

REFUSES PROMOTION.

SENATOR ALLEN DECLINES PRESIDENTIAL HONORS.

He Prefers to Serve in the Ranks Where He Can Do the Most Good—Expresses Gratification at the High Commendation Accorded Him, but Must Decline to Stand as Presidential Candidate for His Party.

Allen Leaves the Presidential Field.

LINCOLN, April 8.—United States Senator William V. Allen positively declines to become a candidate for the presidential nomination on the populist ticket. The decision was communicated to Governor Holcomb on March 24. The letter was in reply to a request from the governor for a statement of the senator's position. A great many letters have been received by Senator Allen from influential populist politicians in other states prior to and since the letter was written. In consequence the letter to the governor has been held in the hopes that Senator Allen would reconsider his purpose. He has been stoutly urged to do so since declining to Governor Holcomb, but he absolutely refuses to consider. His letter of declination is as follows:

WASHINGTON, March 24, 1896.—Hon. Silas A. Holcomb, Lincoln, Neb.: My Dear Governor—I have just been reading the very pleasant things said of me in connection with the populist nomination for the presidency, in your recent interview published in the press dispatches, for which please except my thanks. The favorable mention of my name with the high office of president of the United States by the chief executive of my own state, who is himself able and well qualified by education, temperament and experience to fill the exalted position, possesses double value and is very gratifying.

I have not been unconscious, for several months, that a strong sentiment existed in the populist party throughout the nation favorable to my nomination, and I will not disguise from you that it has given me much pleasure to know that my services in the United States senate have been instrumental in prompting the use of my name in that connection. I have also observed quite an extensive discussion of the matter in the public press, and I have been the recipient of hundreds of letters asking me if I would be a candidate for the nomination, or accept it if tendered me.

Fully realizing that ordinarily it is to be considered indecorous to either accept or decline a nomination that has not been tendered, still I feel that the time has come when, in the interest of the party, I should speak openly and frankly, as I desire above all things to promote the interest of the populist party, and by that means the interest of my country. Deeply conscious that it would be a distinguished honor to be the standard bearer of a great political party, founded upon the principles of eternal justice and right, a party that must, in my judgment, soon succeed to the administration of our national government, I nevertheless deem it unwise to permit my name to be used as a candidate.

I think every true citizen should, at this time, consult the interests of the country and not his own personal desire. I do not feel that my experience has been such as to warrant me in being a candidate for the nomination, or in accepting it if it should be tendered me. There are many older and abler men in the party than I am, highly well qualified to make the race, and I feel confident that I can do the cause greater good by remaining where I am, fighting in the ranks for success, than by accepting the nomination if it should be tendered. The welfare of the party, and, therefore, the welfare of the country, is to be consulted at all times; principles count for everything, and men for nothing, in our struggle.

Permit me also to say in this connection that there are personal reasons why I should not be a candidate, among which is the important fact that I have a family of children whose education must be looked after at this time, and who need my personal supervision more now than they ever needed it before, or will ever need it again, and I must not permit myself to imperil their interests for my own promotion.

Profoundly grateful to my fellow citizens of the state and nation for the flattering mention of my name in connection with the highest office on earth, I sincerely trust that hereafter attention will not be centered on me, but on some gentleman better qualified to discharge the duties of the position in the event of an election, and that wisdom will characterize the formation of our platform and the nomination we may make. I have the honor to be, very truly your friend,

WILLIAM V. ALLEN.

A Finnish Outrage.

WASHINGTON, Mo., April 8.—One of the most horrible crimes ever committed in the history of Franklin county occurred at Mozell, a small town in the southeastern part of this county Saturday night. William Robinson, a farm hand of that vicinity, criminally assaulted little Bertha Zamwalt, aged 11 years, which came very near causing her death. Robinson was arrested and at a preliminary hearing pleaded guilty to the charge. He was taken to Union to jail in default of a $5,000 bond to await the action of the grand jury. Excitement runs high in the vicinity and no doubt Robinson will receive the full penalty of the law.

Election Frauds at Victor.

