

CONSUL WILDER.

Greatly Pleased Over the Latest News From Honolulu.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 6.—Hawaiian Consul Wilder when he read the news from Honolulu via Port Townsend was greatly pleased. Asked what unexpected contingencies Minister Willis had found in Honolulu, he said: "I think he found that the men composing the provisional government of Hawaii were high-minded, law-abiding citizens, instead of filibusterers, such as he had been lead to believe them to be. This news will have great effect on the people of the United States, and I hope the administration will be forced by popular opinion to change its view on the Hawaiian question. President Cleveland's statements in his message to congress that he had received no definite news from Willis is corroborated by what Minister Willis has said in the interview published in the Hawaiian papers.

The United States revenue cutter Corwin sailed shortly before midnight last night. Her destination is a secret, but it is supposed she is going to Honolulu with instructions for Minister Willis. It is reported that one of the sailors on the Corwin was ordered to take dispatches from Minister Thurston to President Doie. The captain of the Corwin refused to take the letters from Consul Wilder, saying he did not know where he was going.

State Department Officials Discredit the News Brought by the Kliekikat.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—Officials of the state department have received no advices from Hawaii by the barkentine Kliekikat, which arrived at Port Townsend yesterday from Honolulu, and are inclined to discredit and question the accuracy of the purported interview with Minister Willis in the Honolulu Evening Star. They say it would have been improper for Minister Willis to have thus expressed himself and they do not believe he made the statements attributed to him.

The president and the department of state were evidently not expecting any news from Honolulu this morning and the telegram from Port Townsend caused surprise.

DYNAMITE IN LONDON.

Twenty-Four Pounds Found in a Lodging House—Police Hard at Work.

LONDON, Dec. 6.—In the room of a man named Schneider, who is reported to have just arrived from the United States and whose place in Chancery lane was searched yesterday, was found a tin can enclosed in two wooden boxes. They were taken to the Bow street police station and immersed in water until to-day, when they were examined by government experts and were found to contain twenty-four pounds of dynamite in cakes with fuses and everything ready for use.

The police are in active search of the man who managed to escape. The impression is gaining ground that the police have really discovered, accidentally, a plot to cause a dynamite outrage in the law courts.

Irishmen scoff at the idea that Schneider had any connection with the extreme section of the Irish Nationalists, saying that his name was sufficient to class him as an Anarchist and that it would probably be shown that, if the explosive found in his lodging was really an infernal machine, it was probably sent to London by the Anarchists of New York or Chicago, who are also charged with supplying the Anarchists of France, Austria and Spain with funds and other means of causing explosions.

The Evening Standard has caused an increase of the excitement by reporting that the police have found a number of bombs in a swell cafe in the West End.
