SOUTHWEST BREEZES

By Romaine Saunders
We learn that Grandma Fix had one foot frozen during the severest of last week's cold storage installment.

Mr. Beckman has a sense of humor as well as recognizing the value of advertising. We trust his stock of flyswatters was ample to supply the demand.

William Carpenter helped at the Young ranch while Mr. Young found it expedient to nurse and nurture some frost-bitten spots acquired while out in a storm.

The president has done many things during his administration. The biggest thing he has done is his conclusion to accept the fate of the new deal program like a true American sportsman.

Mechanically perfect, a thing of art and last word in comfort embodied in the up-to-date transportation vehicles, streamlines, zephyrs and so on are even more helpless than the prairie schooner of pioneer days when the borean elements of midwinter cut loose.

Did you get it—a little paragraph in the congressman's column from Washington? In one division of Capitol Hill's large body of white collared and silk hatted farmers the week had been spent installing telephones and new desks for the control of soil erosion out here where the wind blows.

A young Russian woman told a capsule of atheism in the soviet capitol that she had made many balloon ascensions above the clouds and dropped with the parachute and had seen neither God nor angels, hence those in the assembly need have no concern that such exist. So that is atheistic thinking.

This community is still cut off from mail service and from getting to town for supplies. Neighbors share with neighbors such as they have and though some of the vitamins may be lacking in the food rations hungry ones are able to fill up—and at 10 to 30 below battling without in the angry elements can one eat!

A group of University youth of democratic ancestry formulated a set of rules setting forth their ideas of qualifications for governor, no individual it has been my pleasure to be acquainted with measuring up to the requirements. With the candor and loyalty of a clan the boys proceed to proclaim that Nebraska's present governor meets the requirements. Partisan prejudice lives on.

The Saunders boys walked to Amelia the evening of the 10th and returned with some forty pounds of Tom Salem's grocery stock napped on their backs. They were from 6 o'clock until 11 making the trip. For half a mile east of the boys' home there is no getting thru with team, car, horse or wheelbarrow. One may walk on top of the 6-foot drifts if not too heavily loaded.

E. E. Young went to Amelia with a team Thursday of last week to secure needed supplies, the weather showing signs of better things early in the day. Before he got back a blizzard developed with the more or less familiar 10 or 12 below and he was quite badly frost-bitten. Halls got as far as the township line with a team and wagon, also headed for Amelia, but had to turn back because of the storm.

Eight wayfarers found refuge at the Fryer home on highway 11 just west of Amelia the night of the 13th. On the road headed for their homes the blizzard became such that the cars could proceed no further as the drivers were unable to see. Those to find a shelter from the storm were Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Adams of Amelia, Maurice Kennedy, Art Doolittle and Delbert Edwards from out in Swan precinct, and two from the Bilstein home and one from the Kiser home down by the lake.

I see my old friend John Gaughenbaugh is backing a Townsend Club for O'Neill. The college economists tell us it will not work. They also told us of a lot of things that would restore the commercial life that haven't. Warning is also flashed out from certain quarters that it will take twenty billion dollars a year to pay the pensions. What of it? Putting out about that much now to maintain the federal army of supernumeraries at Washington and elsewhere. Why not let them take a turn at the husks while the old folks revel in plenty for a while? The amount of opposition is plenty swift, but good luck to you, John.

INMAN NEWS

Mrs. Riley spent a couple of days at O'Neill last week with her sister, Mrs. Signa Naylor, who is recovering from injuries sustained in a fall down stairs in her home.

Al Smith and Harry Buckenbaver arrived here Sunday from Norfolk to resume work on the new school building, after an enforced lay-off on account of the severe cold weather.

School opened again Monday morning after a vacation of nearly three weeks on account of the blocked roads and severe cold weather.

Services were held in the M. E. church Sunday. There had been no services for two Sundays, due to the inclement weather.

The L. D. S. people met at the home of F. H. Outhouse for their services since their church was damaged by fire several weeks ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Hardin Anspach and children and Mr. and Mrs. John Anspach visited at the John Conard home at Emmet Sunday.

The L. D. S. church, which was damaged by fire several weeks ago, is being repaired this week. Hardin Anspach is the carpenter in charge. Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell, of Ewing, were in Inman on business Tuesday of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Roe left for Casper, Wyo., Sunday night for a visit with their daughter, Mrs. Geo. Peterson and family.

