INTRINSIC VALUE.

What It Costs to Produce an Ounce of Gold.
 The Independence mine, Cripple Creek, Col., declared profits in 1895 as follows: January, $159,000; February, $105,000; March, $130,000. Making for the first quarter in 1895, $384,000. The number of men employed is twenty-eight, four of whom are stopping. A simple calculation will show that it costs less than 60 cents to produce an ounce of gold from this mine. If the cheapness of production, as urged by the opponents of silver, from such mines as the Mollie Gibson and the Granite Mountain, is a reason for the demonetization of silver, why not demonetize gold?—White Pine News.

Yes! why not demonetize a metal that can be produced for less than four cents on the dollar. Where are Eckles, Depew, Carlisle, Preston, Cleveland and the rest of the gold-bug pirates who yell "intrinsic value?" Where does your "intrinsic" come in on the above propositions? One ounce of gold costs, on a general average, the same as one ounce of silver and therefore should be worth intrinsically the same, or instead of having the ratio 16 to 1 it ought to be 1 to 1.—Denver Road.

REMARKABLE SUICIDES.

Louis Hammond and His Bride Die Only After Repeated Cool Attempts.

BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 27.—The suicides of Louis Hammond and his bride Des Moines, Iowa, in the American house here last week were most remarkable in many ways. Before attempting to end their lives, they signed their names to a letter addressed to the coroner, telling him of what they contemplated, and why they sought self-destruction.

Tuesday the two took chloral, but neither died. It is supposed that they took an overdose, which occasioned nausea and saved their lives. The day following they made a second attempt, and on this failing, Mrs. Hammond swallowed morphine, while her husband stood by and waited the result. She died at 10 o'clock that morning.

Then Hammond endeavored to kill himself. He took morphine, but this failed to do its work. Then he drove a hat pin, several inches long, into his breast, until he could move his heart with it, but this also failed. Then he took morphine and chloral again, and, thinking after waiting several hours, that this agent had failed once more to do its work, he locked his dead wife in the room while he went out to purchase a revolver. He died some time Thursday night. It was probably the chloral and morphine which caused his death, as the revolver was found with all its chambers filled.

Hammond was about 35 years old. He was formerly in the perfumery business at 68 Maiden Lane, New York, the firm being Hammond & Britner. In New York he met and wooed his bride, Miss Kathryn Sawyer, and, after dissolving partnership in July he went on the road for G. M. Dittner & Co. of Des Moines. He has a sister at St. Paul, Iowa.

COLORADO BULL FIGHT.

Simply an Exhibition of Cruelty—Witnessed by 6,000 People.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Col., Aug. 27.—Another bull was killed in the arena at Gillett yesterday, in the presence of 6,000 people, and the work was done in the regal splendor of Spain and Mexico. The first bull turned into the arena was an exceedingly tame animal. Even after the darts were in him, he refused to fight, and the multitude cried for a new animal. Arizona Charley appeared to be equally disgusted and headed the band of cowboys that drove the bull into the arena. The next animal made a fight for his life, but its fight was quickly over. Chireta, the king of the arena, in not only Mexico, but Spain, made two stabs at the animal, and then practically left him dead, but the Mexicans with the red cloaks tossed the creature and made him dart at them. One came within an ace of losing his life and there was great excitement in the consequence, especially among the little company to which the individual belonged. Not a few women fainted. It was simply an exhibition of cruelty and was not enjoyed at all by the crowd.

Over a hundred deputy sheriffs were in attendance and the management was again placed under arrest, but no attempt was made to stop the proceedings.

HOSTS OF KNIGHTS.

Boston Receives the Templars With Bands—Great Crowds in the City.

BOSTON, Aug. 27.—Knights Templar and their ladies from every section of the United States and visitors from every nook and corner of New England have been pouring into the city to-day by the thousands. One hundred commanderies, including over 3,500 Sir Knights, arrived at the different railroad stations and before midnight to-night fifty more delegations will arrive.

Among other delegations which came in were fifteen commanderies from Illinois, including Chicago commandery; the grand commandery of Colorado, two from South Dakota, two from Indian territory and Oakland commandery of California.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Aug. 27.—A convention of school directors of McLean county assembled here to-day to consider the new state flag law to the provisions of which strenuous objections have been made. The convention was decidedly animated, a large majority of those present being opposed to the new law. Resolutions were offered declaring the flag law "un-American and despotic."

POINTS FOR THE PEOPLE.

—We thought we had abolished slavery a generation ago; but slavery will never be abolished while interest is permitted.

—Census reports show that the average size of the farms in this country is growing larger. Land, like every other form of property, is concentrating in fewer hands.—Star and Kansan.

—"When wheat is cheapest," Rev. Mr. Passmore says, "most people go hungry." The more you think about that the more certain you will be to agree with him.—Star and Kansan.

—"The farm mortgages of the country did not equal those upon city lots in 1890, according to the census report. The figures are: For the former, $2,209,148,419; for the latter, $3,810,531,554.

—They say some of the silver democrats in Kentucky really have manhood enough left to break ranks and refuse to be led captives into the gold-bug den, and quite a bolt is in progress. Can it be possible that honor still exists?—Farmers' Tribune.

—If, as reported, the Bank of England proposes to hang a portrait of Grover Cleveland upon its walls, it will do a most appropriate thing. President Cleveland has been far more English than American in his every policy. He ought by good rights to be made a peer of the British realm.—Inter Ocean.

—"The bank of England is supposed to be one of the most soulless of corporations, but it cannot be accused of ingratitude if it hangs the portrait of Grover Cleveland on its walls. The United States never before had a president who formed his policies with an eye single to the interests of Great Britain.—Kansas City Journal.

—"The populists must be suppressed," is the sentiment that is cropping out all along the line of the old parties. Seems to us the same thing was said about abolitionists; but you know how they were suppressed. The best way to suppress populism is to wipe out special privileges and restore equal opportunities. That done, populism will suppress itself.—New Charter.

—"It looks now as though many of the southern states, relied on by the reform-within-the-party democrats to send 16 to silver delegations to the next national convention, will fail to do so from the fact that the masses of the party are rapidly aligning themselves with the people's party. Especially is this the case in Texas.—Missouri World.