VICTOR, Col., April 8.—Many deputy sheriffs arrived here on a special train from Cripple Creek this morning for the purpose of arresting voters alleged to be illegally registered. The move is taken in the interest of the citizens' (Republican) ticket. The deputies made over forty arrests before daylight, and twenty-two were taken to Cripple Creek. At 3:30 o'clock James Doyle, People's candidate for mayor, made a speech in which he requested the crowds on the streets to disperse, and they did so. The local officials resent any interference by the sheriff's office.

WILL THE PRESIDENT ACT?

The Joint Cuban Resolutions Sent to the White House.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—The Senate concurrent resolutions on the Cuban question were delivered to Private Secretary Thurber this morning by Mr. Platt, one of the executive clerks of the Senate. Later in the day they will be sent to the State department, as the law requires that such resolutions shall be printed in the book of laws annually published by the department. Ordinarily concurrent resolutions are not forwarded to the President, as they do not require his signature, but these resolutions were sent to him as the Armenian resolutions were, because they express the opinion that he should tender the offices of the United States to Spain for the recognition of Cuban independence and are, therefore, a direction to him in so far as Congress can direct the President in such a proceeding.

Secretary Olney went early to the White house and remained in close consultation with the President for some time. This caused the general circulation of a report that the two were engaged in the preparation of a special message to Congress.

Some assert that the President will do nothing at present, at least, while others are confident that he will give effect to the expression of the Senate and House by issuing a proclamation recognizing Cuban belligerency, and a few declare the conviction that he will go to the Senate and House one better and recognize Cuban independence. Those who predict non-action on the executive's part are largely in the majority. Nearly all who profess the belief that Mr. Cleveland will be heard from base their opinion upon a statement made by Mr. Hitt, chairman of the Foreign Affairs committee, during the debate on the resolutions. When Mr. Hitt was asked as to what would be the effect of the resolutions in case the President took no notice of them, he said they would have no effect, but he averred that he had every confidence that the President would not ignore a decided expression of the American people through their representatives; that he would be recreant to his trust if he did. It is argued that Mr. Hitt very likely had some assurances on which to predicate his opinion as to the reception the resolutions would meet at the White house.

LIEUTENANT-GENERAL.

The House Committee Favors Revival of the Rank.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—The House committee on military affairs to-day decided to report favorably the following resolution to bestow the rank of lieutenant general on General Nelson A. Miles.

Resolved, etc., That the grade of lieutenant general be and the same is hereby revived in the army of the United States in order that when, in the opinion of the President and Senate, it shall be deemed proper to acknowledge the distinguished services of the major general commanding the army, rendered in the volunteer army during the late civil war and in command of expeditions against hostile Indians in the frontier States and Territories, the grade of lieutenant general may be specially conferred; provided, however, that when the said grade of lieutenant general shall have once been filled and become vacant, this joint resolution shall thereafter expire and become of no effect; provided, further, that nothing in this resolution shall increase the number of general officers of the army.

The vote was 8 to 4 in favor of the resolution.

SPAIN DEFIANT.

Action of Congress Diminishes Chances for Cuban Autonomy.

LONDON, April 8.—The Times publishes a Madrid dispatch which says: "The hope that Weyler would obtain some decided advantage over the rebels before the final vote of the American Congress must now be abandoned. It is quite certain the Spanish nation will unhesitatingly refuse to accept the United States' dictation, no matter how far public opinion favors such reforms in Cuba as would put an end to the rebellion. No Spaniard will be found to venture such an opinion. Even the Republicans would only ask for Cuban autonomy in altered circumstances. It is an open secret that the Liberal leaders would consent to such radical reforms as would amount to autonomy if the United States abandoned its present policy. Senor Castelar would consent to the fullest concessions provided Spain's sovereign rights were secured."

IOWA PATENT OFFICE REPORT.

DES MOINES, April 3.—Patents have been allowed to Iowa inventors as follows: To H. Mendenhall and F. B. Davis, of Audubon, for important improvements relating to a feed trough for animals, for which patent No. 339,915 was issued to the said Mendenhall April 13, 1896. To J. W. Terman, of New Sharon, for a composition for purifying and preserving butter, sweet milk, etc., and destroying bacteria or other micro-organisms therein. Rancid butter treated therewith and sterilized thereby is said to be as good and sweet as fresh butter. Valuable information about obtaining, valuing and selling patents sent free to any address. Printed copies of the drawings and specifications of any United States patent sent upon receipt of 25 cents. Our practice is not restricted to Iowa and inventors in other states can have our services on same terms as the Hawkeyes.