Miss Lois Moor, who teaches at North Bend, was home for a visit, the North Bend schools being closed because of a scarlet fever epidemic.

Obituary.

Funeral services were held at the M. E. church Saturday morning for Walter Vincent Roe, who passed away at the home of his brother, Cleve, on February 20.

Walter Vincent Roe was born in Bethany, Mo., August 1, 1877 and at the time of his death in Inman was 58 years, 6 months and 19 days old. When a small boy his parents moved to Hayes county, Nebraska. In 1895 they returned to Bethany. In 1900 they moved to Marshall county, Iowa, and from there to Inman in 1907. In 1908 he moved to Ainsworth. In 1914 the family again went to Missouri, his father passing away shortly thereafter at Willow Springs, Mo., after which Vincent with his mother and brother returned to Nebraska and lived for a year with his brother and family, who then lived at Wayne. In 1916 he came to Inman again where he resided until his death.

Mr. Roe was unmarried having helped make a home for his crippled mother until her death a year ago. Vince, as he was known to every one, was a devoted son to his mother and his love and devotion to her won many friends for him. On February 20, 1935, exactly one year before the death of her son, Mrs. Roe passed away, since which time Vince had never been well and often expressed the wish to die, that since the death of his mother he had nothing to live for. A heart ailment developed causing his death. Left to mourn his departure are his brother, Cleve, and family. His parents and one brother, Knowles, preceded him in death.

Funeral services were in charge of Rev. Raymond Wylie, of the M. E. church. Music was furnished by Mrs. Stuart Hartigan, Mrs. E. E. Clark, Mrs. F. D. Hutton and Miss Lois Killinger with Mrs. A. N. Butler at the piano. Pall bearers were, Floyd Keyes, Harry McGraw, Jesse Fraka, Vere Butler, Earl Miller and Eugene Clark, interment in the Inman cemetery.

Obituary.

Funeral services were held at the Geary home, 6 miles south of Inman, Saturday afternoon for the late George Geary, who passed away February 12, death being due to old age and complications.

Mr. Geary, who was 81 years, 2 months and 16 days old at the time of his death, was born in Redmont, England, December 6, 1854, later living at Biggleswade, England. Leaving Biggleswade he arrived in Omaha May 23, 1867, coming on to Holt county in March, 1884. On March 13, 1879, Mr. Geary was united in marriage to Miss Sarah Bovee, of New England, Washington county, Nebraska. To this union was born one daughter, Mrs. Jessie Hartigan of Inman. Mrs. Sarah Geary passed away April 12, 1881. On September 25, 1888, Mr. Geary was married to Anna L. Babcock. To this union was born four sons, Calvin, Reginald, G. Haddin and Harold, Harry dying in childhood. Mrs. Anna L. Geary passed away April 5, 1903. He was then united to Miss Mary Etta Hopkins at Columbus, Indiana, on September 24, 1904. One son, Paul, was born to this union, but died in infancy.

Mr. Geary was a long time member of the Baptist church, joining the church at New England, Nebr., in 1870.

Left to mourn the passing of a loving husband and father are his widow, Mrs. Etta Geary, his daughter Mrs. Jessie Hartigan, three sons, Calvin, Reginald and Haddon, all of Inman; eight grandchildren, three great grand children and two sisters, Mrs. Lizzie Richards and Miss Carrie Geary, of Beatrice, Nebr.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Raymond Wylie, pastor of the M. E. church. Mrs. Karl Keyes and Mrs. Walter Sire sang with Mrs. L. R. Tompkins at the piano. Pall bearers were, James, Walter and Ted Hopkins, Walter Sire, Harold Miller and Elmer Krueger, interment in the Inman cemetery.

EMMET ITEMS

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Fox, of O'Neill, were Sunday visitors at the John Bonnenberger home.

Miss Margaret Cuddy, of O'Neill, spent the week end at the Pat McGinnis home!

Larry Tenborg made a business trip to Sioux City Monday.

Wallis Tweedale and Joe Luth returned from Sioux City last week, after being marooned there for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Elwin Thompson, of O'Neill, spent the weekend with Mrs. Thompson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sesler.

Arthur Cole returned to Emmet after being marooned in Burwell the past few weeks.

Grandma Lawrence, who has been quite ill for some time, is somewhat improved.

Frank Glazer, of Stanton, who has purchased the Joe Crawford place, was in Emmet on business Monday.

Miss Evelyn Tomjack spent the week end at her home in Ewing.

