Not a person in the vehicle escaped uninjured. The stringers of the bridge were too short and by constant jarring they gradually worked off the sills. The jar of the wagon caused them to fall, letting the entire span down.

World's Wheat Conference.

WASHINGTON: A conference of nations on the subject of the world's wheat market is understood to be desired by at least one of the great foreign wheat growing empires. It is stated in official circles here that Russia is parlicularly friendly to such an idea, and is believed to be making overtures, not only to the United States, but to England, the Argentina Republic and Australia, which are the principal wheat growing nations of the world.

The idea suggested as outlined is that these nations, should they see fit to unite in an agreement upon the subject, could fix a price for wheat to be maintained uniformly through various seasons of overproduction and unsatisfactory crops. caused by drouth or continual rain, and thus make the principal grain staple upon which the millions of consumers depend for food, almost as unchangeable in value as gold itself has become. This would enable the producer, in the event of an unusually large crop, to store his wheat and obtain thereon a loan that would tide him over until the wheat was in demand in the world's markets, when he would receive a full and fair price for it.

Suddenly an Heiress.

GRANDVILLE, Mich.: Hattie Spafford, a domestic, will work no more. Fifteen years ago her mother died in poverty. Hattie was then 3 years old and was sent to the children's home in Grand Rapids. She has now received word from a lawyer in Helena, Mont., tracing her, stating that her father died in Butte two years ago, leaving all his property to the wife and baby he had forsaken years ago. He was a large shareholder in several rich silver and copper mines, and owned three large ranches. Marcus Daly was made executor of the estate and Monday the girl left for Montana. The letter from the lawyer contained a check for $4,000, which is but an insignificant amount compared with what awaits the girl in the far west. It is said the estate amounts to over $1,000,000.

Five Children Cremated.

ST. Louis: A special from Hannibal. Mo., says: Five children of Mr. and Mrs. Snyder Neal, living fifty miles north of the city, were burned to death. The Neal dwelling was burned while the parents were attending a dance. They had eight children. The oldest, a boy of 15 years, and a baby accompanied the parents to the party. Soon after starting home the Neals discovered their residence was on fire. When they reached the burning building the father saw his 11year-old girl, lying burning in the front door, clasping her 8-year-old brother in her arms. The flames prevented rescue. The children were then dead. The father fell in a swoon and has been a raving :maniac ever since. Nora, 9 years old, is the only survivor of the fire.

French Catholics Dissatisfied. MONTREAL, Quebec: The terms of settlement of the Manitoba school question, as agreed upon by the Dominion and Manitoba governments, are far from giving satisfaction to the Catholics of Quebec. Archbishop Langevin of Manitoba, is reported as saying: "Certainly the settlement is not satisfactory, and, what is more, it will be far from satisfying Quebec." Continuing, he said: "How we have been sold. How Quebec has been .betrayed. But I will teil you there will be a revolution in Quebec which will ring throughout Canada, and these men who today are triumphant will be cast down.

A Threatened Lynching.

'The fight has only begun."

RICHMOND, Mo.: There was a demonstration here against the lives of Jesse Winner and Lon Lackey, who are in the county jail charged with the murder of Winner's wife and her two little children. DEATH IN THE RITES

ELKS' INITIATION CEREMONY RESULTS FATALLY.

Story that E. W. Curry, of Iowa, Was Unintentionally Tortured in a Lodge -Sat on Metallic Chair Under Which a Lamp Was Burning.

Regarded as an Accident.

Edward W. Curry, chairman of the Iowa Democratic State Central Committee, died at his hotel in Des Moines by Mr. Curry and members of the lodge. During his sickness he expressed the opinion that the members of the lodgewere in no way to blame for the accident and the desire that nothing should be made public. More or less of the truth, however, became known. Immediately following his death conflicting stories as to the nature of the initiatory rites to which he had been subjected were told. One of these stories were which printed in an afternood paper was to the effect that Mr. Curry was seated on a chair connected with an electrical current. That as he did not move with a small current, more was turned on, and that ultimately, without his moving, the current was increased until it was found that blue smoke was arising from his flesh; that then he was pulled from his chair severely burned and taken to his room, death finally resulting. This story was strenuously denied by members of the lodge, who claim there are no electrical appliances in the lodge-

In view of the conflicting stories, several members of the lodge consented to talk. Their stories agree and probably give a correct version of the episode. It is as follows:

In the course of initiation Mr. Curry, being properly robed in a somewhat light costume and blindfolded, was placed upon a chair having a metallic bottom. Under this chair an ordinary kerosene lamp was placed. It was expected that when sufficient heat had developed he would jump from the chair in alarm and furnish merriment to the assembled Elks. Mr. Curry, being of a stoical disposition and perhaps unduly excited by the ordeal through which he had passed, had evidently made up his mind to take whatever punishment was meted out to him in the course of events and retained his seat until his garments took fire and he was severely burned. His constitution had not been strong, and as a result of the ordeal he took to his bed. At first it was expected he would soon recover, but the wounds did not heal and blood poisoning set in, which could not be controlled by the physicans, and death was the result. During his sickness, which was of several weeks' duration, Mr. Curry stated to a member of the lodge that he had no idea he was being severely burned. He thought at the time, he said, that a fly blister or something of the same nag ture had been attached to him, and he thought he could stand it as well as those who had taken the degree before.

The police of New York captured 250 pounds of burglar, which netted them 150 pounds of prisoner. The extra hundred was stolen feminine attire and miscellaneous dry goods, in which the thief had so swathed his person that he could not escape when pursued. At the station the sergeant ordered the man to take off his coat and vest. Layer after layer of clothing was removed, and when it was all done there stood before them a person weighing about 150 pounds. These are some of the things in which he was clothed: Three pairs of corsets. Two corset waists.

A red plush wrapper.

A woman's night robe. A balloon sleeve pink waist. A black merino skirt. Two white vests.

One pair of black stockings.

One breakfast gown. The bottom parts of the gowns were stuffed into his trousers, which gave him the appearance of great corpulency.
