Telephone No. 166 has been placed in the residence of J. S. McClary.

The Sugar City Cereal Mills are being improved by the placing of a grain dump, which will be great convenience to the farmers and facilitate the handling of grain.

H. A. Pasewalk is putting steel frame scales in front of his office on East Norfolk avenue.

A number of people from the city are planning to enjoy the weekly dance at the hospital for the insane this evening.

A surprise party was given to Henry Raasch last Saturday evening by his friends who called in to celebrate his 40th birthday.

Geo. Brown, who formerly resided in Norfolk, but has lately been living in Wayne, has again moved to this city to make his home.

The gentlemen's whist club, recently organized on the west side, will hold its first meeting Saturday evening at the home of Dr. Bear, at 8 o'clock.

The November term of district court, which was set for next Monday, the 13th, has been adjourned by Judge Allen to December 18, at 9 o'clock a. m.

A train of 50 empty stock cars for the Elkhorn came in on the Union Pacific last evening, being those used in conveying the recent shipment of stock to Ames.

Gus Bley died last night at his home three miles south of the city and funeral services will probably be held Sunday. The family left by the deceased comprises a wife and four children.

Clair Blakely who received some efficient telegraphic training under Mr. Yonnt, of the Western Union office, this city, has recently been promoted to a position at Scribner from the one he has been holding at Pilger.

The Millard Minstrel company arrived in their own car over the C. St. P. M. & O. road this morning from Wayne and left over the Union Pacific for Madison. Norfolk was passed by owing to there being no opera house in which the troupe could be accommodated.

A Norfolk warm air furnace has been delivered at the new opera house and will soon be placed in position. The building will be heated by two of these popular modern heat generators. The work is progressing very nicely and the masons are busy constructing the walls above the first floor. The brick from the old college foundation are being used on the interior of the wall.

The election returns are being canvassed at Madison today and the results will be published in tomorrow's News. The official canvass is made under the supervision of the county clerk, who chooses two disinterested freeholders to assist him. While there may be some changes in the figures as given in The News yesterday, the election of the officers as given is not likely to be changed.

The new opera house is being rushed along at a marvelous rate, and people can now begin to see that it will be a building of which the city will have every reason to be proud. Mr. Warrant insists that the house will be ready for the opening at the time originally stated, about the holidays, and if the work is kept going as fast as it has been for the past two weeks he seems in a fair way to accomplish what he has undertaken.

The board of county commissioners met at Madison yesterday and the session will probably continue through today. This is likely the last time that Commissioner Johnson will meet with the board, as he intends to hand in his resignation at the close of the session if the unfinished business is cleaned up. He is preparing to remove from Newmarket Grove to his farm near Meadow Grove, which takes him out of the district.

The new delivery wagon recently received by Collamer & Grant was manufactured in Brattleboro, Vermont, by F. D. Williams who makes a specialty of low down wagons. The wagon was purchased through the agency of N. Hills and his old friend Freeman Scott, who is running a grocery and uses the same kind of wagon in Brattleboro. The wagon is nicely finished and is something new west of the Mississippi river although it is quite generally used where it is manufactured. The maker uses a cut of one of Mr. Scott's wagons on his circulars.

The funeral of Herman Schelling was held from the house one-half mile south of the hospital for the insane yesterday afternoon and the remains were laid to rest in Prospect Hill cemetery. Mr. Schelling died Sunday and was 50 years of age. Besides a wife, he leaves three sons, William and Otto, who live here, and Herman, whose home is in South Dakota. The funeral procession escorting his remains to Prospect Hill passed the cortege accompanying the remains of Mrs. Spiering to the cemetery east of town, an occurrence very rare in Norfolk. It is said that the two processions were of the same length.

An humorous and ironical exchange reports the following as a very new and correct form of marriage ceremony in some instances: "Young lady, will you promise to take this helpless young gosling you hold by the hand and see that he wants for nothing? Will you guarantee to stand by him when he is sick, provide him with a good suit of clothes twice a year, and always see that his supply of stove wood is dry and convenient, until the divorce courts shall intervene? If you feel like taking a little matter like that, deposit $20 with me as a guarantee that he will be well taken care of and take the gosling and light out. Amen."

The meeting to complete the organization of the Norfolk Public Library association will be held tomorrow evening in the high school building and all interested in this important movement should be in attendance. It is believed from the canvass that has been made, that there will be no trouble whatever in securing the necessary stockholders to inaugurate the enterprise. Numerous offers of books have been received and if the library is once placed on a firm basis there will probably be no difficulty in maintaining and adding to it. The city of York has a fine library and it has recently been the recipient of a magnificent endowment from a deceased friend, that will greatly add to its value.

The smoke from the sugar factory today and yesterday made one of its occasional advertising trips, reminding the people of the surrounding country of the fact that Norfolk is the home of an important industry which is employing 250 men constantly in turning out a supply of sugar that will go toward supplying the demand of a vast number of "sweet tooths." The smoke this morning took a westerly course until it reached the hills several miles beyond the factory, when it veered to the south, making a distinct semicircular black line along the horizon as far as the eye could perceive. It is said that the line of smoke was distinctly visible at Madison yesterday, while it has at other times been noticed west of Neligh. It requires a peculiar condition of the atmosphere to keep it in line and when most favorable the smoke line would undoubtedly preserve its distinctness for perhaps a hundred miles or until the minute molecules composing it were dispersed in the air. It is a beautiful and inspiring sight and the factory management has the thanks of many people for dispensing with the use of oil fuel, which made very little smoke, and the resumption of slack for producing the power.

There will be an adjourned meeting of the fire department held at fireman's room in the city hall Friday evening. All members are especially urged to be present. Matters pertaining to the state association meeting in January will come up for consideration and committees to aid in the work will probably be appointed. The secretaries of the various companies will please bring a list of members of their company.
