WAGEWORKER

WILL M. MAUPIN, EDITOR

Published Weekly at 137 No. 14th St., Lincoln, Neb. One Dollar a Year.

Entered as second-class matter April 21, 1904, at the postoffice at Lincoln, Neb., under the Act of Congress of March 3rd, 1879.

Printers' Ink, the recognized authority on advertising, after a thorough investigation on this subject, says: "A labor paper is a far better advertising medium than an ordinary newspaper in comparison with circulation. A labor paper, for example, having 2,000 subscribers is of more value to the business man who advertises in it than an ordinary paper with 12,000 subscribers."

A UNION REVIVAL.

The Central Labor Union of Lincoln, aided by the affiliated unions as a whole, has undertaken what it hopes will prove to be a genuine old-fashioned revival of interest in the union labor movement. Something, if you please, after the manner of the old-time Methodist revival when men and women, moved by the spirit, did not hesitate to shout "Amen!" and "Glory Hallelujah!" and when the Methodist church was reaching men as it has not, perhaps reached men in these days of less demonstrative religion. That Lincoln unionists need a revival can not be questioned by men who are actively in touch with the prevailing condition of union affairs.

Last Sunday a former member of a trades union, now a minister of the gospel whose heart beats in full sympathy with the hopes and aspirations of the tolling masses, consented to preach a special sermon to union men and women. One would think that the comfortable little church might be too small to hold the crowd of unionists who would take advantage of this opportunity. But it was plenty large enough. The music was inspiring, and the sermon was not only a sermon brimming over with Christian sentiment, but overflowing with genuine unionism—and there were less than two score union men present to testify by being there that they were interested in the two great forces working for the betterment of humanity—the union and the church.

In view of this it is safe to say again that Lincoln trades unionists need a revival. Perhaps a resurrection would be better. The Central Labor Union hopes to make the two dates mentioned here and elsewhere—May 20 and 21—memorable in the annals of Lincoln trades unionism. On the evening of May 20 there will be a moving picture entertainment, and in conjunction with it an illustrated lecture on the labor movement. There will be plenty of good music, and the whole will prove to be an entertainment equal to any ever given in the city.

On Thursday evening Miss Margaret A. Haley of Chicago will address the people. Now a word as to this splendid woman. Miss Haley is vice-president of the Teachers' Federation of Chicago, which body is affiliated with the Chicago Trades and Labor Council under the American Federation of Labor. The fact that the teachers of Chicago are unionized has caused the machine politicians of the Windy City a world of trouble. A few years ago the teachers of Chicago—then unorganized—petitioned the school board for an increase in wages. The petition was denied on the excuse that the board had no money. Then Miss Haley and Miss Mary McDowell, both students of industrial and economical conditions got busy. They organized the Teachers' Federation, Miss McDowell being elected president and Miss Haley vice-president and "business agent."

Miss Haley began investigating to ascertain why a great and rich city like Chicago could pay no more than a pittance to her teachers, and discovered that the reason lay in the fact that a lot of big corporations were dodging their taxes, while the owners of small homes and business enterprises were being taxed to the limit. She marshalled her facts and figures and presented them to the Cook county board of review. This board, dominated by the big tax dodgers, refused to act. Miss Haley invoked the aid of the courts. She fought the case through to the supreme court and finally forced the corporations to dig up almost $4,000,000 of back taxes for educational purposes. Then the school board squandered the money in building contracts and again gave the teachers the "frozen face." Mill Haley was undismayed. She took the Teachers' Federation into politics and in a month or two she had the machine politicians so badly frightened that they compelled the school board to grant the demands of the teachers.

This is the mental measure of Miss Margaret A. Haley, who is coming to Lincoln on May 21, to tell what she knows about unionism. The union man or woman who lives unionism as well as talks it, will let nothing prevent them from hearing this remarkable woman. Now let every union man and woman in Lincoln and vicinity take an interest in this revival. Tell your non-union friends and neighbors about it, interest them and get them to attend. It will be an educational session that will be beneficial to the cause of unionism. Get busy!

Rev. William Balch, pastor of Trinity Methodist church, Lincoln, and an avowed friend of organized labor, is the delegate to the Baltimore conference who aroused that great body to the need of organizing a "labor bureau" in the Methodist church organization. We're proud of Rev. Mr. Balch—and here's hoping he will be put in charge of the bureau.

Death bed repentance may be all right, but we prefer the man who has been on the square all his life. That's the reason we look with suspicion upon William H. Taft's sudden and exceedingly late expressions of love for the workingman.

Naturally enough the United States senators who sneered at a "Mothers' Day" celebration fixed the District of Columbia child labor law so a coach and four could be driven through it without touching the sides.

John Mitchell, a guest at the White House, is calculated to make "Gripe Guts" Post and "Buck" Van Cleave hike to the nearest federal judge for an injunction against a repetition of the infamous outrage.

The Methodist Episcopal church is waking up to the fact that it must take cognizance of industrial conditions if it would better spiritual condition. When the great Methodist church gets busy something happens.

The two greatest men this world ever produced were skilled craftsmen. Christ was a carpenter and Paul was a tentmaker. Can you imagine for a minute that these craftsmen were non-unionists?

A lot of congressmen who are frittering away their time and drawing $7,500 a year for it are opposed to organized labor's demand for a fair day's pay for a fair day's work.

