Another Parson's View.

I was favorably impressed with the "Par on's" artic'e in your last week's issue. Parson sets forth clearly the bed-rock principles that underlie true prosperity and human happiness. It is the great Christ doctrine of the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man. I mean man in the broadest sense of the term, not bounded by geographical lines.

After thirty-five years of church life (with deep regret I make the state-ment) I am fully convinced that there is a vast difference between the preachers' Christ and humanity needs, and the preachers that are in demand in the leading denominations at the present day.

I say it without apology or fear of contradition, that the leading churches of our times are nothing more than great close corporations dominated by by the moneyed power and in league with hell. Let any on answer the following questions:

1st. What class of men occupy the u ppermost seats in the synagogues of our leading cities?

24. In what regal style do the men live that have the management of all our great denominational boards?

3d. Can any of the rank and file of the humble subscribers tell from the reports they publish, what salaries they appropriate to themselves?

4th. What becomes of the "parson" who dares to oppose tyranny and op-pression and to fearlessly preach the true Chr st doctrine? Why, he soon gets a taste of that brotherly love that smacks more of satan than of Christ.

Talk about reaching the masses! It is all humbug. Under the present regime it is attempting the impossible. It is true that the church was never so well represented by charitable institutions as at the present day. She exhausts the English langauge for names. But charity in that sense is not what able bodied, honest men want. All they a-k is justice. When the modern church comes down to primitive Christianity, and depends more on the true Christ doctrine and Holy Ghost power, and less on social rank and big subscriptions from ill-gotten wealth, then may she expect to fil her mission in reaching the masses, and lifting earth a little nearer heaven.

Wright In Otoe County.

Oa Saturday evening Assistant Lecturer Wright closed a series of very successful meetings in Otoe county. He spoke at Palmyra, Syracuse, Dunbar and McNeil Alliance, two miles south of Nebraska City. At Dunbar the business men closed their stores and came with their families to the meeting. At McNeil Alliance a fine glee club furnished the music, and the house was beautifully decorated with flags, etc. The K of L boys turned out well. E. S. Whitaker of Dunbar deserves much credit for the effective work he is doing. He sets a gord example to some other committeemen who need waking up.
