and win the rest of the world to communism.

But now there has come an apparent switch of policy and a very clever one. It almost causes the student of international politics to doubt the general conclusion that the British diplomats are the shrewdest ones in the world.

This announcement of a "change of policy" is all the more astonishing because communism and democracy are the very antithesis of one another.

There may be more than one reason for this change of front but the principal one assigned for it by those who have made a careful study of communism for years, is that the Third International now sees a much better opportunity for subversive propaganda in democratic-capitalistic countries.

The administration has spent billions of dollars to increase employment by reviving industry, but something like ten millions remain jobless. The bureaucracy at Washington, however, reports enlarging payrolls and increasing employment from month to month.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS
By Frank P. Litschert

One of the most interesting stories out of Europe in a long time and one that is of special concern to the United States, comes to us from the Soviet capitol at Moscow. The Third International of the Communist parties has been holding a meeting there, one attended by delegates from all over the world.

It is to be remembered that the communist change of front is a "tactical" movement. There is no change of principle, no change in the ultimate end of winning the entire world to the brand of government they have in Moscow.

CONGRESS As Seen by a Nebraskan

The triple A amendments are now back in the house after the conference between the senate and house conferees. Price fixing has been eliminated except in the case of milk.

Everybody in Washington is talking about taxes. Some felt that only the rich will be taxed, but under present day conditions everybody pays taxes, altho only a few of us know it.

Baskets full of letters and telegrams are reaching the desks of congressmen for and against the Guffey-Snyder coal bill. So much propaganda has come for and against this bill that many members are confused.

Talking about government buildings, the government's fifty million dollar building program here is nearly completed but the government hasn't room for all its job holders here.

Inquiries are reaching the congressional office as to whether or not loans are available for grain stored on farms, and Governor Meyers, of the Farm Credit Administration, states that loans will be made on a business basis to farmers who wish to store on their farms.

The doctrines of communism as exemplified by the Third International and the principles of democracy as exemplified in the Constitution of the United States are just as far apart as they were.

Believe it or not, members of congress really want to go home. Immediately after the Tax Bill passed the house the other day, a large number of the members of the house checked out and went home, stating that they are not coming back until the next session of this congress on January 3, 1936.

It is to be remembered that the communist change of front is a "tactical" movement. There is no

The rumors which were rife a month ago that the administration is slowly beginning to feel that they are losing the support of the war veterans seems to have born some fruit today when it was stated that the Democratic high command of the senate recommended consideration of the soldiers' bonus next January.