Ge, but the union worker is getting a lot of love and sympathy, now that the political campaign is warming up. Ever notice how they love the workingman just before election?

The workmen of the country couldn't go to the Pacific coast to see the fleet, but they furnished the money that enabled a lot of other people to go.

What tickles us is to hear a lawyer denouncing trades unions. The lawyers' union is the limit in the way of "closed shop" conditions.

A few good trades unionists in the legislature next winter would look pretty good. It depends on you whether they are there or not.

Of course, if union affairs fail to go your way you are helping a lot by going off into a corner and putting about it.

If you don't like the way the Labor Temple project is coming along, suppose you just give it a shove or two forward.

A lot of unionists never think of the label until they get a chance to claim they couldn't get union made goods.

Labor will come into its own just as soon as it shows by its action that it is worthy of its own.

Representative Littlefield got "cold feet," but our Uncle Sammy Gompers still has his pedal extremities under the table.

The courts have not enjoined you from demanding the label—yet.

ELOQUENT SERMON

measures a man's value to society by his service and not by his pocket book.

"We are far from the ideal social state. What is our responsibility in realizing the ideal social conditions? We ought to have a part in the evolving of society to the plane of love, justice and brotherhood. We must love the truth and follow it; love our fellowmen and be willing to serve them. Universal brotherhood will become a reality by the universal diffusion of love. I knew a family of eight boys and four girls. Sickness often entered that home. In fact one was weakling and never able to add much to the income. The sick were always cared for and the weak brother gladly helped and supported. Each one received according to his needs and gave according to his ability. This is my conception of the ideal state of society. Men and brethren, such a condition shall come to pass when all men fulfill the law of love which is the law of Christ. Then shall strife and wrong and passion pass away and righteousness and peace rule the heads and hearts of men. Bear ye one another's burdens and so fulfill the law of Christ."

LABOR TEMPLE BOARD.
Arranges for Publicity and Helps to Boost Label Exhibition.

The board of directors of the Labor Temple Association met in regular session Monday evening. Owing to the enforced absence of Secretary Iringer very little routine business was transacted. Mr. Maupin was made temporary secretary. A committee was appointed to arrange for a "publicity reception" according to plans proposed some time ago. This committee will arrange for a meeting with business and professional men under the auspices that will command their attention and permit the directors to make them acquainted with the plans of the association. For obvious reasons the details of this plan can not at this time be made public.

Seeing in the coming union label exhibition an opportunity to gain publicity for the temple project the directors decided to help in a financial way, but without drawing on the money subscribed for stock. The directors will see to it that the Temple is properly boosted during the "revival." The directors also talked over two or three other plans for getting all the facts before the people of Lincoln, and out of the discussion some good will doubtless result. The following directors were present:

Dickson, Weckesser, Ress, Rudy, Walker, Pickard, Chapin, Maupin. At next Monday evening's meeting the board will take up the matter of arranging its part in the label exhibition, and as this promises to be a great "boost" every director is urged to be present.

THE IMPUDENT GOMPERS.

Actually Has Audacity to Protest against Attorney's Appointment.

Mr. Gompers has the audacity to protest the appointment of a railroad attorney as United States district judge for Idaho. We are astonished at your temerity, Mr. Gompers! Don't you know that a railroad attorney is just what is wanted for a United States district judge in Idaho? The railroad interests all want him; so does the Citizens' Alliance and the Mine Owners' Association, and the Manufacturers' Association. Then, what right have you with your little three million workmen—to protest against this appointment? This country is not run in the interest of the common working people, we'd have you to know sir! Your protest will be ignored.—Jamestown Advocate.

CAPITAL AUXILIARY.

Capital Auxiliary met Tuesday, May 12, with Mrs. Chas. Righter. Election of officers and a picnic supper were the most important events of the meeting.

The next meeting on the regular meeting day, Tuesday, May 22, will be at the home of Mrs. F. W. Mickel. We have lost four good members in the past two weeks, Mrs. H. W. Smith and daughter, Hazel, and Mrs. F. J. Smith left on Saturday for Oklahoma City, Okla., to join Mr. H. W. Smith and brother who went there some time ago. We regret very much to lose them.

Word has been received from Mrs. Marshall that she is enjoying the mountain country very much.

CHILD LABOR IN KENTUCKY.

Four hundred and sixty factories in Kentucky which flourished upon the labor of children before the labor law was passed at the last session of the legislature went into effect, have had to go out of business, according to the report of James J. Scully, of Louisville, state inspector of labor.

Remember the Time You Struck?

It was for better wages, better hours and better sanitary conditions. You demanded relief from oppressive conditions. Say, Mr. Union Man Who Struck, did you ever stop to think of the good wife who works long hours in a small kitchen over a blistering hot steel range? Ever think of giving her better hours, better working conditions, and better tools of her trade? She is working before your whistle blows, and she works after the evening whistle blows. Over an unsanitary and blistering hot steel range in the middle of summer, too. Ever think of it? Think now, and then come in and order a sanitary Gas Range. It will lighten her burdens, save her many steps, provide comfort and give her pleasure. Besides, a Gas Range is economical—saves fuel bills, steps and health. We sell the best—cash or payments. We'll prove their economy if you'll call. Open evenings and competent demonstrators to show you just how.
