VOL. IV

LINCOLN, NEB., THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 3, 1892.

NO. 21.

THE NEXT PRESIDENT

Visits Lincoln and is Royally Welcomed By a Vast Throng of People.

GREATEST RALLY OF THE CAM-PAIGN.

Thousands Take Part in the Grand Parade—Hundreds of Flags and Banners Waving—Grand Meetings at Norfolk and Grand Island, Mrs. Lease's Meetings.

Rain and Mud are no Obstacles. Nebraska Promises a Rousing Majority for Weaver and Field.

Weaver at Lincoln.

Notwithstanding the exceedingly unfavorable weather, the grand rally in honor of General Weaver has been a grand success. There has been a grand out-pouring of the people. The trains have brought in large delegations from over the state, and the independents of the city and county have turned out in great numbers.

General Weaver came at 10 a. m. and was met by a large delegation of citizens, and escorted to the Lindell. At 12:30 the parade started.

There was a large number on foot and on horseback, and a long string of wagons and carriages and some of the finest floats ever seen in Lincoln.
Nearly one hundred banners with mottoes were carried. At 2 p. m. General Weaver spoke in Bohannon's hall.
At that hour we go to press and therefore cannot give a report of his speech.

MRS. LEASE.

The large Exposition hall at Omaha was packed with an enthusiastic crowd on Monday night in spite of the unfavorable weather.

Mrs. Lease was the principal speaker, and she proved herself the gifted orator she is reputed to be. She first referred to the interview published in the Chicago Inter-Ocean regarding the treatment of herself and General Weaver in the south. She said it was correct. Then referring to the forged interview she said she had never advised anybody to vote for Harrison, or said a vote for Weaver was a vote for Harrison. That was an infamous falsehood coined by base politicians.

She then told of the wonderful meetings General Weaver had had in the west, and in nearly all parts of the south. She said, "All the time General Weaver and I have been greeted Battle Hymn of the Wronged.

BY HAMLIN GARLAND.

We have seen the reaper toiling in the heat of summer sun, We have seen his children needy when the harvest work was done, We have seen a mighty army dying hopeless one by one, While their flag went marching on!

CHORUS.

Glory, Glory, Hallelujah,
Glory, Glory, Hallelujah,
Glory, Glory, Hallelujah,
While their flag went marching on.

O the army of the watchers how they swarm the city street;
We have seen them in the midnight where the Goths with Vandals meet, We have shuddered in the darkness at the noises of their feet—But their cause goes marching on.

CHORUS.

Our slaver's marts are empty, human flesh no more is sold Where the dealer's fateful hammer wakes the clink of leaping gold, But the slavers of the present more relentless powers hold, Though the world goes marching on.

CHORUS.

But no longer shall the children bend above the whizzing wheel;
We will free the weary women from their bondage under steel;
In the mines and in the forest worn and hopeless man shall feel His cause is marching on.

CHORUS.

Then lift your eyes, you toilers, in the desert hot and drear, Catch the cool winds from the mountains, Hark! The river's voice is near;
Soon we'll rest beside the fountains and the dreamland will be here!

As we go marching on.

CHORUS.

with large crowds, but reporters have distorted the reports. The press has shaken my respect for the old bible stories. I used to believe that Ananias and wife were struck dead for falsifying, but I don't now. [Applause] You have no idea of the grand ovations we have met with. Never before in the history of America has any presidential candidate received such ovations as General Weaver."

She spoke of the great Senator Stewart of Nebraska, who has been out campaigning for Weaver: of Governor Pen-noyer of Oregon who has done the same.
She said there is no hope for the south, or the west, or the republic except in the people's party.

Her speech was one of the most able and eloquent ever listened to by an Omaha audience.

On Tuesday afternoon Mrs. Lease spoke at Auburn. The opera house was crowded. She was greeted with round after round of applause.

GENERAL WEAVER AT NORFOLK.

NORFOLK, Neb., Oct. 31.—The city has been completely in possession of the independents today. They have been coming in on trains and in wagons, on horseback and on foot, from all parts of the county, despite the fact that a cold, dismal rain has been pouring down all day. The attraction was General James B. Weaver, who addressed the crowd in the opera house this afternoon.

The Hulbert & Leftwich mammoth circus tent had been provided for the occasion, but the rain prevented its being used, consequently many failed to hear the speech, as the opera house was entirely too small for the crowd. General Weaver delivered a telling address, simple, strong and logical. He devoted a large part of his time to the money issue, which he clearly defined and illustrated. In speaking of his late reception in some parts of Georgia Mr.
Weaver stated that to his knowledge the interruptions were work of youthful hoodlums and rowdies, and not in any instance were ex-Confederate soldiers connected with them.

During his remarks he gave his reasons for withdrawing from the republican party, which was that it had long since ceased to represent the cause of the poor and oppressed workingman of this nation. He was frequently interrupted by storms of applause, which it was evident came from the very hearts of his audience. General Weaver closed his remarks with an appeal for independents to stand by their principles on election day.

WEAVER AT GRAND ISLAND.

In spite of the mud and the drizzling rain, crowds of people turned out to hear General Weaver at Grand Island on Tuesday. He spoke in the old sugar palace. He was greeted with thunderous applause. He discussed the situation at length, and described the wonderful uprising of the people. He says Alabama will be won for the people's party by 50,000.

What Crouse Thinks of the Old Sol- diers.

The following is clipped from the Kearney Standard of last week:

"I do not believe that anyone took into consideration at the time he enlisted, the kind of money he was to receive for his services. Is there a man here that is dissatisfied with the pay he received? (Answers yes, yes, by at least a dozen voices.) Then you are wanting in patriotism, you are cowards or bounty jumpers and never fired a shot at a rebel, and went into the army for the money there was in it."

We, the undersigned ex-union soldiers present at the joint discussion between Gen. C. H. Van Wyck and Lorenzo Crouse on the 8th day of October, 1892, and we hereby certify that the above is substantially the language used by Crouse in his reply to Van Wyck's demand that the soldier be paid the difference between what he received in greenbacks and what the bondholder received, which was gold.
