BRUCE FULLERTON.

Two hundred million bushels of corn are now being finished off for market by Nebraska farmers.

There are 22,000 automobiles owned in Nebraska—not more than half of them represented by mortgage on the roof.

Next week's issue of Will Maupin's Weekly will be a little bit the best exposition of Nebraska's resources ever issued from the press. This is official.

In the meanwhile Dr. Babcock of Hastings is as one who hasn't a darn thing to do or say.

Gee, some "dollar dinners" stir up about as much mental perturbation as they do intestinal troubles.

The man who buys his next winter's supply of coal now is wise. The man who can buy it now is lucky.

The Grand Island convention made a lot of history that democratic leaders would very much love to forget.

Senator Heyburn's waving of the ensanguined garret makes a hit only with coffee-coolers, camp followers and sutlers.

We greatly fear the esteemed World-Herald can not sneer away the rather strenuous observations of Richard L. Metcalfe.

Whenever you spot a man who denounces Dr. Wiley you have spotted a man who is willing to poison people for the sake of a dollar.

The Taft man who tries to "josh" a democrat over party troubles will surely be reminded that there are quite a few La Follette men in Nebraska.

The World-Herald calls the Bryan banquet of last March a "poison feast." We have some recollection of an attempt to poison the host the day before.

When P. James Cosgrave ends up his campaign for the judicial nomination he will have made some competitors wish they had shed their coats earlier in the game.

John W. Furse is the only candidate so far for railway commissioner who lives west of Lincoln. Of course the western shippers and passengers amount to something.

It matters little to William J. Bryan whether he is a delegate from Nebraska to the next democratic national convention. It matters a whole lot to the democracy of Nebraska.

This Lorimer investigation is becoming an awful bore. The man who believes that Lorimer was ignorant of the corruption that sent him to the senate could with ease be convinced that the moon is made of green cheese.

Republican organs resent criticism of the state's action in providing Governor Aldrich with a garage. They are the same papers that denounced Governor Shallenberger for sending a couple of dollars belonging to the state for flowers for a reception at the executive mansion.
