THE NOTED SOLDIER AND LAWYER NO MORE.

PASSES AWAY YERY UNEXPECTEDLY.

He Was a Noted Figure of the Late Civil War-His Military Career a History of Some of the Most Noted Campaigns of the Great Conflict -At Gettysburg With Meade and Hancock.

New York, April 16. - General Henry W. Slocum died at 12:05 o'clock this morning. He had been ill only a few days, and death was not expected.

General Slocum has been one of Brooklyn's distinguished citizens since the close of the war. He was a former president of the Brooklyn club and had been connected with many other erganizations, social and military. He was born in Delphi, a small town near Syracuse, N. Y., September 24, 1827, and had started to take an academic course when fortune threw a West Point cadetship in his way. He entered the academy at the age of 21 and was graduated in 1852, the seventh man in a class of forty-two. Immediately after graduation he assumed the command as second lieutenant of the Fourth artillery and was ordered to Florida, where there was trouble with the Seminole In-dians. It was his first experience of the hardships and discomforts of

The command was then ordered to Fort Moultrie and while there the young lieutenant began to read law as a relief from the monotony of garrison life. After a period of irksome regiment idleness, he resigned, went back to Syracuse and began to prac-

In two years Mr. Slocum was elected to the lower house of the legislature, and in 1859 he was chosen county treasurer of Onondaga county, and was holding this office when the rebellion broke out. He accepted command, as colonel of the 27th New York volunteers and led the regiment into battle at Bull Run, from which field he was carried severely wounded to the hospital, where he lay for several months. He was then made brigadier general, and under McClellan held command of the left division of the army of the Potomac and was afterwards made general of volunteers. To follow General Slocum's military career to the close of the war would be to write a history of some of the most important campaigns of the war. At Gettysburg he shared the honors with Meade, the commander, and with Hancock, and at Sherman's request he took command of the army of Georgia in the great march to the

It was General Slocum who said at the Gettysburg council of war: "Stay and fight it out.

In September, 1865, he resigned, and going to Brooklyn, became a lawyer again. That fall he was the Democratic candidate for secretary of state, but was defeated. He was sent to congress in 1868, again in 1870, and a third time in 1883. In 1876 he was elected president of the board of city works, Brooklyn, and was one of the commissioners of the Brooklyn bridge. He advocated making the bridge free to the public and had the satisfaction of seeing his suggestions adopted in 1891.

ONLY PART OF THE MEN OUT. The Great Northern Railroad Strike Not

On in the Eastern Division.

Sr PAUL, Minn., April 16.—There is no strike on the eastern division of the Great Northern railroad nor is there likely to be one. The strike is confined to the lines west of Minot, N. D., where it is now general. The employes on the eastern division are averse to a strike, but even if they should do so it would not be for two or three days yet.

President J. M. Hill stated that not to exceed 300 men had gone out on one division and these were all operators, switchmen and yardmen. The engineers, firemen, conductors and brakemen were all willing and ready to work and had expressed no intention of striking, so far as he had been informed. Only a few trains have been delayed and the trouble will all be over in a very short time.

A Helena, Mont., special says that the strike extends from Larimore, N. D., to Spokane, Wash., and 1,600 employes are now out, 200 of that numstrike was ordered.

INGALLS NOT IMPLICATED.

Ingalis in an interview in regard to suits recently brought against the defunct Kansas Trust and Banking company in which he, among others, were charged with fraud, said to-day that while he was president of the concert, he had never had any netive connection with it. He owned $7,500 of the stock, for some of which he paid a primium. Of late years he has not received a salary as president. His losses amt liabilities by the failure. of the company amount to $21,000. His total receipts from the company, isoluding salary and dividents, amounted to $3,700. If there was fraud in the business transactions he had no knowledge of it.

This is an estimate based on statements made by sixteen of the various charitable institutions, rel'ef societies and organized funds furnished to repre at 12:30 the house adjourned.

FOR CONTEMPT OF THE HOUSE. Mr. Hoatner Proposes a Radical Rule to Prevent Future Filibustering.

WASHINGTON, April 13.-Representative Boatner of Louisiana, who has been absent from the city with the Jenkins investigation committee, did not reach here in time to attend the Democratic caucus yesterday. On learning of the action taken he expressed regret that he had not been able to attend. He had in fact con-templated offering at the first oppor-tunity a rule which he believed would obviate the necessity of counting a quorum and at the same time effectually prevent filibustering without re-sorting to the undignified methods of fining members. "Under the rule that I would offer," said he, "any member of the house who being present, refused to vote, not having of course a pecuniary interest in the legislation under consideration, would be declared in contempt. This would deprive him of the right to make a motion, to object or in fact to be recognized by the chair. I would have house should see fit by vote to remove his disability. It is not a difficult thing to compel the attendance of members. The rules, if enforced, already provide for that. Under this rule filibustering would be impossible after a single attempt had been made. The minority might leave a man or two in good standing to make motions, but they could not leave enough to call for the ayes and nays or conduct other obstructive tactics. The members who went voluntarily into contempt would be then under the control of the house, which could remove the disability when and in whatever manner it might see fit."

