TOBE HANGED ON WARCH 23 THE DEADLOCK AS USUAL. Another Day in the House Without Re-

ECUTION DAY FIXED.

JUDGE BRETANO PASSES SENTENCE.

The Murderer of Mayor Harrison Makes Rambling Address in Court in Which He Denounces His Attorneys and Their Insanity Plea-Compares Himself to Christ and Scores the Officials.

CRICAGO, Feb. 26.-Judge Brentano overruled the motion for a new trial dered. for Prendergast and sentenced the assassin to be hanged on March 23.

As the court addressed Prendergast and asked him if he had anything to say why sentence should not be passed upon him he arose to his feet, nervously drew a small sheet of paper, covered with notes, from his vest pocket and addressed the court as follows:

I don't suppose, your honor, that it will do me any good to say anything to the court now. I have made no preparation to say anything in par-ticular. I suppose your honor is under the impression that you have done your duty. But this plea of in-sanity has been set up by my at-torneys without my consent. It was an infamous, a dirty and a disreputable plea and done against my objections.

Now as for Juror Murray, it is certain to my mind that from the manner he answered questions he was anxious to be a juror in this case. There was something wrong also in regard to summoning the veniremen. Juror Larkin came here on a written state-ment, but of course the defendant had no control over this part of the court's work. The Evening News contained a whole column about it at the time and it is not necessary for me to go into it further now. We had no opportunity to watch the proceedings in summoning the jurors.

But this is not the question. At the very beginning of this trial the court told me my attorneys would at-tend to my case. Nevertheless, they did not. As stated, your honor, be-fore, they set up this infamous plea of insanity against my will. But insanity against my will. But, your honor, the issue is, did I do right or did I do wrong? Did I do my duty or did I not? Did I do the will of God or did I not? This point has never been touched upon and I say it is the only issue before the court. Of course, if I did wrong I should be condemned. But, your honor, if I did right I should be justified and acquitted.

As for this talk about the Dacey or the Guiteau case the court all along ruled that no reference should be tion and I did not write them nor aries. ve my consent for them to come and find out whether I was insane or not. No doubt the motives of these men were humane but it was through the connivance of Jailor Morris that they got into the jail.

Now, your honor and everybody say that Harrison was a great and good man. I deny this. A good man is generally faithful to his friends, and Harrison was not. If had been a good man he would not have been hostile toward me.

But this newspaper trust, your honor. We have been attacked by this newspaper trust, and if the sentence of this court is carried out you will all be at the hands of this newspaper trust. No man's character or reputation will be safe. I don't know what will be the result.

Even while I was in your county jail I was threatened with death. This man Morris, the jailer there, said to me: "I'll kill you before you leave this jail, no matter what the court and bailiffs do with me."

The sheriff of this county is a Republican, while my principles are Democratic and that is why this is. But the issue, your honor, is whether I did right or wrong. If this court wants to shirk the responsibility in this case it will not be my fault. The most of the motions made by the attorneys for me have been overruled by the court and that was wrong. Then there is this grade crossing issue. If your honor consents to my death, to my murder, you also consent to take the lives of these people on the infamous grade crossings. That is what caused me to shoot Harrison, although I had stood by him in times

I am feeling much better now, your honor. My health is much better than when I first went to jail. The terrible food they gave me there shook me physically and mentally.

of distress

In this case I have been charged of being vainglorious and a notoriety eeker. This is not true and it has been disproved in this trial. Christ was not a vainglorious man, neither am I. The temptations that were offered Christ on the mount showed that he was not vainglorious and anyone that has withstood such temptations as I have is certainly not vainglo-

The court room was filled when the judge read his decision. Prendergast appeared indifferent for a time, but as the reading proceeded, seemed ready to make one of his old time scenes. DWhen the court concluded the prisoner moved forward a step or two and said: "I did not wish to apologize to the court, for I think I did my duty."

Prendergast was led away to his cell in the jail by the bailiffs. Just before Judge Brentano began the delivery of his speech denying the otion for a new trial, Attorney S. egory filed a motion for arrest of hen asked for thirty days in which to grab frauds. flie a bill of exceptions upon which to take the case to the supreme court. This was granted. It is probable that the bill of exceptions will be filed within ten days.

The four witnesses who perjured beaselves to save the notorious lloward at his trial at Juckson, Tenn., were sentenced to four years in prison and a fine of $100 each.

