Look Out For Tramps

Two tramps, socalled, traveling under the names of King and Wilson, were in the city Friday and Saturday of last week. The former is a printer, the latter a tin and coppersmith. These knights of the road have been traveling together the road have been traveling together for four months in Kansas, and are now on their road to Iowa. To hear them death warrant for my son. God gave will convince you that they are not me strength when I saw the murderer bums, but honest men out of work. They are not college bred, but you can readily understand that their terse homely sentences come from the knowledge they have obtained on the road hunting work. They are brainy, consistent and seemingly honest.

King talks sound money, but does not allow John Cleveland, Grover Rothschild or Baron Sherman to give him the definition of what is sound money. He also sings some songs that would not amuse the moneycrats.

Wilson talks the need of organization and takes up a collection. Friday night he got 56 cents, Saturday night $1.21. They know how tramps are made and can tell it.

In four months they have met and talked with 1,173 so-called tramps, 508 of whom were mechanics of all kinds, 522 day laborers, 9 lawyers, 5 ministers of the gospel, 3 doctors, total 1,047; leaving only 126 out of 1,173 (about 10 per cent) who are not looking for

A Plattsmouth Girl Watched Bicycles and went Insane

PLATTSMOUTH, Neb., July 23 .- Miss Lena Plaeger, a young lady aged nineteen years, who has resided with her parents in this city for some twelve years, has become insane, and bicycles are apparently the cause of it. Miss Plager has been wo king at a farm house near this city and came in with the family last Thursday to attend the bicycle races here. Since then she has talked of scarcely anything but bicycles and money. She was placed in jail yesterday, and this morning the insane commission pronounced her crazy.
