WRANGLE OVER A DEFENSE OF SECESSION.

Mr. Barrett Introduces a Resolution to Censure Mr. Talbott of South Carolina for Remarks Alleged to Be Treasonable in Character-The Motion Was Referred After an Animated Discus-Mon.

Lively Time in the Lower House.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8 .- The debate on the Senate free silver substitute for the liouse bond bill proceeded steadly in the House to-day. The House met at 10:30 o'clock with less than thirty members present and a few stragglers in the galleries. Mr. Newlands of Nevada, awoke the empty echoes of the big hall with a vigorous argument in favor of the free and independent coinage of silver. He asserted that not one debtor nation in the world had maintained the gold standard except the United States and we had done so at the price of continued bond issues.

Mr. Hartman of Montana, and Mr. Kem of Nebraska, Populist, followed in favor of concurrence and Mr. Tucker of Virginia, in favor of nonconcurrence.

a question of personal privilege to Britain." correct what he said was an unintentional misrepresentation of himself in the public prints. This led to a stirring incident. He said that Mr. Pearson of North Carolina had made an unwarranted attack on the loyalty of his state, which he declared was as had followed South Carolina out of the union, and had got whipped along with the Palmetto state.

"In a jocular way, Mr. Speaker," continued Mr. Talbot, "I declared that we were not whipped but had worn ourselves out trying to whip the other fellows. In the heat of the moment," he continued, "and impulsively, I said, that South Carolina was not ashamed of the part she took in it; that she was proud of it, and that I for one indorsed secession then. I thought we were right; I think so yet, and that under the same circumstances, surrounded by the same coaditiens, that I would do the same thing again. Now, Mr. Speaker I repeat it. "He has said that he has repeated the statement that under certain circumstances he believed in secession. I propose now to offer a resolution of censure, put in Mr. Barrett of Massachusetts. floor was intense.

Mr. Crisp said that he had never made that he be allowed to explain his considered. To this Mr. Barrett replied that he had no objection to the gentleman from South Carolina explaining at the proper time his statement; that the gentleman, having taken an oath to sustain the constitution of the United States said he would, under certain cirumstance, at-tempt to overthrow and humiliate the government.

There was more parlimentary sparring between Mr. Crisp and Mr. Barrett, during which the excitement gradually rose. The Speaker finally cut the matter short by saying that if the House was not satisfied with Mr. Talbot's explanation the resolution might be offered. The Speaker deeided that Mr. Crisp's motion was in

"I take it for granted," said Mr. Dingley, rising, "that the House does not intend to vote on a resolution of censure without according the gentleman from South Carolina an opporunity to explain."

These words won the applause of the Democratic side.

Mr. Talbot availed himself of the opportunity and explained that he had risen to correct a misrepresentation. He had no idea that the press intended to misrepresent him intentionally. South Carolina, he proceeded, was as loyal and as true to the Union as any State in the Union. The circumstances under which she seceded could not exist again and he was glad of it. (Democratic applause). Mr. Barrett of Massachusetts jumped up at these words and asked that the words be taken down. Several members appealed to him not to do so and the speaker asked Mr. Barrett if he insisted upon the

Mr. Barrett seemed to hesitate when Mr. Talbot again got on his feet and declared in a loud voice that he was willing to have his words taken down. "I will stand by them," said he.

These words seemed to clinch Mr. Barrett's resolve, and Mr. Barrett replied to the speaker with feeling: Yes, I insist. I want to see if a member can violate his oath in this fashion.

"The chair understood that the gentleman from South Carolina was only repeating what he had said on a former occasion," said Speaker Reed.

Mr. Barrett replied that in that case he had a point of order to submit. Mr. Crisp, the Democratic leader, however, at this point crowded into the arena and moved that Mr. Talbot be permitted to explain. The words were then read at the clerk's desk and Mr. Barrett then formally made the point of order that when a statement made by a member had been called in question and he deliberately reiterated it, is constituted a new statement and a new offense.

After a wrangle and some explanations, Mr. Dalzell of Pennsylvania moved to refer the Barrett resolution to the committee on judiciary. This was carried by a vote of 154 to 41. This is understood to mean that no notice will be taken of the matter. Mr. Owens of Kentucky was the only Democrat who voted against the mo-

MONROE DOCTRINE AGAIN.

Senator Allen of Nehraska Ventilates His Views.

WASHINGTON, Feb. S. - Senator Allen of Nebraska addressed the Senate today on the Monroe doctrine resolution. He contended that the Monroe doctrine was one of national self-preservation, and that if the invasion of the South American republies by Great Britain will endanger the welfare or menace the safety of this Government in any way, we should resent the action with all the strength and resources of a mighty nation. The United States must be the exclusive judge of when the doctrine is to be applied. The United States, Mr. Allen maintained, cannot permit Great Britain or any other foreign power to determine when and to what extent the acquisition of territory on the Western hemisphere will imperil our Government. He thought, however, that it would be ample time to act when the Venezuelan commission shall have reported, and said: "If we shall determine that the action of Great Britain in acquiring territory in Venezuela will imperil rights of Venezuela, it will become our duty to marshal all the resources of our people to resist the threatened or actual invasion. If, on the other hand, we shall determine, after due investigation and deliberation, that will be our duty to abstain from any Mr. Talbot of South Carolina rose to interference with the action of Great

CLEVELAND TALKS.

Discusses the Recent Bon: I Issue and

Syndicate Deal of 1895. WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.-In an interview President Cleveland said regarding the bond issue: "From such information as comes to me from various private sources, I am convinced that more small holdings of gold will be drawn into the treasury by the present arrangement than appear on the surface. The small country banks, for instance, which are buying bonds for their customers, have made their bids through their New York and Boston correspondents, and this gives the loan the appearance of having been taken up by the big financial institutions at the money centers, although, as a matter of fact, not a little of it will come from the small investors."

