dispute would be settled honorably and that no American blood would be shed. The fact that the Senate amended the bill could not be construed in any way as meaning that the Senate did not stand firmly by the President. The amendments would improve the bill and he had no doubt if made they would be accepted by the House. "It seems to me," he continued, "that all this is too hasty; that we are too eager. Let us take our time to deliberate, and not rush into the matter."

COMMITTED FIVE MURDERS. Harry Hayward's Confession Made Just Before His Execution.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Dec. 21.—The ante-mortem statement of Harry Hayward, making 30,000 words, is in many respects a most remarkable document. It was made under the most formal conditions and with solemn assertions on the murderer's part that he was telling the truth. Not only does he claim to have murdered during his brief career, no less than five different people, but in describing the various tragedies in which he figured he shows an utter absence of human feeling, and a pleasure in his achievements that marks him as an unusual type of criminal. The language used in describing his criminal adventures is in the careless, blimp style that characterized his testimony on the stand.

Money, he said, was his object in life, girls the second, and travel the third. There was a girl in Minneapolis with whom he was going and who had $2,000 a year. He had planned to kill her, but did not because there was no way he could get her money. He longed to do the deed. "I used to make me a good—mad," said Hayward, "that I wanted to choke her. I can understand how Durrant killed those two girls in San Francisco with pleasure."

His first murder was that of Carrie Hass, near Pasadena, Cal., whose little fortune of $700 he secured. Once when tending bar in Long Branch he killed a consumptive man who was there. The consumptive had money and wanted to die. The name Harry refused to tell on the ground that he had an accomplice who might get into trouble now, but this murder was by shooting, too, and the body had been thrown into the water. Then there was a Chinaman killed in a gambling quarrel and the brother of the Mexican girl at El Paso Del Norte, and lastly Miss Ging.

Kassia Does Not Look For War. ST. PETERSBURG, Dec. 21.—The Russian newspapers generally discuss the Venezuelan question, and express the belief that it will have a pacific issue. The Novosti considers that the position assumed by the United States is in conflict with the interests of the whole of Europe, and suggests that the mediation of certain European powers will probably result in a peaceful settlement of the dispute.

CANADA TALKS DEFENSE. Thirty Thousand Troops Ready for Action if Needed—Alarm Not Yet Felt.

OTTAWA, Ontario, Dec. 21.—Officials of the government claim that in case of war between Great Britain and the United States Canada could in twenty-four hours put 30,000 fully equipped men into the field and hold any force the United States is likely to bring against this country in check for a couple of months at least. The situation is generally viewed as one of the greatest gravity, calling for prompt preparation for defense, but not for any alarm.

A Triple Tragedy in Iowa. SIOUX CITY, Iowa, Dec. 21.—Near Castana, in Honore county, George Wolf, a Frenchman, shot and killed Mrs. William Rattig, with whom his divorced wife was staying, shot and fatally wounded his wife and then committed suicide.

Designer Atwood Dead. CHICAGO, Dec. 21.—Charles E. Atwood, architect and designer, until recently a member of the firm of D. H. Burnham & Co., is dead, from a complication of nervous diseases. He was a bachelor and a few months more than 44 years of age.

UNITED STATES ALLIES.

South and Central American Countries Will Give Their Support.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—Among Secretary Olney's callers yesterday were Minister Andrade of Venezuela, Minister Mendonca of Brazil and Minister Romero of Mexico, representing three of the first republics of South and Central America. Although none of the Central and South American diplomats will consent to be quoted regarding their call, it is known that they, as a rule, have called their governments that the present seems an opportune time for invoking the Monroe doctrine as a means of support against European pressure, several of them being involved in disputes with European nations at this time.

The statement is made by one of them that several important results will follow the vigorous construction of the Monroe doctrine. First, it is said, will be the official adherence of the Southern Republics, making the declaration practically unanimous from the countries of the Western hemisphere. It is pointed out that Lord Salisbury insisted that the Monroe doctrine was not recognized as international law, but this, it is said, will be answered by a showing that all the Republics of North and South America accept it as the law governing them.

The project of another conference of American republics in line with the Pan-American conference, but with a view to political alliance rather than commercial reciprocity, is being discussed also. The suggestion is made with much directness in diplomatic circles that the course of the United States assures to it the moral and physical support of all the Southern and Central American republics. In the aggregate this allied strength of the Western republics, with the United States as its head, would constitute a new and formidable factor in international affairs. It is not suggested among diplomats that such an alliance will take the formal shape of a treaty, but it is urged that the feeling of union existing constitutes a compact quite as effective as a formal understanding.

HOT TALK BY INGALLS. Says Americans Hate England Most Intensely for Various Reasons.

ATCHISON, Kan., Dec. 21.—"The President's message is an adroit appeal to the profoundest passion of the American people," said ex-Senator John J. Ingalls to a reporter. "Our conception of the Monroe doctrine is vague, and our love for Venezuela is platonic, but we all hate England. It is hereditary. It is so intense that it obliterates party lines, effaces sectionalism and makes us homogenous. We divide on protection, on silver, on the race question, but in our hatred of England we are unanimous. The sloppy diplomatic twaddle about kindred blood, and a common language, deceives nobody. We feel that England is our only enemy among the great powers of the earth. It has been so from the beginning of our history. At every crisis in our affairs we have encountered the secret or open hostility of England, and the tone of her press has been always cynical, sneering and contemptuous."

