

A WORD OF WARNING.

"Fore-warned is fore-armed." Between now and election the state of Nebraska is likely to be flooded with slanders and falsehoods of the rankest and most damnable character. Already the chairman of the national people's party committee has given a timely warning on this point.

It is probable that the republicans will flood the state with copies of a sheet called Liberty which is published at Lincoln. This paper is sailing under false colors. It pretends to be independent. It carries a portion of the independent ticket at its head. But it is not supporting a single independent candidate, and has not the endorsement of a single independent candidate.

It is openly supporting and praising several candidates on the old party tickets, and has no word of criticism for any of them.

The only apparent object of the editor is to disrupt and defeat the independent party. He fills about four columns out of five of every issue with the vilest slanders and abuse of independent candidates and workers, the especial object of his vituperative attacks being the gallant leader General Van Wyck.

Holden, the editor of Liberty has been for years past the most notorious hoodler in the state. A few years ago he was forced by circumstances to make a sworn statement of some of his own villiany. He swore as follows:

"That he had rendered political services for the Union Pacific railroad company in opposing the nomination of Amasa Cobb of Lincoln for supreme judge; that for these services defendant (Holden) had received $300 from the hand of John M. Thurston of Omaha, Neb., one of the Union Pacific railroad's political managers.

That he received, on another occasion, from Thos. L. Kimball, one of the officers of the Union Pacific railroad company $1,200, "as compensation for services to be rendered by defendant (Holden) in his capacity as newspaper editor and otherwise in carrying elections for the benefit of the said Union Pacific railroad company.

"That the said sum of $1,200 was intended as a payment for political services in the election of a United States senator" (A. S. Paddock.)

That on another occasion in consideration of $442 from the Union Pacific he had opposed and defeated Francis G. Hamer, who was his friend and security on his note, and who was the regular nominee of his (Holden's) party.

Besides this Holden sold out to the democrats in 1888 for $200 which he received out of John A. McShane's 'barrel.'

He has been openly and repeatedly charged with selling out the people's ticket in Buffalo county in 1889, after he had helped nominate it, for $175. This charge he confirmed about one year ago by refusing to deny it under oath and setting up the plea that he did not have to support the ticket because he was not a member of the convention that nominated it.

These are only a few of Holden's hoodling operations in Buffalo county where his name is a "hissing and by-word" amongst all respectable people.

At the present time he is holding secret consultations with republican state officers at the state house, and is openly defending them against all charges of corrup'tion, and failure to do their duty.

The only persons whom this man or his paper can influence are those who are unfamiliar with these facts. Thousands of copies of his sheet will fall into the hands of men who know nothing of the man's character or antecedents and some may give ear to his scurrilous attacks.

This warning should be spread before the people of the whole state in time to forestall any evil effect from this source.

Another word of warning: In October 1890, two years ago, a card was issued signed by Chairman Blake and Secretary Pirtle condemning General Van Wyck. Since that time both these gentlemen have repeatedly stated that they were then laboring under a misapprehension, and expressed great regret for that action. They have entirely repudiated that statement. Now the republicans are giving that notice a prominent place in their papers, and very likely they will have it printed on posters and posted up at the polling places on election day. Many persons who do not know these facts, and who overlook the date, may be deceived by this device.

Independent workers everywhere should be prepared to expose these schemes, and make them react on the men in whose interest they are worked.

Safety for the Farmer.

"People yet alive can remember the way in which wheat used to be bought over the pile in this city, the farmer bringing it in being obliged to accept whatever was offered him because there was no competing market, and not even a quotation elsewhere with which to make comparison. The result was that the grain bought here in the fall uniformly brought minimum prices. It was held here during the winter and shipped by lake at an enormous profit, the nominal price here also going up when the farmers had no more to sell."

The above is the style in which the friends of the grain gamblers try to beguile the people into opposing the Hatch bill. Of course the interlopers between producer and consumer did their best then as they do now to seize all possible profit. The only safety for the farmers is to do their own 'holding over' by immense cooperative associations. They would sometimes lose, but oftener gain.—Chicago Sentinel.

Patrick Henry's Experience.

The well known speech of Patrick Henry runs thus:

"I have but one lamp to guide my feet, and that is the lamp of experience. I know of no way of judging the future but by the past.

Judging from the past, I wish to know what there has been in the conduct of the British ministry for the last ten years to justify those hopes with which gentlemen are pleased to solace themselves and the house."

If Patrick Henry were alive to-day he would no doubt be making another speech about as follows:

"I have but one lamp to guide my feet, and that is the lamp of experience. I know of no way of judging the future but by the past.

"Judging from the past I wish to know what there has been in the conduct of the two old parties for the last twenty years to justify those hopes with which prominent politicians and subsidized newspapers are pleased to solace themselves and the people."—Sentinel.
