CASPER H. KLUSMAN.
Casper H. Klusman, a member of the local Cigarmakers' Union, died at his residence in this city Wednesday afternoon after a short illness. The funeral services were held at the home Friday afternoon, the union cigarmakers attending in a body, and tendering a handsome floral tribute to the deceased brother. Mr. Klusman was a member of the union for upwards of sixteen years, and was well liked by his fellow workmen.

The street railway men of Lincoln work longer hours for less wages than men in similar employment in any other city of equal size in the United States. If you want to know the reason, "see Scudder."

The men who are making Lincoln a city are the men who are wearing overalls, not those who are lolling back in easy chairs and talking about "sky line" and "city beautiful."

The Deadly Parallel

Capital.
Many of the fashionable women of Newport spend $2,700 a year on their pet dogs.

One woman had a house built for her dog, the exact model of a Queene Anne cottage, with rooms elegantly papered, and carpeted, and hung with lace curtains.

Every morning a woman calls (sort of dog governess) to bathe, curl and perfume the little darling, and then take him out for a walk. He eats out of silver dishes, and when he gets the stomach ache a specialist is called at once.

Howard Gould has a cow house which cost him $250,000, and a hen house which cost $150,000 and a fence around them both which cost $10 a running foot.

It is estimated that there are 6,000 women in New York who spend $10,000 annually on their wardrobes.

J. Hobart Moore's table expenses are $200 per day, which does not include his wine.

Mrs. Lars Anderson has a dress she wore in London society which cost one half million dollars.

Howard Gould is to have a new country mansion which is to cost one million dollars.

bath tub which cost $50,000.

There are dogs in New York city wearing coats lined with ermine and worth $200 each. A pocket in each containing a fine silk handkerchief. These dogs wear collars set with diamonds and rubies valued at hundreds of dollars.

It's luxury madness has made New York the only American city in which $100,000 fetes and dinners have been given. New York can boast of dinners that cost $500 a plate, and where a gold plate service was used costing $50,000. It is the only American city than can boast a $10,000 bed.

Young Bradley Martin spent $40,000 on his wedding costume.

Labor.
The American workman receives $457 a year with which to keep his family of five—18th U. S. labor report.

A hundred and thirty miners' families were evicted from their homes at Yatesboro, Pa., during one week in July, 1906. The evictions began when the family of Frank Colly had their household goods loaded into a wagon by the sheriff's deputies and hauled to an open field and dumped. As the deputies started with the goods the Yatesboro band and 300 miners formed a procession and followed to the field. The evictions continued during the week without interruption, and notwithstanding almost all of the families in the town were evicted, there was no disturbance at any time. Many of the families found temporary shelter in barns on neighboring farms, but some were compelled to remain in the open field a few days until tents could be provided by the miners' union.

One woman gave birth to a babe within one hour after her furniture had been set in the street. A number of evicted women had babies from three to ten days old.—Pittsburg Daily Herald.

The workingman's wife is compelled to clothe her entire family on one hundred dollars a year.—19th U. S. labor report.

Many American workmen are homeless and bedless.

The American workman has but $12.29 for vacations and amusements in a whole year.—U. S. labor report.

Thirty years ago there were 40,000 windowless rooms in New York; today there are 360,000 in which human beings are bred, born and die like dogs.—Jacob Riis in "How the Other Half Lives."—Ex.

While the rich and the highly paid mechanics may have prospered, the poor laborers, with families, have had a hard time. The price of food has gone up, rents are higher, and often the pay of the laborer has been reduced. These facts tell the story of the city's poor, who have reason to consider the boast of our prosperity a hollow mockery.

WHAT DO YOU THINK?
Chancellor Day of New York Makes Indictment of Unions.

Chancellor James Roscoe Day of Syracuse, N. Y., university, made a public address last week in which he made a bitter attack upon labor unions. The Wageworker prints what appeared of the address in the Associated Press reports, and restrains its natural inclination to make reply to the reverend gentleman. It invites its readers, however, to ponder on Rev. Mr. Day's statements and write down what they think of them, and then mail the same to the editor. Later The Wageworker may conclude to say a few things. The press report says:

"The Rev. Dr. James Roscoe Day, chancellor of the Syracuse university in an address tonight attacked the arguments in favor of the poor and charitable and philanthropic movements which had been advanced a few moments before by J. G. Phelps Stokes and Rose Pastor Stokes, his wife.

"What is all this cry that is being made about the poor wage earner?" asked Dr. Day. "The wage earner get enough for what they do and a great many of them get more. I know the poor. I have been among them and studied them. I know that they are the chief support of upwards of 10,000 saloons in this city. I know that they are the chief causes of intemperance and shiftlessness and then the blame is put on the hard hearted corporations. We should cease some of the philanthropy which we practice and help the poor to learn their duty and to make them help themselves.

"I believe there is not a greater piece of depotism that rules today than labor unions. It is a hindrance itself to the advance of man."

"The various addresses were given at the annual dinner of the Syracuse alumni association."

Now let the Nebraska senate pass Senate File No. 91 without delay or amendment, and Nebraska will have a child labor law that will serve as a model for other states.

The city clerk gets $1,500 a year and works an average of eight or nine hours a day. The firemen get half of that and work twenty-four hours a day. Is that justice?

BEATRICE BARBERS' BANQUET.

Union Men Give Employers a Spread That Pleases.

The members of Barbers' Union No. 209 gave a banquet to the employing barbers of the city at the grill room, corner Seventh and Court streets, Tuesday evening.

The table was tastefully decorated and the spread was a credit to the union and to the caterer.

Ed. Hackney presided as toastmaster and he filled the position with dignity. Short speeches were made by a number of those present, all speaking along the line of unionism. The mutual benefits of a strong union were discussed both by the journeymen barbers and by the employers. The necessity of being loyal to the union label on all kinds of goods was emphasized by the speakers and all agreed that the man who was a union man only for his own trade and his own job only half lived up to his professions.

The following barbers were present: Ed Hackney, George West, Henry Rogers, Chas. Powell, A. L. Sherwood, George Purviance, S. W. Johnson, T. J. Hardy, W. L. Leigh, W. C. Layman, Frances Laymon, G. A. Alexander, Joe Zednik, H. Humphrey, Frank Flannery, Robert Scott, Jesse Howard, John Manion, Clement Drew, C. S. Avey.—Beatrice Democrat.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.

All contractors and others employing hodcarriers and building laborers take notice! At a regular meeting of the Hodcarriers' and Building Laborers' Union, No. 251, it was decided to demand 35 cents per hour for hodcarriers, mortar mixers and mortar wheelers, and 28 cents an hour for other building laborers, nine hours to constitute a day's work. This scale to take effect April 1, 1907.

WAGE SCALE COMMITTEE.

FRED KARCHER DEAD.
Fred Karcher, well known to everybody in Lincoln, died of blood poisoning last week. A few weeks ago he scratched a finger on a rusty nail and in a short time the finger began swelling. Medical attention was at once summoned, but the spread of the poison could not be stayed. Fred Karcher was a big, whole-souled, jolly fellow, who had a host of friends, and his good humor, his musical ability and fine powers of mimicry will be missed. If Fred had an enemy on earth it was himself. Peace to his ashes.

The prison contract labor system must be abolished.
