

THE FRONTIER

GILLESPIE AND BRADY GET THE NOMINATIONS FOR THE UNICAMERAL LEGISLATURE

Walter Smith Wins the Republican Nomination For Supervisor In the Sixth District From John Steinhauser, Present Board Member.

WRITE-IN CAMPAIGN ON 2 JUDGE OFFICES

The primary election campaign of 1936 has gone into history and it saw an exceptionally light vote cast in this county, altho there were 323 more votes cast at the election Tuesday than were cast at the primary election four years ago. In that election there were cast 3,455 votes, compared to 3,778 last Tuesday.

Another comparison that will cause a little gloom to disappear from the faces of some republicans is the fact that in the election four years ago, that is the primary election, there were 2,297 democrat votes cast in the county and only 1,248 republican votes. This year, with an increased vote of 323 the democrats polled 157 votes less than they did in the primary election of 1932, while the republicans polled 480 more votes than they did in 1932. Looks as if Holt county voters were getting rather tired of new deal policies, does it not?

Tuesday the democrats polled 2,050 votes while 1,728 republicans went to the polls and cast their ballots, or a majority favoring the democrats of 322. In Ewing there were approximately 150 republicans entered the democratic primary battle to assist in the nomination of Louis Reimers, present chairman of the county board and a democrat, there being no republican candidate on the ballot. About 50 voters in Verdigris, 50 in Golden and 50 in Deloit followed the example by calling for democratic ballots. If these republicans had remained in their own party it will be seen at a glance that in the primary contest in this county the parties would have been about equal. But that election is over and now for the real battle in November.

There was little interest in the campaign until the last three or four days of the campaign. Then it was learned that another write-in campaign was under way. That the name of former Judge J. J. Harrington would be written in as a candidate for district judge and that the name of T. J. Coyne, former county assessor and later clerk of the district court, would be written in for county judge. Several workers were on the streets all day election day urging voters to write in these two names on the ballots and a large number did so. When the complete vote had been checked over, except the mail ballots, it was found that the vote on these two offices stood as follows: For district judge, R. R. Dickson, 2,814; J. J. Harrington, 441. For county judge: C. J. Malone, 2,838; T. J. Coyne, 227.

For the life of us we cannot conceive how they expect to meet the requirements of the law and have a candidate for county judge nominated by writing in his name. The law specifically states that where a man does not file for the office of county judge or county superintendent to get his name on the ballot, that in order to qualify as a candidate he must receive ten per cent of the vote cast in the county at the last general election for governor. As Cochran and Dwight Griswold received together 7,397 votes at the general election two years ago it would take 740 voters writing in the name of their favorite candidate to get a name on the ballot for this office. As to the office of district judge we do not know as we have looked up the law regarding that office.

One of the surprises of the election was the defeat of John Steinhauser, for the republican nomination for supervisor from the Sixth district. John has been a member of the board for a good many years and he appeared a cinch for renomination, but he went down to defeat.

In the Second district, which has been represented by John A. Carson, republican for the past four years, he won a renomination over

Harry Hiscocks with a small majority of 15 votes. Robert Tomlinson won the democratic nomination easily.

In the Fourth district Louis W. Reimers, present chairman of the board, had a contest for renomination, being opposed by Mike Rotherham, of Ewing, a former member of the board, Reimers winning easily. There was no republican candidate in this district.

In the Fifth district, which has been served for the past few months by John W. Walters who was appointed to the position after the death of Ezra W. Cooke, was unopposed for the republican nomination in that district. His opponent in the fall campaign will be John H. Gibson who won the democratic nomination unopposed.

CONGRESS—AS SEEN BY A NEBRASKAN
By Karl Stefan
Believe it or not, five hundred babies, for whose care no provision has been made, are born in the District each month, Dr. W. Sinclair Bowen, Washington, told a group of women at a birth control luncheon yesterday. He said that in one institution one hundred babies are born to mothers between the ages of twelve and twenty years.

The committee on education held a meetings yesterday and reported out the vocational training bill, but not until after the authorized appropriation was cut from twelve million to six million. Even at that it will be an increase of about three million dollars compared with last year.

