

Prof. Andrews at Clay Center.

CLAY CENTER, Neb., June 18, '92.
EDITOR ALLIANCE-DEPENDENT:
 The republicans of this county held their "ratification" last night. Professor W. E. Andrews, their nominee for congress, was the chief speaker. A great many independents had a desire to see the man who will "talk tariff" while McKeighan goes to congress. So the court room was well filled.

Professor Andrews is a gentleman of pleasing address, and convinced all that he is well versed in all the "quaint and curious volumes of forgotten lore;" but in meeting McKeighan on the issues of the day, his name will be "pants," and "nothing more."

The speaker gave an eloquent peroration on freedom—from the Mayflower down—and ascribed it all to the republican party. He brought into review all the great characters of American history, and claimed them—Jefferson and all—as exponents of the principles of the republican party.

He compared the period between 1783 and 1789 with the present time and assumed that the different condition is due to the wisdom of the republican party.

He spoke of the "southern outrages" and charged them up to the democratic party.

He lauded the receipt of the matchless man from Maine and the protection of "Tin" McKinley, but thought that Harrison should have the credit of it all.

He gave it as his opinion that, as the people of our nation are in better condition than are the people of Russia and Ireland we ought to bless the g. o. p. and be content.

He closed his discourse by wondering how it is that under a republican form of government like ours all men are not republicans, and telling the voters that he would take it as a favor if they would all vote for him.

Hon. L. G. Hurd was then called for and made the "hit" of the evening when he informed Prof. Andrews that if he beat "the man from Cork" he will be a daisy. He also said that the chopping down of the Sycamore (Nettleton) had caused quite a disturbance in the republican atmosphere of Clay county but he believed that it would subside and all would rally to the standard.

Mr. Hurd's remarks were of a humorous nature and woke the people up in good shape.

We have since heard a number of republicans say they believed they would vote for their candidate.

INDEPENDENT.

Enthusiasm Unbounded.

YORK, Neb., June 18.—EDITOR ALLIANCE-DEPENDENT: Though York county may be alphabetically at the tail of the list of the counties in the state, yet in enthusiasm for the principles of the independent party she ranks away up.

We held our county convention to day, the veteran Dr. Moore of Bradshaw presiding, and selected delegates to the different state and district conventions. Entire harmony prevailed throughout. The delegates appeared to be all of one mind in one place, and when a resolution was offered to instruct the different delegations elected to fuse with neither of the old parties, in making their nominations, the enthusiasm was unbounded and it was carried with a whoop and a yell.

I can describe the feelings and actions of the convention no better than than to quote the language of a German delegate present. He said: "You pet dis is a pully convention, and nobody got mad already."

Yours for anti-fusion,
 J. F. HARRISON.

He Is Preaching Reform Gospel.

Sunny Side Alliance was given a treat last Saturday in the shape of an address from our assistant state lecturer, S. C. Fairchild.

Although the old party mossbacks tried to break up the meeting by denying us the use of the house in which the meeting was advertised to be held, and although a fire breaking out on the premises of our president drew many away, yet a large and enthusiastic audience greeted the speaker. It was noticeable that Mr. Fairchild spoke as a "lecturer of the alliance" and not as a "people's party" speaker. Using his own words he was a "member of no party." "Was glad he had broken loose from party ties. No party in existence was above taking bribes. They were all corrupt," and he "wished all alliance members to cut loose from party."

Mr. Fairchild believes in mixing religion with his politics, which fact somewhat startles his old party contemporaries who know that their politics and religion are strangers. After the address the writer heard the following comment from many lips: "It is the best sermon I've heard for many years." S.

The Political Regeneration of the World.
EDITOR ALLIANCE-DEPENDENT:

The people, impelled by necessity, are at last bestirring themselves in defense of their "inalienable rights." Fired by the same hopes, ideas and wishes, allies in the impending struggle for supremacy between monopoly and the masses, the great, plain people of these United States, are now determined to "fill the wide gulfs, digged by human selfishness that yawn between man and man," and plant thereon laws that shall secure to every citizen, liberty without license, and justice unsullied by the foul touch of bribery, unclouded by partisan bias.

"When there shall be no sex in citizenship, no sectarianism in religion."

"When the day arrives when he who has no work to do will not find it good to show himself in our quarter of the solar system."