"But there will be no war. Like all ruffians and bullies, England is a coward and poltroon when it comes to a showdown; she never fights her equals; she kicks women and children; she bullies Turkey, Egypt, Hindostan, South Sea Islanders and African tribes and tyrannizes over the weak and feeble, but when Grant notified her that she must pay for the depredations her pirates committed on our commerce in the rebellion, or take the consequences, she accepted the Geneva award, and sent her check for $10,500,000 in full settlement of our claim."

GEN. MERRITT'S VIEWS. Would Take the Initiative and Invade Canada at Once.

CHICAGO, Dec. 21.—In the event of a war with Great Britain, Chicago and the lakes will be safe," said Major General Wesley Merritt, commanding the department of the Missouri. "My impression is," he said, "that we would make the war an aggressive one. We would invade Canada at once, take the initiative, and invade Canada at once and make that country the great seat of war. The immediate seizure of the Welland canal, to hold it or destroy it, would solve at once the problem of the lake ports. There is nothing to fear from Canada. No invasion of our country could be undertaken here. We could overwhelm the country with a force numbering ten to one anything they could collect or muster, and then not leave our seasons unprotected and unprovided with men to defend every port."

Joseph Cook Broken Down. NILES, Mich., Dec. 21.—S. T. Scarle of this city has received a letter from his daughter, a missionary stationed at Kobe, Japan, in which she says that Joseph Cook, the noted Boston divine, arrived there recently from Australia, broken in mind and body. He had to give up his lecturing tour and the probabilities are he will never regain his health or mental vigor.

Walker's Life Insurance Attacked. ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Dec. 21.—Suit has been begun in the Circuit court against the estate of the late James C. Walker, who committed suicide in Kansas City not long ago, by Louis and Fred Hark and Mrs. E. G. Judson, who allege that he fraudulently assigned his insurance to his wife to avoid payments of his debts. It is said that he carried over $50,000.

SILVER INQUIRY. Senator Allen's Resolution for an Investigation Passed by the Senate.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—In the Senate the resolution of Mr. Allen (Iowa, Neb.) for an investigation by the finance committee of the desirability of the free coinage of silver to meet the exigencies of war, came over on Thursday. Senator Platt moved the reference of the resolution to committee, but the motion was defeated, the vote being:

Yeas—Allen, Brice, Burrows, Caffery, Cameron, Chandler, Gallinger, Gorman, Hale, Hawley, Lodge, McMillan, Martin, Mills, Mitchell (Wisconsin), Morrill, Platt, Proctor, Quay, Sewell, Sherman, Smith, Thurston, Wetmore—24.

GLADSTONE'S OPINION. The Venerable British Statesman Declares Only Common Sense Needed.

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—A local paper cabled to Mr. Gladstone for an expression of opinion as to the best method of assuring peace between Great Britain and the United States and the successful adjustment of the Venezuelan difficulty. The following reply is published: "HAWARDEN, Dec. 20, 1895.—Sole possible reply: Dare not interfere. Only common sense required.—Gladstone."

VEST EXPECTS NOTHING.

The Missouri Senator Believes That the Senate Will Not Aid the President.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—Senator Vest of Missouri, said concerning the President's financial message: "It would be impossible to pass in the Senate any such financial legislation as the President wants; and there would be no sense in pushing through a measure of which we know he will not accept. Of course I do not know what the House question has not yet been definitely shown. But the sentiment of the Senate in this regard was clearly reflected in the vote to refer the resolution introduced by Senator Allen, of Nebraska, directing the finance committee to inquire and report whether or not, under existing conditions, it would be wise to open the mints for the free and unlimited coinage of silver at a ratio of 16 to 1. It stood 36 to 24. That, I think, is indicative of the opposition to the financial views held by the president, and shows the hopelessness of any such legislation as would meet with his approval."

"Do you believe the present crisis calls for immediate financial legislation of some kind to restore confidence?"

"The President has frequently said that when the gold reserve got below $75,000,000 the danger line was reached. It is now down to $70,000,000, and his message is therefore consistent with his previously expressed views. But I cannot see how we are to get legislation with such antagonistic ideas as exist. We believe in the remotization of silver; the President thinks that would be putting out false money."

"Has not the tumbling of stocks created a crisis in which something ought to be done? Do you not think the President looks on it in that way?"

"Very probably he does. The President is a New York man, and such things may agitate him. But Western men, for the most part, look on these transactions as mere gambling, and the news gives them no more concern than if they heard that some faro banks had been broken."

PRINCE OF LIARS.

Harry Hayward's "Confession" a Tissue of Lies From Beginning to End.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Dec. 23.—The impression is growing that Harry Hayward, the prince of liars in life, left his masterpiece of falsehood to follow after his death, in the ante-mortem statement. Not only are there many internal evidences that he told many sensational tales simply from a desire to pose as a great criminal, and to give his "cousin Goodsell" a good thing, but it transpires that Harry, to at least three persons, characterized the statement as a pack of lies. W. W. Hayward, his father, publishes a statement, in which he declares that Harry told his parents before the confession that they need not worry about what he said; it was to be a tissue of lies constructed to meet the demand for sensation. He assured them that he had told them, and them alone, the whole truth. After making the statement, he told his attorney, John Day Smith, that he had taken certain well known facts and woven around them plenty of lies. "The public wants lies," said he, "and I will give them lies. To the specialists who examined his skull and brain at the autopsy, and pronounced him a degenerate, the statement is principally interesting from a psychological point of view, as lending weight and evidence to their theory. The demand for the confession in pamphlet form is phenomenal, and the first edition of 25,000 has already been exhausted."
