SENATE BILL WILL PASS.

THAT'S THE WAY THE MATTER LOOKS NOW.

DEMOCRATIC HOUSE CAUCUS CALLED

The Senate Confercees Refused to Meet the House Conferrees Senator Hill's Resolution Still Pending-Awaiting fellon of the Caucus-Senators in an Amiable State of Mind.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.-The senate shamber was the storm center of the tariff conflict to-day. Eager crowds thronged the lobbies leading to the senate galleries early in the day and struggled for points of vantage for the expected debate on Senator Hill's resolution directing the senate tariff conferrees to report on the sit

The spectators, as well as senators, waited with evident impatience while the clerk read a long veto message from the president on a bill retiring a naval officer. As it proceeded the floor of the chamber rapidly filled with members of the house of repre-sentatives. Mr. Burrows of Michigan took a sert near S-nator Aldrich, and Messrs. Tarsney. Bynum and other Democratic members of the ways and means committee were on the Demo-cratic side. It was noticeable, how-ever, that none of the house conferrees were on the floor or in the gal-

At 12:30 Senator Hill arose and asked that his resolution of yesterday be considered. He gave way, however, to Senator Chandler who asked that the resolution for the in-vestigation of the alleged irregulari-ties in the recent Alabama election go over until next Monday.

Senator Hill presented an amendment requesting the senate conferrees to report the principal items of disagreement, returning the bill to the secretary of the senate for further action by the senate. He called for the yeas and nays on the amendment Senator Gray asked for an explana-tion of the amendment and Mr. Hill explained that it was to fix the parliamentary status of the bill in case of a disagreement.

Mr. Gray thought it would be time enough to consider this phase when the conferrees reported their inability to agree. He doubted that the physical possession of the bill re-mained in the senate. It was a matter of joint conferrees to consider. He believed that the house might yet deal with the bill and that the ques-tion of tariff could not depend upon

Senator Hill replied that the senate asked for the second conference, and under parliamentary usage the bill remained in its possession. "If I can be assured." he said. "that the bill will remain in the senate, I will withdraw the amendment."

Frye said he understood that the bill was actually in the senate, to which Mr. Cockrell replied vehemently that he understood that the papers vere taken to the house and were then

Mr. Frye said it might be true that the house conferrees had either properly or improperly secured possession of the bill.

"There seems to be so much doubt as to where the bill is," interjected Mr. Chandler, "that I suggest it may be found in the white house.

"I will say to the senator from New Hampshire," answered Mr. Faulkner, "that although the 'tariff bill is not at the White house now it will be there very soon to receive the signature of the president.

"Let me ask," said Mr. Chandler.

"that as the bill is to go to the White house so soon, what will be its form?" "It will be in such form," replied Mr. Faulkner. "as a majority of the Democratic congressmen agree upon. Senator Turpie, Democrat of Indiana, said he had misgivings as to the source of the resolution. "It comes from the senator from New York, who has publicly informed us that he is against this measure and has voted against it."

Mr. Cockrell moved an executive session and Mr. Hill demanded the reas and nays. Allen voted against he executive session and Caffery for

Mr. Harris announced that he would vote aye if not paired. The Democrats generally voted ave. The motion was evidently carried by one majority, before the vote was com-pleted, but at this point Mr. Gordon announced a transfer of his pair to Mr. Brice tras oorhees and voted aye. The vote was a tie-35 to 35, and the vice president cast the deciding vote in favor of Mr. Cockrell's motion.

The senate went into executive session and at 2:13 adjourned until Mon-

The decision of the senate to go into executive session to-day, pending the consideration of the Hill resolution and subsequent adjournment was due to the general belief on the part of the perats of the senate that the house on Monday would take notion resulting in an accep ance of the house bill entire and without change of any kind. This belief was strengthened by the sction of the senate in making a motion for an executive session.

They sent messengers to the capitol for the senators, but the search proved unavailing. None of the senate members of the conference were at the capitol, or if they were they could not be found.