LIBERAL APPROPRIATION FOR WORKS OF DEFENSE.

A Total of $11,334,000 Authorized for Gun and Mortar Batteries, Sites for Fortifications, Sea Walls and Embankments, Torpedoes for Harbor Defense, Etc.—The Report of Congressman Hainer of Nebraska.

Millions for Defense.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—The House committee on appropriations to-day reported the bill for fortifications and other works of defense, for their armament and for heavy ordnance for trial and service for the fiscal year which begins next July. It carries specific appropriations amounting to $5,842,000, and in addition authority is given to the secretary of war to make contracts for the further expenditure of $5,492,000 by the engineer and ordnance departments, making a total authorized expenditure of $11,334,000. The war department estimates, on which the bill is based, amounted to $8,045,800.

The report accompanying the bill made by Mr. Hainer of Nebraska says: "During the Forty-ninth Congress no appropriations were made on account of fortifications, their maintenance or armament, and for the twelve fiscal years from 1870 to 1886 inclusive the appropriation on this account averaged only $640,750 per annum, and only $163,500 per annum for the fourteen years following 1877 and 1888, for which two fiscal years no specific appropriations were made. The bill reported contains appropriations in continuance of the policy adopted by the Fifty-first, Fifty-second and Fifty-third Congresses. The appropriations by said acts for the eight fiscal years 1889-1896 aggregate $22,489,224, or an average of $2,811,152 per annum. The principal appropriations in the present bill are as follows: Gun and mortar batteries $5,250,000; sites for fortifications $250,000; preservation and repair of fortifications $50,000; sea walls and embankments $17,975,000; torpedoes for harbor defense $100,000; armament for fortifications $5,502,673; proving ground, Sandy Hook, N. J. $38,000; Watertown, Mass., arsenal $13,500; ordnance and fortifications board $100,000.

DEFENDED HIS RELIGION.

Representative Fitzgerald Attacks the A. P. A.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—The District of Columbia appropriation bill, which was recommended early in March, after a protracted fight against appropriations for private and sectarian charitable institutions, was brought into the House yesterday, with the specific appropriations stricken out, and containing in lieu thereof an appropriation of a lump sum for charities to be expended under the direction of the District commissioners, with the proviso that no part of the appropriation should go to institutions in ecclesiastical or sectarian control. The feature of the debate was a vigorous attack on the A. P. A. by Mr. Fitzgerald (Democrat) of Massachusetts.

"It has been stated," said he, "that members of the A. P. A. organization never made any opposition to the appropriations for these institutions until the night before, and then they bombarded the committee room and insisted upon the appropriations for these institutions being stricken out. 'The animus of this organization,' he proceeded, 'is well known. Members of the House have been impudently not in the interest of justice, of freedom or of a broad spirit of liberality and Americanism, to oppose this bill, but because it appropriated money for Catholic institutions. I stand upon this floor born and bred a Roman Catholic, and proud of it, and I deny the right of any secret, catholized organization to come before the legal representatives of the people and by its dark, deep, underhand methods, seek to deprive me and the members of the religion which I profess of the honest rights and privileges and dues of American citizenship.'

SENATOR HILL MODEST.

The New Yorker Declines to Declare Himself a Presidential Candidate.

NEW YORK, April 11.—Senator David B. Hill arrived in town last night from Washington, accompanied by Congressman Walsh, who has come home to bury his little daughter.

Mr. Hill talked freely on various subjects, including the Raines law, but he would not say whether he would be a candidate for the presidency. "There are so many candidates," he said, "that there is nothing in the statement that I am to take charge of the Democratic campaign in New York State. Nothing has been done yet, and I can not just now say when the State convention will be held. What may happen I can not foresee, but I know nothing of taking up the management of the party in this State at present."

Contest Claims Cut Materially.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—House Elections Committee No. 3, in pursuance of its policy of reducing the claims for expenses in contested cases, has reached a decision in the case of fifteen contestants and contestees. The total amount asked for was $31,952, and that allowed $17,775. The law provides for an allowance of $2,000 for expenses in contested cases, and it is understood to be the purpose of the committee to in no case approve of claims for more than the statutory amount.

