FRED SCHMIDT AND BRO.

917-921 O St. OPPOSITE CITY HALL

A WHIRLWIND SPEAKER.

Chase of Haverhill Will Speak in Lincoln Very Soon.

John C. Chase was the people's choice for mayor of Haverhill, Mass., at the very time of his defeat. If the will of the people had been the rule, the Socialist—perhaps Chase, as their representative—would still be in control of Haverhill.

Chase was only defeated after the old line parties gave up all hope of winning against him by fair means and they had to resort to the power of boodle. It cost thousands to beat Chase and it has cost more thousands every election since then to keep him beaten. Even at that the power of boodle is proving more and more ineffective. The next victory for Socialism at Haverhill will be won even against the barrels of money furnished by the interests and that victory will be final and complete.

This is the man who will aid with the closing campaign dates of the gubernatorial campaign in Nebraska. He is an orator and a master of the platform art, a political student whom none of his opponents dare meet in public.

The socialist organization of Nebraska has secured several dates from Mr. Chase, and he will appear with Clyde J. Wright, socialist candidate for governor. These two forceful speakers will speak in Lincoln on November 7 at a place yet to be designated. They ought to have the privilege of speaking to not less than 2,000 workingmen. They have a message.

THE TRADE WINNERS.

Lincoln Business Men Touring the Northwest on Special Train. Under the auspices of the Commercial Club some seventy Lincoln business men are indulging in another "trade winning" excursion, this time taking the line of the Northwestern road into northwestern Nebraska. As usual the excursionists have a band along with them, and as usual it is a village band hired because it is cheaper to hire them than it is to employ Lincoln musicians. The Lincoln musicians however, are expected to "patronize home institutions" and "all work together for Lincoln."

The special train is a palatial affair, and the bunch taking the excursion is having a royal good time.
