A Bad Wreck at Fremont.

Fremont special: At 2:15 Saturday morning a disastrous wreck occurred at the crossing of the Fremont, Elkhorn & Missouri Valley and Union Pacific roads six miles west of Fremont. A freight train of forty cars coming east over the Elkhorn road was run into by an east-bound freight on the Union Pacific as the former was crossing the track of the latter. Fourteen cars were derailed, nine belonging to the Union Pacific and five to the Elkhorn. There were two cars of hogs on the Elkhorn which were wrecked and about one hundred were killed. They were shipped from Geneva and were being taken to South Omaha. Two men were killed in the wreck. One of them, John Shmberger, was killed almost instantly, and the other, Ethan Allen, had his right arm and left leg broken. They got aboard at Central City and started east to their home at Bristol, Ind. Shmberger has a brother living at Central City. One of the Elkhorn cars was occupied by E. P. Fuller, of David City, and his two-year-old trotting stallion, McGregor Wilkes, valued at $10,000, on their way to the Omaha fair. The car was turned over on its side, the men escaped unhurt, and the horse with but slight bruises. The latter was led out through a hole out in the roof of the car. Trains were passing on both roads at noon. The Union Pacific engine was in charge of Engineer Charles Sweesy of Omaha. The wreck occurred on the open prairie.

"In Chicago, of course! for it's a world in itself and has plenty of room for another one."

What is your opinion, my German citizen?

"Voll-I dinks mootel! Neu York is a dundering pig place, so pig dey has no room fur dat Gen. Grant, and I dink Chicago ought to hav him with de world's fair."

Here the irrepressible American interposed with:

"Bet you'll get bottom dollar!" for it has only immensely better advantages and qualifications as a typical American city, possessing a superabundant market to draw upon, at a less cost than an eastern city, and a limitless supply of the best water in the world, giving convincing proof that the most productive and most magnificent country in the universe was tributary to it, and if all the western men of "political influence" do not use their best endeavors to have the world's fair located at Chicago, the pride of the west, they will find themselves relegated to the dim past after 1892.

In Good Luck.

Meridian (Miss.) News, July 31. The luckiest man in Meridian, for the past month at least, is Mr. S. Well, proprietor of the Exchange saloon, corner of Second street and Twenty-second avenue. He struck the Louisiana State Lottery at its July drawing for the neat sum of $5,000, his ticket being one-twentieth of ticket No. 55,677, which drew the $100,000 capital fund.

Mr. Well has been a citizen of Meridian for about a year, coming here from Baton Rouge, La., and while he has at times been interested in "clubs," his purchase for this month was the second time that he had won one of the Louisiana State Lottery in a drawing.

The month before he was lucky enough to draw $10,000. Then he and Mr. W. H. Hall went to New Orleans for $5 worth of tickets, two for each and one in partnership. When the tickets arrived Mr. Well selected a few, one of which drew the $5,000.

He sent his ticket to New Orleans by the Southern Express company, and as soon as the return could be made he received his $5,000 through the same medium.

Mr. Well takes his good luck modestly, and says that the drawing of the $5,000 was an agreeable and a welcome surprise.