KANSAS WHEAT PROSPECTS. Secretary Coburn Predicts a Bountiful Harvest.

TOPEKA, Kan., April 16. - Secretary Coburn of the state board of agriculture is very much encouraged by the rainfall in the western part of the state. In a bulletin to the press this morning Secretary Coburn says:

Rains which began to fall at various points Thursday night and that have since reached to every nook and corner in the state, which were not wet a week ago, have vastly improved the prospects of the wheat crop. Large areas in the western part of the state have been lacking moisture for many months, so long in fact that wheat was suffering, and to these sections the rain seemed almost providential. While it comes too late to insure big crops in all counties, it is yet in ample time to make possible the production of a large aggregate yield and to save the West from what some were beginning to fear a crop failure.

"The great wheat producing areas of the state are in good condition as to moisture and the prospects are such as to fully justify the prediction of a bountiful harvest. There will not be the 100,000,000 bushel crop which the acreage sown made possible, but with such weather as we may reasonably expect, there will be a crop that will

QUAY ON THE TARIFF BILL. The Pennsylvania Senator Attacks the Present Measure.

WASHINGTON, April 16 .- The principal speech on the tariff question in the senate to-day was by Mr. Quay of Pennsylvania. He declared in opening that the senate was disappointed in the tariff bill prepared by the finance committee which instead of presenting a broad measure which would give tranquility to business for years, "threatened the country with a measure which has been described as sectional, partisan, blundering, discriminating and unjust." He held that the bill was prepared in such a fashion as to prevent the restoration of confidence for years. He characterized the McKinley law as an experiment in fostering American cap-ital and labor. He predicted that the enactment of the present law would make America a colonial dependent of Great Britain. After reviewing the history of tariff legislation in this country and showing the effects of high tariffs and low tariffs on the industries of the country, he closed by describing with emphasis and apparent earnestness the ruin which the passage of the Wilson bill would bring to the industries of his

HOUSE DEMOCRATS FINALLY GET TOGETHER.

FILIBUSTERING COMES TO AM END

The Caucus Instructs the Committee or Rules to Report a Rule by Which Members Present Hut Not Voting May Be Taken Into Account to Make Up a Quorum-Two-Thirds Majority.

WASHINGTON, April 16.-In the house Democratic cancus Mr. Springer of Illinois brought forward the rule which he introduced some time ago, framed on the lines of the old rule drawn some twelve years ago by J. Randolph Tucker of Virginia, which provided that members who declined to vote when their names were called, should be brought to the bar of the house, and after being given an opportunity to vote upon the pending proposition, in case of re-fusal, should be recorded as "present, but not voting."

Mr. Pendleton of West Virginia offered a resolution directing the committee on rules to formulate and present a rule to ascertain and record the presence of a quorum, whether voting or not. Mr. Outhwaite sug-gested a different method of accomplishing the same purpose.

peaker Crisp took the floor and made a vigorous speech pointing out the deplorable position in which the house found itself on account of continued and persistent absenteeism.

Quite a number of speeches were made in opposition to any and all rules looking to the counting of members who refused to vote. Messrs. Kilgore of Texas, Bryan of Nebraska McMillin of Tennessee, Wheeler of Alabama and Williams of Illinois led the opposition.

Mr. Cummings made a speech against the proposition to count a quorum, at the conclusion of which he sent up to the desk an amendment to the title of any new rule which should be reported for this purpose, so as to make it read: "A rule to nominate Thomas Brackett Reed for president of the United States."

Mr. Bland vigorously spoke against the adoption of any quorum counting rule, as he believed it to be an inalienable right of any member to oppose what he believed to be bad legis lation. And further that this right authorizes silence when that is more effectual than a negative vote. In fact, obnoxious legislation could often be defeated in no other way than by silence. Mr. Bland is the only mem-ber of the Missouri delegation who voted against the De Armond resolution. The resolution was in full as follows:

expect, there will be a crop that will be the marvel of such as have not already had proof of what Kansas can do when she sets herself about it."

Resolved, As the sense of the caucus, that the committee on rules shall report to the house a rule or an amendment to the rules, by means of which members present and not voting may be taken into accounts to the existence or non-existence of a quorum and to compel the attendance of absent members.

Mr. McCreary of Kentucky moved to refer all the resolutions to the committee on rules. The motion was lost, 59 to 65, and on motion to adopt Mr. De Armond's resolution it was carried by a two-thirds majority, 86 to 44.
