WAGELWORKER

WILL M. MAUPIN, EDITOR

Published Weekly at 137 No. 14th St., Lincoln, Neb. One Dollar a Year.

Entered as second-class matter April 21, 1904, at the postoffice at Lincoln, Neb., under the Act of Congress of March 3rd, 1879.

"Printers' Ink," the recognized authority on advertising, after a thorough investigation on this subject, says: "A labor paper is a far better advertising medium than an ordinary newspaper in comparison with circulation. A labor paper, for example, having 2,000 subscribers is of more value to the business man who advertises in it than an ordinary paper with 12,000 subscribers."

OUR TICKET TO DATE. For President—WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN of Nebraska. For Vice-President—JOHN WORTH KERN of Indiana. For Representative, Lancaster—WILLIAM C. NORTON of Lincoln.

AN ANNOUNCEMENT. The Morning Journal and the Evening News have editorially announced that in future neither of them will publish liquor advertising in any form. This, under all the circumstances, was the consistent course for the Journal and the News to take. The Wagerworker has never cared to carry this class of advertising, although it is legitimate enough. With this introduction the Wagerworker submits the following proposition to the management of the Journal and the News: If the Journal and the News will donate to the Labor Temple Building fund twenty-five per cent of the amount that it has received from liquor advertising in all forms since the date of the first issue of the Wagerworker, this humble little labor newspaper will donate to the Labor Temple building fund 50 per cent of the amount it has received from liquor advertising. If this offer is accepted the Wagerworker will agree to refuse hereafter to accept all-liquor advertising.

WHAT THEY ARE AIMING AT. The New York Evening Post is not only a very radical opponent of trades unionism, but is likewise—and naturally—very ardent in its support of Judge Taft. This may explain why it rejoices so loudly over a recent decision of a French court whereby the secretary of the Electricians' Union was fined for calling a strike. The New York Evening Post insists that the French court was right, and that the same course of action should be followed in this country. Under that course of legal action it would be made illegal to strike, and every time men quit work in order to enforce a reform in intolerable conditions they would be subjected to fine and imprisonment. That is a system of peonage that appeals strongly to papers and employers of the New York Evening Post and the Battle Creek Post stripe. It is virtually the system that Judge William H. Taft sought to establish when by judicial ukase he told the engineers and the firemen that they must not quit work on pain of being adjudged guilty of contempt. It is the system that will obtain in this country if organized labor does not stand solidly together and administer a lasting rebuke to the men and the party that is seeking to foist it upon the country. Such a system would be worse than chattel slavery. In slavery days the black man received no money wages, but he did receive his board, his clothes, his cabin and medical attention. He at least was assured of a roof to cover him, food for his stomach and clothing for his back as long as he lived. Under the system advocated by the New York Evening Post and originally instituted in a decree by Judge Taft, the "free workingman" would receive meagre wages—enough to keep him from actual want if he was properly economical—only so long as he was able to deliver the

THE Very Last Call
The wind-up of our tremendous sale of the Sterling stock of clothing and furnishings is drawing near. We have put all the $35, $30, $25 and $20 suits remaining from this stock on sale at $8.88—and no better bargains were ever offered. They will last only a short time, and you'll have to hurry. The sale has been a wonderful success—because the Armstrong guarantee was behind it.
Our Fall and Winter Stock
Oh, but it will contain things to delight the soul of the true blue Union Man. We have bought largely—more so than ever—of the magnificent Brock line of Union Made Clothing, and we are satisfied that nothing better was ever offered to Union Men. This stock is arriving every day and it will be a feast for Union eyes. Ever hear the story of the old countryman who put up at the swell hotel, and after viewing the magnificent bath room wrote home and described it, winding up with the assertion that "he could hardly wait till Saturday Night?" We can hardly wait for the arrival of all this fine Union Made Clothing—we are so anxious for Union Men to see it.
In the meantime it will pay you to take advantage of some of the late bargains in Spring and Summer stuff—and hold them until next Spring.
Armstrong Clothing Company
GOOD CLOTHES MERCHANTS
Labor will give the enterprise its hearty support. Charles W. Post has been admitted to membership in a "labor union." It is an open shop "union" that does not believe in its members striking to enforce demands for decent treatment; it is not affiliated with the American Federation of Labor; nobody ever heard of it until it took Post into the fold, and nobody will hear of it in the future save as Post holds it up for a model "union." It is to trades unionism what Post's marital escapades are to men and women who believe in the society of the marriage tie. The supreme court has decided that a railroad company can discharge a man for belonging to a union, and that a union can not boycott a railroad company for blacklisting a union man. And organized labor is asked to quietly submit to that sort of thing and entertain the highest respect for the court so holding. Will Norton may be for or against county option, as seems best to him. The Wagerworker is merely advocating the election of a trades unionist to the legislature. Mr. Norton's position on the county option question is of absolutely no moment to this labor newspaper. Chairman Hitchcock of the republican committee says that it is his belief that the republican party will get its share of the labor vote. In that one particular the Hitchcock belief is quite in line with our own. "You are perpetually enjoined," says Mr. Van Cleave. Forever is a long time. The Lincoln Ad club, which is furthering the Home Products exposition, should be early assured that organized
