CONGRESS

As Seen by a Nebraskan

May Adjourn August 20—The announcement today that the tax bill is coming up this week or for sure next week gives some of the old timers an inspiration to tell new members that they can begin to get ready to go home. The guess now is that congress will adjourn about August 20. The program as given to the leaders for this week includes the control of floods on the Mississippi river; army promotion bills; annual sick leave bill; bus bill and the private and consent calendar bills. The army bill and the flood relief on Mississippi bills passed yesterday.

Storing Silver—There was some truth in the report that the activity around the Treasury Building here was for the purpose of making room for money. While it was true that they were digging to make plans for a new air-cooling system for the employees, it was also true that they were making space for one hundred million silver dollars which are startin to come to Washington from the mint at Philadelphia and which are stored in the new underground vaults at the Treasury Building.

Cooking—The famous White House kitchen, which has been a symbol of American cooking since the time of Thomas Jefferson, was closed beginning this morning. This famous kitchen is being modernized. It is too old fashioned, they say. The old open fireplace, where Andrew Jackson's "kitchen cabinet" watched a pig roast over glowing coals, while discussing the spoils system, has not been used for a long time. They have been using stoves, which have supplied the beefsteak and fried potatoes to the visitors and ambassadors and powerful political bosses, and these two have been long out of date. The president is being fed from the small kitchen on the third floor, an emergency kitchen.

Imports Increase—The increase in imports of farm products within the last year is shocking. The following information indicates the seriousness of the situation:

1934	1935
Butter, lbs.	689,000 21,000,000
Fresh Beef, lbs.	233,000 4,575,000
Fodder, lbs.	113,000,000 354,000,000
Meats, lbs.	40,546,000 73,763,000
Wheat, bu.	10,596,000 23,603,000
Rice, lbs.	35,511,000 80,376,000
Beans, lbs.	12,500,000 35,600,000
Onions, lbs.	3,900,000 13,500,000

Gag Rule Works—The Frazier-Lemke leaders on the House side have been over to the Senate and Saturday they came back very much disappointed at their reception there. They received word that the Administration is working just as hard on the Senate side to stop the Frazier-Lemke Bill as they are working on the House side, but the Frazier-Lemke organization say they will fight to the last ditch to stop adjournment of this session of Congress until their bill is given an opportunity to be heard on the floor of the House of Representatives. Administration leaders who have discussed this battle, and it is a battle which is given very little publicity, declare that the Frazier-Lemke bill is doomed for this session, because they have enough support to stop any more signing of that petition. This shows how effectively a gag rule works on any bill which the Administration does not favor.

Homestead Memorial—Nebraska congressmen are finding some opposition to their bill to spend about $25,000 for the erection of a monument to the nation's first homestead in Gage county, Nebraska. It is felt that if the government can spend hundreds of millions for other monuments it should not hesitate in spending a few thousand to commemorate the people who had the first homestead in the United States.

Bonus—Watch the bonus legislation. The new bonus army was reported to be growing here today and it was stated off-record that the administration feels that veterans may not support the administration next election unless something is done about the bonus. This may mean that there will be a better feeling toward new bonus legislation by the administration.

NRA—Letters are coming in asking what has happened to the NRA. Well, really nothing serious has happened to the NRA insofar as the activity here in Washington is concerned. Altho it has been declared unconstitutional, the organization still continues to occupy more space than most any other agency in the District from a rental standpoint. It has representatives in fifteen different buildings, occupying about 250,000 square feet of space.

Tax Burden—A letter comes from a constituent in the Third Congressional District to the effect that in his opinion our government has to stop adding to the burden of the taxpayer, and in his opinion the new tax plan is all wrong. However, when it is taken into consideration that our public debt is now nearly thirty billion dollars and that we spent three and one-half billion dollars more than we took in the last fiscal year, and that we have no place from which to get money except the taxpayer, it is easily seen that the taxes must be collected and that the taxes must be higher in order to pay the bill, and in order to even attempt to balance the budget.

What we need in America nowadays is less knee action in our automobiles on Sunday and more in the churches.

Auto production is twenty per cent above that of 1934 but there will be no overproduction. The wild boys and girls on the highways are smashing 'em up twenty per cent faster this year.

New York man is said to have jumped out of the tenth story window on account of the heat. A lot of people would be afraid to do that lest they get into a place which is still hotter than New York.