"When pauperism shall cease to be the unavoidable condition of existence for any worthy member of the toiling masses."

"When, through the agency of organic and statute laws, there shall be guaranteed, to every citizen, equal opportunity for equal industry, intelligence and economy."

When the governmental policy and practice of all nations shall be securely based upon the equitable basis of

MONEY OF THE PEOPLE.

TRANSPORTATION BY THE PEOPLE.

LAND FOR THE PEOPLE.

Then political regeneration of the world will approach its accomplishment.

A fall to the greatest must precede the full, final, thoroughly political regeneration of the world. Yet no vandal hands can ever reach and grasp and secure this great boon to long suffering, misgoverned humanity.

The right to change any existing form of government, to amend or repeal constitutions or statute laws, is only given to the few statesmen who, in originating and advocating measures for the public good, are endowed with the ability and wisdom to establish better forms of government, and enact more equitable laws.

No practical reformer ever attempts to "take from any man what he trusts in until he is prepared to accept the substitute offered him." Anarchy lurks in the breast of any man who, under the mask of reform, proposes to "destroy the soul of the land, by the destruction of its shrines and sanctuaries."

Let contentious sectarians wrangle over their various translations of the Word. It is our duty as citizens of this great republic, as free electors, so to use our franchise as to enact laws in conformity with the decalogue, and administer the laws in line with the golden rule. Thus will come the political regeneration of the world.

Franklin Is All Right.

FRANKLIN, Neb., June 24.

We are still a kicking down in this neck of the woods. McKeighan's name is our watchword.

Marion Alliance No. 1472 gave an entertainment and supper June 18. A cake was voted the prettiest girl and and one to the homeliest man. Total proceeds $22.50. The money is intended for campaign purposes.

A county mutual fire and lightning insurance company has been organized in this county. Also many farmers are insuring in the state hail company.

You can safely count on Franklin county for the independent ticket.

Yours for success,
 FRANK KIMBERLING.

Pierce County.

The county convention of the people's independent party of Pierce county, met at Foster on the 18th and elected delegates to the state conventions to be held at Lincoln June 30th, and at Kearney August 3d, and the district convention of the Third district held at Norfolk June 21st. A vote of the convention was taken as to preference for governor and congressmen.

Van Wyck was chosen for governor, and U. S. H. Van Wyck was chosen for congressman. The choice of the convention for the former and Judge Allen for the latter nomination. The congressional convention however, saw fit to nominate Senator Poynter, which gives good satisfaction here.

R. A. TAWNEY, Sec.
 Pierce, Neb., June 23.

Stand by Principle.

The independents seek to unite the people in order that the laws be made and administered in the interest of the people instead of in the interest of a few citizens who are organized into corporations.

With the people divided on old dead issues the corporations "scoop the board," and take the profits of every legitimate industry as completely as the slaveholder gathered in the results of his chattel's toil in the days of negro slavery.

Andrew Jackson was right when he pounded the United states bank into the ground. If the people's party is true to its principles it will bury the chartered privileges of corporations so deep that they will never see a morning of resurrection.

If we show that we mean business, every farmer, laborer, business and professional man who believes in fair play will be with the people's party in the end.

An Outrage Condemned.

The following resolutions refer to the cowardly midnight assault made not long since by some ruffians on J. S. Meseraul, editor of the Crawford Boomerang, one of our good reform papers:

WHEREAS, Our brother, J. S. Meseraul, having incurred the enmity of a certain class of citizens by his fearless efforts to maintain order and secure the enforcement of the law;

WHEREAS, We have cause to believe the outrage perpetrated upon himself and wife on the night of June 11, 1892, was instigated and performed by the lawless class which he has antagonized; be it therefore

Resolved, That the White River Valley Alliance No. 1622, of which brother Meseraul and wife were esteemed members, condemn in unmeasured terms the cowardly assault committed upon them as above stated; and be it also

Resolved, That we, as an alliance, endorse and commend Brother Meseraul in his efforts to maintain law and order.
 F. WOLFE,
 Secretary.

Endorsed by Spring Creek alliance, 1624.

Hon. O. M. Kem will be almost unanimously renominated for congressman from the 6th district, and he will also be reelected. Mr. Kem has made a good clean record, as an honest conscientious worker, and there is more work in congress for just such men to perform.—Independent Era.
