FRIDAY FACTS.

This is the longest day of the year, the sun rising at 4:29 and setting at 7:33.

Rev. L. W. Sondder will preach in the Presbyterian church Sabbath morning at 11 o'clock.

Hazel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Rish, was 13 years of age yesterday and was assisted in celebrating the occasion by about 30 little friends, all of whom enjoyed a most delightful time.

Rev. F. V. Moslander of Neligh will preach in the First Congregational church next Sabbath, morning and evening. The Senior Endeavor meeting will be held at 7 o'clock in the evening. Sabbath school and Junior Endeavor meetings will not be held for the present.

The son of Officer H. H. Hoyt of South Norfolk, who makes his home at Battle Creek, has been having an unusual run of bad luck recently and last night's storm added to his calamity, four of his eight head of cattle being killed by lightning.

Lightning struck the roof of the Roland & Wilkinson store at the Junction during last night's storm and set it on fire but the blaze was noticed and extinguished before it had gained any headway. No damage but what can be repaired with a few shingles was done.

There are few cellars in the city exempt from encroachment by water. The ground is so thoroughly saturated that where the dampness has not flowed in it is coming through the walls and cellar bottoms. Residences on ordinarily high ground are experiencing the inconvenience of water soaked cellars.

The burglar alarm of the Norfolk National bank, which notifies the central telephone station that something is amiss, rattled away merrily during last night's storm and President Bucholz was at once notified. He came down town and with Officers Conley and Kane made an inspection of the premises but found nothing wrong and came to the conclusion that the lightning had deftly manipulated the attachments to the alarm and created the disturbance.

L. M. Gaylord returned last night from Omaha, where he had been to assist in organizing a grand lodge of the Bankers Union of the World for the state of Nebraska, representing Norfolk lodge, No. 744. He reports having seen the work successfully accomplished, with a good deal of pomp and ceremony, ending up with a royal banquet at the Millard, at which about 100 were seated and which, including toasts, occupied two hours and a half. He was elected as one of the grand officers.

Clarence Salter entertained a number of friends last evening at a bowling party. They were given possession of the Seeler & Daniel alley at 9 o'clock and the amusement was indulged in until midnight, all who participated enjoying the game most thoroughly. Those who composed the party were the Misses Edith Morrow, May Durland, Anna Seymour, Nellie Morrow, Nellie Seymour and Anna McBride and Messrs. E. G. Denny, Roy Gardner, Charles Madsen, Max Asmus, Julius Hulff and Clarence Salter.

STORM AGAIN PERFORMS.

The Entertainment is Growing Monotonous.

NO NEW FEATURES AT ALL.

Even the West Side Flood is Reproduced. Total Rainfall for the Month Now Eight Inches—Washout Near Verdigre—Morning Train Delayed.

Norfolk people are ready to acknowledge without equivocation that the man who originated the saying, "It never rains but it pours" had a head so level that it might have been used for a billiard table. It poured again last night. People went to their night's rest with a feeling that the flood had been broken, but the wise ones who had an eye on the hillock of clouds in the northwest shook their heads, drove the hogs into the parlors and moored the buildings to the trees. Their labors were not in vain, for the rain-making forces were fully organized and in active operation about 11 o'clock and continued to earn their salary for several hours thereafter. A good strong blow preceded the storm and the electric fluid soon became aroused and painted lurid streaks across the sky until it looked like a cracked egg in an electric furnace, while a thunderous accompaniment, as of ten million bowling alleys with bowlers for balls, disturbed the rest of the people.

The ground was not thirsty, in fact, it was fuller than any of Judge Hayes' patrons ever hoped to become, and each piece of property passed the cup to its neighbor with a readiness that attested its bitterness. Residents of the west end were again apprised of the fact that they had encroached upon a well recognized waterway about 12:30 by hearing the roar of the flood as it again sought admission to their homes and the only satisfaction they had was in thinking that all the damage possible had been done by the rush of water of two nights before. What had been done toward repairing the damage of the preceding flood had to be done over again as a matter of course, but they are getting so accustomed to that sort of work that life would seem awry did they not have it to perform at irregular intervals.

Although the precipitation was less than an inch, the government gauge recording at 85, the entire amount seems to have sought the Elkhorn through the gulch and it is believed that the water rose almost or quite as high as on Wednesday morning, but the flood failed to make a showing as far east as on the previous date.