The subject of the syndicate contract of February, 1895, having been mentioned, Mr. Cleveland remarked that he had never had reason to question the wisdom of that arrangement under the conditions then existing.

"That contract," he added, "helped us out at a time when a forty-eight hours' delay might have produced serious results. I sympathize, nevertheless, with some of the objections made to that form of placing a loan. The difference between the price obtained from the syndicate and the price currently quoted can be twisted into an argument which will appeal to people who do not stop to calculate the actual cost to the syndicate of floating a loan at that time. "My preference would have been to have the present loan much more popular than it appears on its face, but we have done the best we could. The people who hoard small savings of gold or the equivalent of gold are unaccustomed to transacting business on the basis on which these bonds had to be issued; they are unused to premiums or to the formalities of making bids. If we could have sold them, three per cent gold bonds at par, I think it would have brought out a good deal of this gold, but the only bonds the law allows us to issue have to be sold considerably above par in order to keep the net rate of interest again a candidate for the same posiwithin reasonable limits."

NEW YORK, Feb. 8 .- Dr. Cyrus Edson, who was at one time commissioner of health of the city and county of New York, and who has been for years one of the well-known contributors to the leading magazines, publishes an article in the Medical Record under the following title: "A Rational Treatment for Phthisis Pulmonalis, Together With Some Notes on a New Remedial Solution." Under this headline comes the description of a discovery made by Dr. Edson, which, it is said, may solve the hitherto unsolved problem of the cure of tubercu-

After a long and tedious experiment he produced a fluid which he calls aseptolin. It is perfectly colorless, looks like crystal, and smells strongly of carbolic acid. It contains 2.75 per cent of carbolic acid, and to every ounce of it there is added one-hundredth of a grain of a new salt discovered by Dr. Edson during his work, a salt cailed pilocarpin-phenly-hydroxide. The aseptolin is injected under our government by imperiling the the skin, and thus directly into the blood. A Remarkable Test. A remarkable test for total abstinence for workingmen recently occurred in England. At a large public meeting where the liquor question was being discussed, one of the workingmen declared it was ridiculous to think of himself and his fellows doing without

The chairman of the meeting, wishing to get at the truth of the matter, inquired, "Have you ever tried doing without it? If not, how are you able to judge?" He then proposed to adjourn the meeting for a month, have the men try the experiment, and then come together and give their honest verdict. They agreed to do this. When the night of the second meeting arrived, the building was crowded two hours bemade an address substantially as follows: "We have kept our promise toxicating drink. We have continued have proceeded; and, as we have not been a single day or even an hour absent from work during that period, there were no deductions for lost time. Who Conquers Must Suffer Crowns only adorn the heads of those who have carried crosses. The parable of the diamond and the wheel may comfort some overladen with troubles. I is recounted as follows:

"Alas!" cried a diamond to the whee upon which it was being cut, "here I have been tortured for the last three days. What a misfortune it was that I ever came your way!"

"Say not so," replied the wheel in encouraging tones. "The last stone that came to me was so rough and dull that you could scarce tell it was a diamond; but when I had done with it, it was placed in a king's crown."

"A king's crown!" exclaimed the astonished stone, "and do you think that I shall ever adorn the brows of a king?"

"It is quite possible; but if not allowed to enjoy so great an honor, you may find some other exalted and brilliant position; but you will never see the glories of a royal house unless I do my utmost for you." "Then grind away," said the gem, as it nerved itself to endure the trial. "I'll stand it if it means an increase of beauty and promotion."

Sermon to the Barbers.

Rev. H. H. Ford, pastor of the Methodist Episcoral church at St. Louis, preached Sunday morning to the barbers of the city. His text was: Ezekiel, v., 1, "A Barber's Razor." At the right of the pulpit was a barber's chair, towels, two mirrors and the paraphernalia usually seen in a well-equipped shop. Mr. Ford gave a brief history of the profession, its long existence, ancient superstitions, and that of a Chinaman of the present day, after which he compared the various paraphernalia to different phases in human life, combining the wordly with the spiritual. The chair he represented as self-examination; the mirror, the bible, the study of which should create a light; shears. truth, how, after a strong application of the truth, false ideas would vanish.

A year ago a man was killed on a bridge between Farnhamville and Gowrie, and it was reported the man's ghost haunted the spot. The boys decided to go and have a tilt with the ghost, and started for the bridge. One of the boys rigged himself up in a sheet and impersonated the supposed specter with such realistic effect that Reynolds believed the ghost to be genuine and started for home at top speed, running nine miles, dropping at the doorway with exhaustion. He was unable to leave his bed for severa weeks and has since been insane.

The Mother of Vice.

It is a significant fact that the following denunciation of the liquor traffic should come from the London Times: It would be impossible to find anything which stands for so much loss to soul, body and estate as the public house. Even if we accept the best case that can be made for it in principle. the fact is it is still a huge nuisance and misery, there is not a vice or disease or a disorder or a calamity of any kind that has not its frequent rise in the public house. The public house degrades, ruins and brutalizes a large portion of the British people.

Value of the Ophir Gold.

A learned German has calculated the amount of gold which David and Solomon fetched from Ophir, that mysterious land of fabulous treasure, for the adornment of the temple at Jerusalem. David got 3,000 kikkars and Solomon 540 kikkars; total, 3,540 kikkars, or 160,-804 kilogrammes of gold, representing a value of $80,000,000. With equal learnedness the same authority has figured out that "Ophir" signifies "the land of the south."

Perjurers to Be Punished.

Henceforth the German courts will prosecute perjurers more generally and more severely than heretofore, even when perjury is to be attributed to negligence rather than to criminal intent.