SPANISH TEMPER COOLER.

People and Papers Cheered by European Sentiment.

MADRID, April 11.—A better feeling prevails, especially among the journalists and the politicians, because of the sympathy for Spain displayed by the press of Europe, and especially of France. Besides, official telegrams from the Spanish legation in Washington assure this government that President Cleveland will take no action on the Cuban resolution adopted by Congress and will not move at all in the matter until the war in Cuba takes some decisive turn.

A FATHER'S CRIME.

Shoots His Daughter and Her Lover and Kills Himself.

HOUSTON, Tex., April 11.—At Millikan, Texas, a few minutes after 3 o'clock yesterday morning, John Brooks shot and killed his daughter, Mollie Brooks, seriously wounded her sweetheart, A. C. Worrels, and then committed suicide.

Worrels and Miss Brooks were lovers and had made up their minds to marry in opposition to the wishes of the young woman's father. When the north bound Central train, due here at 3:02 a. m., stopped at the station the young people were there ready to get aboard and run away. Worrels helped Miss Brooks upon the first step of the platform, and just as she got up her father, who stepped from the other side of the car, fired upon her, shooting her through the right breast, the bullet passing through her body. She fell backward into the arms of her lover, with the words: "Oh, Arthur, father has killed me," and immediately expired.

As Worrels bent down to lay her on the platform, Brooks fired upon him under the car, the ball passing through his neck and making a serious and probably fatal wound. After the shooting Brooks, who has been employed at the rock quarry of Green & Olive, went to the quarry and tried to borrow a pistol, but could not get one. He then went to the powder house, secured a box of dynamite and going away about 100 yards sat down upon it and applied a match. A terrific explosion followed, which tore him to pieces, not enough fragments being gathered up to fill a cigar box.

A FAMILY EXTERMINATED.

A Michigan Attorney Kills His Wife, Three Children and Himself.

PENTWATER, Mich., April 11.—When neighbors went to the house of H. B. Minchall, a local insurance agent and attorney, this morning, they could not get in. Officers were sent for and broke in the door. Mrs. Minchall was found lying on the floor of the sitting room with a bullet hole in her temple. Near her was the dead body of her daughter Ruby, about 16 years old. In the corner of the same room lay Minchall, an empty revolver clutched in his hand. He, too, was dead. In an adjoining bedroom were found the bodies of George, aged 4, and his infant brother. They were in bed together, and death had evidently come upon them while they slept.

The motive in Minchall's crime is still a mystery, but it is expected that the inquest now in progress will clear the matter up. Minchall came here three years ago from Chicago.

FREE COINAGE PLANS.

Silverites to Dictate Terms in the Chicago Convention.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—Senator Harris, in discussing the free silver movement, said:

"The committee of which I am chairman is in receipt of abundant information from the various states to justify my assertion at this time that the free coinage people will enter the Chicago convention with a pronounced majority, such a majority as will dictate terms from the start. These terms will be unchangeable. They will be free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, and the candidate must stand squarely upon the platform. There will be no surrender. As masters of the field, we shall write the platform and name the candidate."

MAYBRICK CASE AGAIN.

Mr. Sherman Objects to Any Action by the Senate on the Resolution.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—In the Senate to-day Mr. Call presented a joint resolution concerning the imprisonment of Mrs. Maybrick and requesting that the President intervene with the British authorities toward securing her release.

"That ought not to be introduced here, and I move to lay the resolution on the table," interposed Mr. Sherman. "The Senate of the United States has no jurisdiction over the subject."

On a viva voce vote Mr. Sherman's motion appeared to prevail, but Mr. Call asked for a roll call, and then began a speech in opposition. Thereupon Mr. Sherman said that he would assent to a reference of the resolution to the judiciary committee, and this was agreed to.

A NEGRO'S CRIME.

Suicide Committed While Under Pursuit for Attempted Murder.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., April 11.—George Owens, colored, employed as stableman by an officer at Fort Leavenworth, attempted, with probable success, to murder Cora Boston, a young colored woman employed at the officers' mess at the post, on Shawnee street, a few paces from the police station, yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Owens then ran west on Shawnee street, with Captain Murphy of the police force and others in close pursuit. While crossing a pasture a half mile away Owens, being hard pressed, cut his throat with the razor he had used on his sweetheart a few minutes before, almost decapitating himself. The negro had sworn to kill Cora Boston because of jealousy.