The precipitation of last night now brings the total for the month up to eight inches, which is certainly a remarkable showing for a period of two weeks, but three-quarters of an inch having been recorded during the first seven days of the month.

A washout this side of Verdigre delayed the morning train from the branch several hours, the train not reaching Norfolk until 10:00, when it was due at 6 o'clock. The extent of the damage to the roadway has not been learned, but it is reported that 300 feet of track was washed out.

Council is Moving Toward More Equitable Payments—Other Important Business.

The city council held a regular meeting last evening, when there were present Mayor Koenigstein, Councilmen Brummond, Clements, Degner, Spellman, Uhle and Westervelt. Gow and Walker came in later.

The committee on fire and police reported that they had done nothing in regard to the petition of S. L. Gardner to erect an iron covered building within the fire limits, for the reason that no plans and specifications had as yet been filed as required by ordinance.

The mayor reported that Mr. Degner had resigned the chairmanship of the street and alley committee, and Mr. Clements had been appointed in his place.

The committee on streets and alleys reported that they had ordered sewer pipe for the Thirteenth street culvert, and had made an examination in regard to the sidewalk petitioned for by R. M. Upton and others and recommended that the petition be granted. The city attorney was instructed to draw an ordinance for the building of the sidewalk.

The public works committee reported that they had made an appointment to meet and confer with Mr. Bullock in regard to the claim of the Norfolk foundry, but Mr. Bullock had not been able to be present, therefore nothing had been done in the matter. Also they had asked the resident plumbers to submit bids for the laying of the pipe on the extension of the water mains. And had investigated the proposed extension of water mains in the Fourth ward, and recommended that later this extension be made. The report of the committee was accepted.

A petition signed by Mr. Denton and others requesting the council to require Mr. Geo. Dawson to remove his hog pens from the city, was presented and referred to the committee on nuisances with power to act. The committee was also given power to act in regard to any and all such stock yards in the city.

The mayor, clerk and treasurer were authorized to pay the interest on city bonds as soon as it becomes due.

The special committee on water rates presented the following report:

Norfolk, Neb., June 20, 1901.—To the Honorable Mayor and City Council: Your special committee appointed on investigation of water rates, herewith report that they have at hand the rates charged in two or three other towns, but before advising any specific amendments or changes in the present ordinance we recommend that our water commissioner be instructed to make a house to house canvass of the town, ascertain and make a list of all places where city water is being used, how many families, for what purposes, compare the same with the present list of water consumers, and state what parties are paying a different rate from what the present ordinance calls for.

Respectfully submitted,
C. C. GOW,
JUL. DEGNER,
IRA G. WESTERVELT,
Committee.

The water commissioner recommended that before this was done that a record book in which a complete record of each fixture maintained by each water water consumer, be purchased.

The water commissioner was authorized to prepare and procure such a record book after the canvass has been made. Motion prevailed that the water commissioner be instructed to make a house to house canvass of the water consumers, and that he be allowed to employ for not more than two weeks a competent man to assist him in the work, and that the man be paid not to exceed $2.00 a day.

W. H. Bucholz and others appeared before the council and in behalf of the residents of the west side requested the council to take immediate action in regard to some permanent improvement to carry off the overflow water from the ravine running through that part of town.

After considerable discussion the mayor was given authority to employ a competent civil engineer to make a survey of the grounds and report to the council.

T. Wille requested that the scavenger license be reduced and the matter was referred to the city attorney for investigation.

Frank Beck asked that a curb line be established along his property as he is about to put in a permanent walk. Mr. Lowe, city engineer, stated that the lot line established by him some time ago for Mr. Beck is correct, and Mr. Beck was instructed to lay his sidewalk according to such survey.

Bids for laying water mains for the Philip avenue extension were opened and read as follows:

C. E. Doughty, for laying the 1550 feet, more or less, four and one-half cents per foot.

W. H. Rish, for laying pipe and setting fire hydrants complete, four and one-quarter cents per foot.

L. L. Rembe, for laying pipe on the extension, $78.00.

The contract was awarded to W. H. Rish on his bid.

A drinking fountain was ordered established on Fifth street.

The clerk was instructed to purchase a bond register from Perkins Bros.

An ordinance granting W. H. Rish a permit to construct a sewer system and the use of the streets and alleys for that purpose, was read and passed the first reading. Motion prevailed that if the ordinance pass its third reading that Mr. Rish be required to pay for the publication of the ordinance.
