

Overcoats Delightful to Wear

QUALITY and Style are the paramount requisites to O'coat satisfaction. "Kensington" coats not only look better, but wear longer than the ordinary kinds, for the reason we guard the making and the fabrics that go into them with unusual care. We challenge you to find as uniformly serviceable fabrics as we show in our coats this season. Our display just now is unusually large and attractive. ∴ ∴ ∴

A PRINTER "DOPE SHEET"

Charley Fear is a candidate for delegate from the International Typographical Union to the American Federation of Labor. Fear is now an organizer for the Federation and has performed some excellent work in that line. He is secretary of the Missouri State Federation of Labor and is, so rumor says, about to start a labor paper at Joplin. The Wageworker is for Fear as one of the delegates to the A. F. of L.

The December Journal conveys the information that Secretary-Treasurer Bramwood, "will return to duty on December 9." That was several days ago.

A letter from Shelby Smith of Philadelphia says: "The letters to business men appearing recently in The Wageworker are the best label dope that has come to my notice." A lot of 'em are taking notice of the label campaign in Lincoln. That the campaign is effective is attested by every fair employer in the city.

J. E. Worley has bought a half interest in the McVey shop, and hereafter it will be the McVey-Worley Co. Here's hoping that the new printery will prosper to the limit.

In a certain eight-hour shop in this city a member working in a department that never contributed a cent towards the eight-hour day fight, but who has profited by the fight put up and paid for by others, is wearing a pair of "Jones Brand" overalls. Of course it is nobody's business but his own.

Next to the Typographical Journal the national organ of the Machinists' Union, the Machinists' Monthly Journal, is the prettiest and most interesting of all the national organs coming to the Wageworker desk.

Sedalia, Mo., Union cast 22 votes at the election—22 for every proposition and none against. But Sedalia's vote was not counted because it did not get there in time. Now isn't that funny, too? Scranton, Pa., Union was deprived of a vote because the ballots sent to the local were lost in the mail. That is not right, although it may be legal. We'd like to know how Scranton voted on the salary propositions.

It would seem that Miss Anna Wilson is going to be "high woman out" in the nomination for trustee of the home. She is being endorsed by many of the unions. But we very much fear that when it comes down to voting by Australian ballot—"where there ain't nobody nigh you 'ceptin' God"—Miss Wilson will be lost in the shuffle. We are an awfully gallant lot when it comes to tipping our hats and dealing out the superheated atmosphere, but when it comes down to brass tacks we are an infernally narrow lot. And the election of a woman to a trusteeship would be such an innovation that it won't come off this time. But if Miss Wilson's name is on the ballot we'll vote for her. It would be such great fun watching the men trustees gnawing their fingernails and impatiently waiting for adjournment.

The "Chap" who runs a printorial department in the St. Paul Union Advocate holds the Prescott banner. The Prescott boom is growing by leaps and bounds, and Prescott is keeping as num as an oyster.

Lincoln Typographical Union greeted with cheers the announcement that the assessment had been reduced to one per cent, then turned around and unanimously voted to continue it at 2 per cent, the odd number 1 per cent to be used in boosting the label. The assessment for label purposes will continue as long as the campaign brings results.

Bert Bates, president of Rochester Typographical Union No. 15, has been elected assessor of that city. Louis Heindel, an employing printer and an old-time card man, was elected alderman. Heindel was the first employing printer in Rochester to sign up for the eight-hour day. We could elect a lot like them all over the country if we'd quit being political suckers.

Fred C. Damm used to be machinist on the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, and he was so unpopular that he was called "that Damm machinist." He recently went to Chicago and became a "free and independent." He is now called "that Damm rat."

We used to think St. Joe was a slow town. And it was, 'way back in the early 80's when the pencil shaver of this department was a kid "tourist" and edged up brevier ems on the old Gazette, scared to death for fear Ben Hill would "turn out his gas" for holding a market galley. But the old town seems to have struck her second childhood, for in things printorial she's as lively as a maiden of sweet sixteen. Old No. 40 is going after the 1909 convention in real earnest, and the way she is setting up the pins, laying wires and pulling strings is a revelation to a lot of us who remember the old town as a "dead 'un." If No. 209's delegates to the Boston convention don't vote for St. Joseph in 1909 they ought to be ostracized—and you know what Bill Nye said under similar circumstances.

There's a big strike on in Knoxville, printers and pressmen in five of the largest printeries being locked out.

AN EVERY-DAY CREED.

And One That Every Man Should Stand Up For Daily.

I BELIEVE IN MY JOB. It may not be a very important job, but it is MINE. Furthermore, it is God's job for ME. He has a purpose in my life with reference to His plan for the world's progress. No other fellow can take my place. It isn't a big place, to be sure, but for many years I have been moulded in a peculiar way to fill a peculiar niche in the world's work. I could take no other man's place. He has the same claim as a specialist that I make for myself. In the end, the man whose name was never heard beyond the house in which he lived, or the shop in which he worked, may have a larger place than the chap whose name has been a household word in the two continents. Yes, I believe in my job. May I be kept true to the task which lies before me—true to myself, and to the God who entrusted me with it.

I BELIEVE IN MY FELLOWMAN: He may not always agree with me. I'd feel sorry for him if he did, because I, myself, do not believe some of the things that were absolutely sure in my mind a dozen years ago. May he never lose faith in himself, because of he does, he may lose faith in me, and that would hurt him more than the former, and it would really hurt him more than it would hurt me.

I BELIEVE IN MY COUNTRY. I believe in it because it is made up of my fellowmen—and myself. I can't go back on either of us, and be true to my creed. If it isn't the best country in the world, it is partly because I am not the kind of a man that I should be.

I BELIEVE IN MY HOME. It isn't a rich home. It wouldn't satisfy some folks, but it contains jewels which cannot be purchased in the markets of the world. When I enter its secret chambers and shut out the world with its care, I am a lord. Its motto is service, its reward is love. There is no other place in all the world which fills its place, and heaven can be only a larger home, with a father who is all-wise and patient and tender.

I BELIEVE IN TODAY. It is all that I possess. The past is of value only as I can make the life of today fuller and freer. There is no assurance of tomorrow. I want to make good today.—Rev. Charles Steizle.

A CAT HOSPITAL.

Omaha Now Boasts of One Patronized by High Society.

Omaha now boasts of a "cat hospital and hotel." It is run as a private institution but has the support of a local organization of cat fanciers. Sick cats will be sent to the hospital and cared for, and cats left temporarily by their mistresses will be boarded in style until the mistresses return. If there is anything Omaha needs it is a cat hospital, and if there is anything that Omaha's "sassy" women should spend their time on it is taking care of sick cats.

Of course the mere fact that there are little children in Omaha who never have a square meal, and who do not know what it is to be comfortable cuts no figure. The cats, bless 'em, must be cared for. Let the children freeze and starve. They had no business coming into the world if their parents didn't want them any more than the average "sassy" woman wants a baby. Poodle dogs and Angora cats are so much more companionable than babies that there can be no comparison. Besides, what if the children do freeze and starve? Plenty more will come on to take their places. But who can replace the lost poodle or the vanished Angora?

FEMALE CONTRACTOR.

Mrs. Esther Cline of Bellefontaine, O., has taken the contract for seven miles on the grading of the Lima-Bellefontaine Traction line, and is personally supervising the work. She wears a man's overcoat and boots and felt hat, and is "on the job" all the time.