Tennessee Derby.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 11.—The Tennessee Derby was won here yesterday by Dr. McLean's brown gelding Berclair. The day was an ideal one for racing and the crowd numbered about 9,000.

Ruth Cleveland Has Measles.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—The measles is running its course in the President's family. This morning Ruth, the first born, contracted the disease. Little Esther is progressing rapidly toward recovery. So far Baby Marion has not shown signs of the ailment.

Tanner's Nomination Assured.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 11.—More than 700 delegates already elected to the Republican State convention have been instructed to vote for John R. Tanner for governor, or about forty more than a majority of the entire convention.

Why Johnnie Falls Became a Great Man—A Story for the Little Folks—Fairy Footsteps—Undeveloped Ideas of the Afflicted.

NE DAY, IN huckle berry time, when little Johnny Falls and half a dozen other boys were starting with their pails

To gather berries, Johnny's pa, in talking with him, said That he could tell him how to pick so he'd come out ahead.

"First find your bush," said Johnny's pa, "and then stick to it till you've picked it clean. Let those go chasing all about you will; in search of better bushes; but it's picking tells, my son—To look at fifty bushes doesn't count like picking one."

And Johnny did as he was told; and, sure enough, he found By sticking to his bush while all the others chased around.

In search of better picking, 'twas as his father said; For, while all the others looked, he worked and soon came out ahead, And Johnny recollected this when he became a man;

And first of all he laid him out a well-determined plan; So, while the brilliant triflers failed, with all their brains and push, Wise, steady-going Johnny won by 'sticking to his bush.' —St. Nicholas.

A Story for the Little Folks.

One day Donny's mother said to him: "Your hair is too long, my boy. You must go to the barber's and have it cut."

Donny was glad for he thought it would be great fun. He walked into the barber's store, and when his turn came the barber lifted him into a high chair, in front of which was a looking glass.

Now Donny had never had a really good look at himself in a glass before, so he was very pleased to see the reflection of his own face, and his first inclination was to make a funny face at himself, but the barber looked so cross that he thought he had better not.

When he went home he ran up to his mother and said: "Oh, mamma, I see'd myself in the glass!"

"Well, and what did you think of yourself, Donny?" "Why, I think I look just like a red-headed monkey," replied the boy, and then, after a moment's pause, he added: "Mother, dear, I think I should like to be a barber when I'm a big man."

"Would you, my child, and why?" asked his mother. "Cause—cause they have lots of fun. There was a man lyin' down in a chair, and the barber pointed his face all over with white paint, and then took a knife and scraped it off, and I should love to do that!"

His mother laughed and told him to run up into the nursery and play with his little sister.

Donny found his sister busy with her dollies, and, after telling her all about his visit to the barber's, he said:

"Baby, let's play barber shop."

"All yite," said baby; for she always did everything her brother told her to.

So Donny climbed up on a chair and took down from a shelf a little can of white paint, which his big sister used in painting frames. Then he took the dollies, one by one, and covered their faces with the paint. After that he scraped the paint off and found a small paper knife on the table. He scraped and scraped, but could not get the paint off, so he said:

"Never mind, baby; we'll take 'em to the barber's when we go out, and he'll shave them all right."

Baby did not say anything, but she did not like the way Donny had disfigured her little dollies.

"Now, baby," said Donny, "make believe you are me coming to have your hair cut." And he lifted her on to a chair and looked all around for nurse's scissors, which he soon found. He had just taken one of baby's long golden curls in his hand, ready to cut it off, when nurse came into the room. Donny hid behind a large armchair.

"What have you been up to now?" said his nurse; and when she saw what he had done and how he had spattered paint over everything, she took him right down to his mother.

Donny had only dry bread for his supper that night, and he had to go to bed an hour earlier, but he never forgot his first visit to the barber's.

Uncultivated Ideas.

