County Alliance Meeting.

FAIRFIELD, Neb., Sept. 25, 1893. Clay County Alliance will meet October 7, 1893, at 1 o'clock to transact such business as may come before the meeting.

Otoe County Convention.

A telegram from county chairman E. S. Whitaker, coming too late for our last issue, gives notice that the independents will hold their convention for the nomination of candidates for county officers for Otoe county October 10th, at Syracuse.

Grant County Inquires.

In response to a Grant county inquiry we will state that the exact amount of the state's funds said to have been in the Capital National bank at the time of its failure last January, and which the state is now trying to recover of ex-Treasurer Hill, is $283,631.83.

To the Independents of the Fourth Ward.

A meeting will be held at the independent headquarters, Lindell hotel, Thursday October 5, 8 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of nominating clerks and judges of election, and transacting other business as may come before it.

W. F. Wright.

A letter from W. F. Wright, state organizer of the "Alliance Aid," gives encouraging news of his work in this line. "The 'aid degree,' as well as the Alliance work generally, is a great educator. Bro. Wright reports a degree organized at Lowell and Snowflake Alliance in Kearney county, and that Bro. James T. Kelly, will continue the work as county organizer.

THINGS WORTH REPRINTING.

What is the remedy, the one thing needful? Confidence, the financiers tell us. Then let us go to that in which a patriotic people have most confidence, their government. Let us have postal savings banks.—Progressive Farmer.

Congressman Kem, the man who the republicans said had no brains, has made one of the ablest speeches in favor of silver ever delivered in the House of representatives. Our hayseed congressmen will compare with the best of them.—Cherry County Independent.

The Alliance-Independent, our state organ, has been reorganized and is now on a sound financial standing. The paper is owned by independents from all over the state and is deserving of the support of every true independent in the state.—Cherry County Independent.

The price of wheat is "down, terribly down," but how about the price of coal? It is just as high as it was last year. The coal mines are owned by the money power and the price must be kept up. Wheat is raised by the poor farmer and the price of it goes down.—Cherry County Independent.

Some of the gold crank editors of the Chicago dailies will be unhappy if they find that the streets of heaven are not literally paved with gold. They will demand intrinsic value in the pavement anyway. Come to think of it, though, not many of them will ever see how the streets are paved.—Farmers Voice.

The Voice wants the express cars protected even if it requires every drop of blood in the nation's veins to do it. But at the same time it wants the government to use just as much vigor in protecting the property in the stock car and in the grain car from the well dressed, polite and smiling ruffian as it may use to protect the banker's gold in the express car from the rude, coarsely dressed, masked villain who stops the train at midnight.—Farmer's Voice.

Col. E. C. Rewick is today making the welkin ring at Broken Bow with charges of corruption against republican officials of high and low degree. The welkin up there is about the largest in the world, but under the manipulation of Col. Rewick it tinkles like the frenzied gang of a railway dining station. He is a formidable thorn in the side of these evil doers.—Lincoln Herald.

The populist press of this state is worthy of notice and analysis. It numbers more than the democratic—or at least as many—and there is more hard work done in it than on the organs of both the old parties. Your independent editor is sometimes open to the reproach of being a zealot, but he is everywhere a thicker and a warmer from away back. While the editor of the regular old party organ of either faith is shambling along in a perfunctory way his populist rival is at it early and late. His paper bristles with argument and overflows with lots of good matter.—Lincoln Herald.

The independent cause is gaining fight here in Webster county. We feel it. It is in the air, and if the right kind of work is done now, and independents will make it a point, on the 7th of November to beat the polls and cast their ballots for the full ticket without a scratch, there is no reason why we should not carry by a large majority. Allow no other thought lodgment in your brain, work accordingly, and we must succeed. The Nation has firm faith in the ultimate triumph, all over this broad land, of the principles of the people's party, whose cause we are proud to defend.—The Nation.

I have been to receptions in some of the best families in Chicago, to the houses of the great merchant, whose houses are palaces of luxury never equaled by the abodes of princes, and there met all the nations and faces of the globe. There were Chinamen, Japanese, Japanese, Mohammedans, Christians, Jews, and negroes, black but beautiful. All met on common ground and all recognized each other as members of the same great human family. They found that race was not so different from the other after all, and I think it cannot fail to have a good effect. Then the nations of the earth will become better acquainted with us and it will lead to advantages of many sorts.—Fredrick Douglas.

Howell at Hyannis.

At Hyannis on September 30, the populists of Grant held their county convention. Col. Howell, late of the Omaha Bee was fortuitously in town and in response to request by representatives of all parties promised to address the convention in the afternoon. The court house was well filled and the Colonel was heard with marked and respectful attention, as he untold the wool by which the people are today so surely bound. He quoted from speeches delivered by Daniel Webster, David Davis, James A. Garfield, Roscoe Conkling and other distinguished statesmen wherein they predicted not only the exact state of affairs that exist throughout the country today, but calamities yet more dire to come as the result of the unbridled license conceded the money power.

Judge Holcomb.

Our candidate for supreme judge is now judge in the 12th judicial district, and as such has his duties to perform. The committee therefore did not deem it advisable to put him into the campaign, when it would to any extent whatever interfere with the proper performance of those duties. However Judge Holcomb has arranged to give a little time and we have made the following disposition of it. With Kincheos at Beatrice, Oct. 7, and at Crete, Oct. 9. With Kincheos and Rewick at Seward, Oct. 11. With Rewick at David City, Oct. 12; at Genoa, Oct. 13; at Albion, Oct. 14.

At these appointments the people must not expect Judge Holcomb to make a political stump speech. He is a candidate for the supreme bench; a position whose precincts should be sacred, into which politics should not enter. His idea is only to give a short talk and to meet and get acquainted with the people.

Fact Failies.

On the evening of October 27, E. C. Rewick spoke to a fair crowd at Auburn, Nemaha county. He reports that the political pet is beginning to simmer sulkily down in that part of the world; and the people are eager to learn every detail of the state house steals. Tom Majors was out to hear Rewick, but Church Howe was conspicuous by his absence.

At Broken Bow, on Saturday Sept. 30; John M. Devine and E. C. Rewick held down the boards both afternoon and evening. The weather was rainy, but in spite of that fact, the south side opera house was well filled in the afternoon and comfortably filled in the evening. Enthusiasm was running around wild. The boys say that the demorepublican combine has helped our ticket hundreds of votes in Custer. So eager were the people to get every detail of the state house steals that Mr. Rewick was required to repeat his speech at night, when it was taken down by a stenographer.

At Grand Island on Oct. 2nd, Rewick and Devine spoke both afternoon and evening and repeated the same dose at Central City on the 3d. At Columbus on the 4th, Rewick and Judge Grimson of Schuyler, preached the gospel to the disciples of Jim North. We have as yet heard nothing of the last three meetings.
