WAGELABORER

WILL M. MAUPIN, EDITOR

Published Weekly at 137 No. 14th St., Lincoln, Neb. One Dollar a Year.

Entered as second-class matter April 21, 1904, at the postoffice at Lincoln, Neb., under the Act of Congress of March 3rd, 1879.

"Printers' Ink," the recognized authority on advertising, after a thorough investigation on this subject, says: "A labor paper is a far better advertising medium than an ordinary newspaper in comparison with circulation. A labor paper, for example, having 2,000 subscribers is of more value to the business man who advertises in it than an ordinary paper with 12,000 subscribers."

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

I desire to announce my candidacy for the office of county judge at the primaries September 3, subject to the will of the republican voters.
P. JAMES COSGRAVE.

I hereby announce that I am a candidate, subject to the will of the republican voters at the primaries September 3, for the office of judge of the district court.
FRANK R. WATERS.

I am a candidate for the office of clerk of the district court for Lancaster county, subject to the approval of the republican voters at the primary election, to be held September 3.
WALLACE L. CRANDALL.

I desire to announce myself as a candidate for the republican nomination for county coroner.
V. A. MATTHEWS.

Better known as "Jack" Matthews of Castle, Roper & Matthews.

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for county assessor subject to the decision of the republican voters at the primary election to be held September 3.
THOMAS CARR.

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the office of clerk of the district court for Lancaster county, Nebraska, subject to the decision of republican voters at the primary, September 3, 1907.
J. S. BAER.

I am a candidate for the office of county sheriff, subject to the approval of the republican voters at the primary election to be held September 3.
ERNEST HUNGER.

THE GUILTY RICH.

Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, a federal judge, has fined the Standard Oil Co. the insignificant sum of $29,240,000. We call this an insignificant sum for the reason that it means no more to the Standard Oil Co. than a punched nickel does to a street railway company. Judge Landis has made a play to the galleries. The fine will never be paid by the Standard Oil Co. It may be compelled to hand over the money, but it will merely collect it from the consumers of oil and its by-products. In the final analysis the people will have the whole to pay, including a neat commission for handling the money.

If some humble workingman had been guilty of conspiring to rob the general public, he would have been sentenced to imprisonment. But the criminal rich escape with fines that they can make the public pay for them.

The men responsible for the Standard Oil Co.'s, methods of doing business are as well known as the president of the United States. They are John D. Rockefeller, William Rockefeller, H. H. Rogers and Mr. Archbold. But no federal official has yet instituted criminal prosecution of these financial conspirators and highwaymen. What do they care for fines? Not a thing! They merely raise prices a little, collect the fines through increased profits, and continue their piracy. The poor man is prosecuted criminally—the rich man is prosecuted civilly.

Rockefeller and Rogers use their vast wealth to give a financial twist to the market that results in poverty to many, in embezzlements, in suicides and in moral degradation. This is called financial genius. A poor workingman, angered by the sight of a man robbing him of his job, throws a brick. That is called anarchy.

Rockefeller and Rogers mass their millions and attack an independent refiner, and they crush him to the wall, ruining his business, and often driving him to a suicide's grave. That is called financial genius. A lot of workmen, seeking to better their condition, picket a struck factory and try to compel justice from an employer. That is called anarchy.

The financial geniuses are hauled into court and fined. The workmen are jailed for contempt of court. The financial geniuses raise their prices and collect the amount of the fine from the public. The workmen lay out their term in jail, while their wives and children starve.

Yet some people cannot understand why workmen are losing their respect for the courts and are losing their faith in justice.

Trust magnates secure control of the supply of raw material and force consumers to pay an exorbitant price. That is called business acumen. Workmen organize and control the price of labor and force employers to pay a living wage. That is labor union tyranny that must be abolished. Funny old world, isn't it?

THAT BAR NOMINATION.

The eminent attorneys who schemed the bar nomination stunt for the purpose of venting their spite against Judge Holmes and also to hand a lemon to Judge Waters, are experiencing bad hours these days. They are having it burned into their understanding every day that the free voters of the county will not stand for the impudent work. If these attorneys had desired to be fair they would have endorsed six or eight candidates, giving all political parties a show. But the scheme was to beat Holmes and Waters, and they did not dare let the meeting endorse more than three, knowing full well that if four or five were nominated, Holmes would surely be one of the number, with a probability that Waters would be the fifth man.

It was a very coarse bit of work, and it reflects no credit upon the attorneys who engineered it. Judge Holmes and Judge Waters can better afford to lose the endorsement of a meeting managed by such men than the managers can afford to bear the stigma of the work.

The Wageworker doesn't care a rap who the district judges are so long as they are clean and capable men, but it is protesting against the methods pursued by a lot of self-sufficient political schemers fixing up a deal and crowding nominees down the throats of the voters. Pretending to be very much concerned in the dealing out of exact justice and the rigid observance of law, the bar association proceeded to nullify the primary law and to engage in a work that would put the average old-time machine manipulated party convention in the kindergarten class of politics. The Wageworker is very much mistaken in the temper of the people if they stand for it. What they ought to do is to put the stamp of their disapproval upon the whole business by turning down all three of the nominees of the bar association. Perhaps such a jolt would teach the lawyers to keep their place.

The Wageworker urges its republican readers to consider well the candidacy of J. S. Baer, who is asking for the nomination to the office of clerk of the courts. Mr. Baer is not a tradesman, therefore is not eligible to membership in a union. He has a union brother, and he is himself a warm friend of unionism. This friendship he has demonstrated to the personal satisfaction of union men who have found him a friend in need.

No tickets were sold for the Epworth assembly last Sunday, but a number of eminent lecturers and public entertainers earned their money on the same day. Straining at gnats and swallowing camels seems as easy these days as in the days when the Nazarene walked and taught.

After all, hasn't Haywood as much right to do a spectacular stunt right now as Theodore Roosevelt had to wear a slouch hat and kahki suit while running for governor of New York on the strength of having been saved a humiliating defeat at San Juan hill by reason of the bravery of the colored troops?

Strikebreaking miners in the Mesabara range section took their babies into the mines with them to protect themselves from the striking miners. We hope those babies will grow up to be something a whole lot better than the miserable cowards they will have to call father.

"Bill" Haywood is making new friends by his modest demeanor since the Boise trial. Haywood's friends ought to take a pointer and make less noise.

The Citizens' company now operates its cars on South Twelfth street. The clock strikes twelve for the Distraction company.

Union men should not forget that the primaries are held on Labor Day. As there is no parade that day every