The testimony of educated deaf mutes regarding some of their ideas before instruction is very interesting. Some fancied the wind was blown from the mouth of an unseen being. A number supposed that rain and lightning were caused by men in the sky pouring down water and firing guns. One who had seen flour falling in a mill thought that snow was ground from a mill in the sky. Some thought the stars were candies or lamps, lighted every evening by inhabitants of the heavens. Only one said she had "tried to think" about the origin of the world and its inhabitants. All had a great terror of death and being put in the grave; one had been haunted by the fear that she might awake in the grave and be unable to call for help. One thought death was caused by medicine administered by the doctor. Deaf mutes have refused to go to bed when ill from observing that sick persons have taken to their beds before death. Those who were taken to church by their parents said they had little idea before education of the purpose of this assembly. One testified: "I thought that the people were in the church to worship the clergyman of the greatest dignity and splendor." They had no idea of any being more wise and powerful than man, and no conception of the soul or of any spirit whatever.—New York Herald.

Sun-Eye and Moon-Eye.

Sun-eye was getting quite sleepy. He had been wide awake ever since a very early hour of that lovely June morning, and it was now getting quite late in the evening.

He had never closed his bright eyes for a single moment all the time, for no cloud had fitted across to give him an excuse to do so, and so he felt he would not be sorry when bedtime came.

"Oh, dear!" he sighed, as he shook himself a little wearily; "it's very hard work to shine like this the whole day long, and never close one's eyes. Really, I feel quite worn out, and I'm sure my rays have been getting paler and paler with fatigue. It does seem a long day indeed."

"The longest," remarked the Moon

"Ah! so it is," eagerly replied the Sun; "I had quite forgotten that. Oh, well! it's no use my thinking about going to bed yet awhile if that's the case;" and he opened his glittering eye still wider, and threw the loveliest crimson and gold rays all over the sea and sky.

They were so brilliant that they quite roused the little fishes, who were just preparing to go to sleep, and they all came to the surface of the pale green sea and put their heads out to see what was the matter, and all they saw was Sun-eye, shining as brightly as if it were still noon-day.

"At this time of night, too!" said one indignantly, as he dived below again.

"I thought at least it was fireworks," complained another.

And as there were no fireworks they all went to bed again.

Sun-eye shone his brightest for a little while longer, but he was so tired that gradually the big black bank of cloud, which was his eyelid, closed over his golden eye, and he was asleep for the night.

Moon-eye woke up then, and began to look about her—rather sleepily at first; but very soon she opened her eye quite wide and gazed out over the sea, whitening the gleaming sails of a tiny fishing boat, and turning the wings of a homeward-flying seagull into silver as bright as her own pretty eye.

She did not wake up the little fishes, but all through that lovely summer night she kept her quiet watch in the sky, and even the restless little waves grew tranquil under her soft beams, and only crooned their old Mother Ocean's little soft lullabies in their sleep.

And little children who had looked up and laughed in the Sun's glorious eye only glanced half shyly at gentle Moon-eye; and she laid her pale fingers on their sleepy eyes, and they too slumbered. The little fishes slept the most soundly of all until Moon-eye went to bed in the dawn and Sun-eye got up and sent a shaft of brilliant light right down into their beds and woke them up in time for breakfast. —The Watchman.

God Bless the Naughty Turk.

It was the hour of our morning family prayer. The head of the household was pleading in tones which he could not keep from trembling, "God bless and protect our noble missionaries, those glorious men and women, many of them so dear to us personally. Stay the cruel slaughter of the Armenians and avenge thy slaughtered saints." Little "Goldlocks," one of our penates, not quite 3 years old, listened with bated breath and eyes not much closed behind her chubby fists, then, creeping away from her little chair to her grandpa's side, she whispered in his ear, "And please say, 'God bless the naughty Turks,'" then bent her little head and closed her eyes to join in the prayer which she knew would follow.

None Forever.

Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage says: "When I was a boy my mother used to say to me sometimes: 'DeWitt, you will be sorry for that when I am gone.' And I remember just how she looked, sitting there with cap and spectacles, and the old Bible in her lap. While we have our friends with us we may say unguarded things that wound the feelings of those to whom we ought to give nothing but kindness. After a while some of our friends are taken away from us, and those of us who are left say: 'Oh, if we could only get back those unkind words, those unkind deeds; if we could only recall them!' But you cannot get them back."