After the reading of the journal, at the request of Mr. Grosvenor of Ohio, the time for paying tribute to the memory of the late Representative ACCOUNTANT

Enochs of Ohio was postponed to March 17. A communication was then read from the sergeant-at-arms who had been directed to investigate the question as to whether Mr. Johnson of Indiana had been arrested under Monday's warrant. It stated that as a matter of fact Mr. Johnson was not arrested, and that the mistake in the return was due to an error in transcribing. It recommended that his name be stricken from the warrant, and without objection it was so or-

Then Mr. Bland called up his silver bill and the deadlock was resumed. After one or two ineffectual attempts to secure a quorum, the house adjourned till Monday.

when the United States, either ernor Lewelling. through congress or commissioners, drive the Indian to the alternative of either accepting or rejecting allot-ment, they would be found advising their people to remain as they are, both in tenure of land and tribal government. This advice was given because they believed that any change in their tenure of land will mean financial ruin and moral degradation and final annihilation to the fullbloods and uneducated Indians. They claim that this belief is no idle farce, neither is it born of fear.

They say to the United States that if they will not listen to their protests and assertions, though so well founded in absolute truth as to be unanswerable, that if the die is to be cast they must do these things themselves and not ask or expect the Indian to aid them in robbing themselves to become

THE KANSAS ADJUTANT GEN-ERAL RESIGNS UNDER FIRE.

STAGG'S REPORT.

It Makes a Very Clear Case Against the Official-Artz Makes a Very Plausible Explanation of the Charges Against Him-Governor Lewelling Is Inclined to Believe His Story Correct.

TOPEKA, Kan., Feb. 26.-Adjutant General Artz has resigned under fire, but whether the governor will accept the resignation and let the matter end there or will formally remove the officer and leave further steps to the proper officers cannot now be said.

In his letter of resignation, Artz makes a very plausible explanation of the charges against him, and the governor is inclined to believe him. Other state house officials also credit his statements.

THE FINDINGS OF THE EXPERT.

The report of the expert is as follows:

The report of the expert is as follows:

TOPERA Kan, Feb. 23 1894—To His Excellency I. D. Lewelling, Governor: I transmit herewith my examination of the books and papers in the adjutant general's office.

In making the examination I have carefully examined each voucher drawn and paid, and checked each and every one from the records of the auditor and as the result of such checking hand you statement "A," showin; condition of the various funds as they appear on the records of the adjutant general Unfortunately, the auditor and the adjutant general have not used the same classification: consequently the balance to the credit of the several funds do not agree, but the aggresate amount in the treasury is the same. In this connection I would respectfully suggest that the expenditure record of the adjutant general be rewritten and rearranged to conform with the classification used in the office of auditor and treasure.

In regard to the vouchers drawn in this office upon which money has been drawn from the treasury with the few exceptions noted herein, I find them regular and given for value received.

London, Feb. 26.—The Chronicle says that both the queen and prince of Wales are strongly and even nervously opposed to Lord Salisbury's attitude both in regard to the local government and the employers' liability bills.

The Chronicle adds that the reigning family has always had a keen and pertinent sence of its own interests and it is not the first time that it has exerted its influence to prevent peers from entering into a conflict which might end in a total readjustment of the constitution.

One Will Be Called to Consider a Change in the House Rules.

Washington, Feb. 26 - Representa tive Holman of the Democratic caucus of the Louse will call a caucus at an early date to consider a change in the house rules by which members may be compelled to vote to make a quorum. The call is in response to a written request signed by 104 Democratic members. The request is the direct result of the approarious demonstration in the house Thursday. The name of Mr. Bland is not on the call, for while he is severe in deprecating the disorder, he says public opinion should rebuke those responsible for it, and that a change of the rules is not desirable. The New Yorkers are also an exception to the delegations which have signed the call. They are not anxious to strengthen the rules and thus increase the chance of passage of a bill such as the one now pending.

Most of those who have signed are ready to go to the extent of counting a quorum and the only question among them is now how the quorum can be counted without subjecting the majority to the charge of adopting what have been termed "Reed rules." · Numerous plans for strengthening the rules are under consideration. The one most generally approved is to provide that the attention of the speaker may be directed to the fact that a member is present and not voting. Thereupon the speaker may direct that the member be brought to the bar of the house and his name be recorded as present, to make a quo-rum. It is said this obviates the criti-cisms of "Reed rule," in the method of counting a quorum.

The proposed rule would be guarded by the formality of bringing members to the bar of the house where there would be no question as to their actual presence. The feeling is so strong some Democrats are ready to accept "Reed rules" on the quorum question without any excuses or explanation.

UNEMPLOYED CONVICTS.

Hundred Men in the Missouri Prison With Nothing to Do.

JEFFRSON CITY, Mo., Feb. 26 -The large number of unemployed convicts in the penitentiary is becoming a matter of most serious concern to the state, and to add to the dilemma the receipts of convicts are rapidly increasing and is now greater than ever before with no prospective diminution. For the last few days the total number of convicts confined in the prison has been about 1,920. Of this number about 900 are unemployed, and the outlook for securing them employment is far from promising. The state is not only losing the labor of these men and incurring a cost thereby, but enforced idleness proves detrimental, both physically and mentally, to the convicts. When there is no employment for them they must be locked up in their cells, and any prison man will readily say that this means ill health to the convict and possibly insanity.