Wayne Bates is boarding at the John Rhode home in O'Neill so he may attend school during the stormy weather.

Arthur Dailey was taken to Stuart Monday to have his tonsils removed, returning home Tuesday.

Helen Scripture, who was quite seriously frozen, started to school again this week.

Dan O'Connell has moved to the George Peables home and George Peables has moved to the place vacated by Dan O'Connell.

PLEASANT DALE

Miss Angela Pribil, Pleasant Dale school teacher, returned to this neighborhood Tuesday to resume her teaching duties. She dismissed school for a few days on account of the stormy weather.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wagner and Mr. and Mrs. George Stanek, all of Ainsworth, drove down to Emmet Sunday. They were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Beckwith.

There has been no school at district 76 the past few weeks on account of cold weather and impassable road conditions. Miss Helen Dvorak, of Atkinson, is the teacher.

Elsa Lou Ohmart has been home for the past two weeks. She had her school closed on account of bad roads and cold weather.

Miss Minnie Segar reopened her school in the Jake Pribil district this week. She had been at her home near Emmet since closing her school on account of the weather.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Leidy motored to Emmet Sunday afternoon.

Fred Beckwith has been unable to get out much the past few days on account of a lame foot.

Since the weather moderated Otto Hoehne has been spending a lot of time hunting rabbits.

The following neighbors gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Spangler Sunday afternoon: Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lorenz and Glen; Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Dusatko; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Schmohr and family and Mr. and Mrs. George Pongratz, and Vernon and Arlene Beckwith.

George Pongratz, Gerald Dusatko, John Kee, Otto Hoehne and Carl Lorenz hauled hogs down to the highway Monday where they met a truck. The trucker hauled them to market at Sioux City.

Mrs. Pruss and son, Ivan, visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Hoehne Tuesday, also Vernon, Arlene and Daryl Beckwith.

Mrs. Horace Crawford and children spent last week at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Hull near Niobrara river dam. Mr. Crawford has rented a farm near there and will move soon.

Sunday afternoon was so warm that many people were out sight-seeing. As they traveled along the highway they passed between huge mountains of snow, which often towered above the car. Cars had to be driven carefully for many places were too narrow for two cars to pass and sometimes a car had to wait at a wide place while another passed.

More snow! Tuesday evening about 7 o'clock it began to rain. The rain soon turned into snow and before midnight about two inches had fallen.

SHIELDS

Miss Bonnie Briener, a daughter of Mrs. Briener of Pleasantview, was married to William Murray, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Murray, of Shields on February 6th, the ceremony being performed by the Reverend Pastor of the church. It is evident that some were informed of the coming nuptials and quickly spread the alarm and invited quite a few of the newly weds friends to help celebrate the event and help devour the huge wedding cake with all the other accessories.

The guests came early and the committee in charge selected a variety of stunts for the program, knowing that their guests would expect something to do to baffle the cold wave that must have originated in Siberia. The different assignments were arranged to entertain every one in the house. Minnow Beller and Mrs. Tom Murray furnished excellent music for the occasion. Those desiring to trip the light fantastic had access to a large double room and the melee was on and the cold wave was forgotten until morning.

Another room was arranged for those who would rather discuss the topics of the day. John Ernst, the toastmaster, who has captured audiences wherever he has spoken. Such is his ability in that line that he threatens to set a record in that particular role and who is now looked upon by many as having inherited the mantle of eloquence of the late John Harmon. Mr. Ernst was as good as ever and that is some compliment.

John Cleary gave a short review of the pioneer days, when real contentment existed without any public relief such as the WPA is dishing out. He said that we are all in the same boat, but today where a lot of the well-to-do are making applications for relief, who in normal times obtained without a question home and support from their nearest of kin. Resorting to such practice and trying to bring pressure upon the taxpayer until the large per cent of them are compelled to resort to Government loans. Last summer he said he could not hire a man; the relief caused a lot of shirkers, when man power was at a premium. The species of social erosion by those who teach limitations as a remedy for economic distress are lacking in mentality.

Other minor topics were threshed out and it looked like the republicans decided to take the middle path this fall. The announcement for supper interfered with this section and the Dilemma was closed with a question mark.

After partaking of the bountiful spread, the newly weds, who were presented with many useful gifts, announced the donors after which Mr. Murray gave a short talk, thanking their many friends for the kindness bestowed upon them. for Mr. Murray and wife was indelible. A deep affection and appreciation (Continued on page 8, column 6.)