That the house conferrees realize that the crisis has been reached is manifested by a call which emanated from no less a source than Speak r Crisp and the house conferrees. As soon as the house conferroes returned The Japa Made a Daring Attempt to from the morning meeting they were closeted with Speaker Crisp and Messrs, Catchings and Dockery. Half an hour after the house met Speaker Crisp's son appeared on the floor with a formal call for a cancus of the house of Democrats on the tariff bill at 10 o'clock Monday morning. The names of Speaker Crisp and Chairman Wilson were among the first signed, and the paper was signed by members regardless of faction, as it was presented to them by young Mr. Crisp. It is recalled that in his speech Speaker Crisp said that when the matter was resolved into a choice between the "Senate bill" or no bill, the conferrees would call upon their colleagues for advice.

At 4 o'clock in the morning the alarm of fire was raised and the first one on the spot found the building containing the rifle making machinery in a full blaze from one end to the other. The flames had such a hold that it was found impossible to enter the building and all efforts had to be confined to the saving of the forge and the adjacent buildings. THE COXEY ARMY ROUTED.

The Veterans of Many a Tramp Dispersed by Militia.

WASHINGTON, Aug 13 .- The assemblage of Coxeyites, Galvinites and socalled industrials, who have been camping at Rosslyn, were driven from the soil of Virginia shortly before daybreak this morning by the militia of that state. The raid was made without the least resistance from the armies. The house, which had been erected from boughs of trees, straw, hay and other materials, was burned.

This morning the walks of the aque-duct bridge, which joins the outskirts of Washington with the state of Virginia. was lined with ragged and hungry Coxeyites, watching their only property go up in smoke. They had been forced upon the bridge, but there the authority of the militis ended, and the "industrials" knew it. They feared to enter the District of SHANCHAI, Aug. 13.—A dispatch re-ceived here from Chee Foo says that vagrants awaited them, and they are waiting for something to turn up.

Many complaints have been sent to Governor O'Farrell within the past week or ten days of the growing nuisance at Rosslyn, for which there seemed to be no remedy. After mature deliberation and consultation Governor O'Farrell decided to act. The strictest secrecy was observed in order to keep the Washington authorities in ignorance of what was going on. The governor detailed three companies of the First Virginia Wife Who Is Also His Mother in-Law.

New York, Aug. 13.—Eugene Superer of Westfield, Mass., is his first wife's sepsin-law, his present wife's stepsin-law, hi raid should be made.

The industrials were aware of the coming of the militia, for shortly before midnight the word was passed around that they were to be routed

Several reconnoitering parties were sent out, but it was impossible for them to gather any definite informa-tion. They uttered some threats, saying that they would break the heads of any one who would attempt to enter the camp. The improvised huts were crowded with sleepers at 11 p. m., and scores of men were lying about the fires on the ground, some with pieces of blankets and bits of rugs over them and some shivering in the cold without anything but their meager clothing. Several complained of sickness, but a few suffering from malaria.

Just at dawn the militia appeared and marched to the aqueduct bridge. General Anderson and his officers then went to the leaders of the industrials and told them in plain but courteous language that they must from the same source that Gen Yeh had been killed in the battle fought fended it by claiming that he had never been really married to her, as she had a husband living at the time. The suit was dismissed and Superer married the daughter Catherine. She bore him three children, who are thus not only the brothers and sisters but also the cousins of the children by Mrs. Superer No. 1, besides being that unfortunate lady's grandchildren.

Last January Mrs. Superer, haring tired of Mr. Superer, largely, it is alleged, because that gentleman combined much love with frequent chastening, returned to her mother. Mrs. Superer No. 1, and now the suit follows.

id occurred. Three men were too sick to be forced and were allowed to remain in camp. General Anderson sent the surgeon of the militia to give them medical assistance and they were removed to hospital to-day. Soon after coming down to his offict Major Moore, the superintendent o police, went to the office of the district commissioners and had a conference with them with a view of getting the commonwealers out of the district It was decided that the police should take charge of the industrials and escort them to some suitable place, most probably Georgetown, until arrangemeats can be made for shipping them

This, it is believed, can be accomplished in three or four days, as the commissioners have some funds at their disposal and will receive some assistance from citizens who wish to rid Washington of the so-called army of the unemployed. The district authorities are not little vexed at the summary action of Governor O'Ferral in forcing the industrials from Virginia soil, as during the past few days satisfactory pro gress in having the men returned to trials are still on the aqueduct bridge, uncertain of what will be their next experience.