The senate bill calls for twelve million dollars. Members felt this legislation which has been in effect many years is helping people to make their own living.

Several cases were cited where during the depression and drought some communities canned their own vegetables with the result that not one person in these communities was on relief, nor have they been on relief since. Letters from county superintendents in Nebraska indicate that this work is resulting in some good in Nebraska, and that the vocational trainers are co-operating with the 4H clubs and the county agents.

During this meeting charts were shown illustrating the 1935 savings bank balances per family by states. The chart of the United States on this question showed that the families with the smallest amount of savings bank balances live in North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Oklahoma and Texas, where the savings ranged from $124.00 per family to $214.00 per family. On the other hand Maine, New York, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Washington, D. C., and California showed the largest amount of average savings bank balances. These balances ranged from $820 per family in Washington to $2,477 per family in New York. This will give you some indication as to where the money of the country is really located.

The next big building project in Washington is the twelve million dollar new interior building to accommodate five thousand employees. There will be two miles of corridor space and there will be automobile parking space in the basement with escalators and every thing of the latest style. The old building is going to be used by the PWA and some other units. The government is awfully short of space to house all these new employees. About 350,000 new ones have come to work in the city in the last three years. The corner stone of the new building, will be laid on April 16 with elaborate ceremonies. President Roosevelt will lay the corner stone and he will use the trowel used by George Washington when the father of our country laid the corner stone of our nation's capital in 1793.

Another project which is somewhat controversial is the Florida ship canal. This canal attempts to cut twenty hours off shipping time between the Atlantic ocean and the Gulf of Mexico, and has brought out a statement from one

The O'Neill Dramatic Club put on the play, "Here Comes Charlie" at the opera house last evening to a crowded house. The play was a splendid success from a financial standpoint as well as satisfaction given to the large audience. The various parts in the play were well taken, each and every individual being apparently cut out for the part they portrayed. In between the acts were interspersed, songs, dances, and dialogues put on by the younger folks and they also took their several parts admirably.

Sam Barnard, one of the old-time residents of this city but who has lived in Wyoming for about a quarter of a century, arrived in the city last Friday for a short visit with his daughter, Mrs. C. H. Yantzi, and with other old time friends here. He left for his home at Casper, Wyo., Monday.

Miss Constance Golden entertained sixteen of her little friends with a dinner party at the Bakery last Sunday evening and later entertained them at her home with various games. The little folks say they had an enjoyable time and that Miss Constance is a splendid entertainer.

Mrs. Bordson, of Spencer, was in the city Wednesday and purchased the Chapman Style Shop, taking possession at once. Mrs. Bordson will move to this city and make O'Neill her future home. The Frontier welcomes her to the business ranks of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Allen, living about ten miles northeast of this city, were pleasant callers at this office last Saturday and ordered The Frontier sent to them for the coming year. Mr. Allen says that he is now operating a horseless farm.

Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Biglin went down to Sioux City last Monday morning, taking down their son, Joe, for further medical treatment. Mr. Biglin returned home that evening while Mrs. Biglin remained there to be with her son.

TWO PEDESTRIANS LOSE LIVES WHEN STRUCK BY AUTOS

South Dakota Man Is A Victim On Highway Wednesday. Man Killed Sunday At Stuart.

Vetal Hatton, 30, of St. Francis, S. D., was killed on the highway about a mile and a half west of Danceland at an early hour Wednesday morning, by being run over by an automobile driven by Clarence Potter.

A coroner's jury was empaneled by Sheriff Duffy on Wednesday morning and they found that Hatton came to his death by being run over by an automobile driven by Clarence Potter. That said accident was unavoidable and that Potter was not to blame.

Hatton's body was first identified as that of Ralph Ripke, but Ripke turned up at Stuart during the day and Marvin Ripke, U. S. Indian agent at Rosebud identified the body as that of Hatton.

Gene Runalson, of Ainsworth, who was with Hatton Tuesday night said he was unable to recall much of what had occurred. He said the automobile they were driving, a new Dodge pick-up, ran out of gasoline and that Hatton started down the road for fuel when he was struck by a car.

Potter said his automobile struck the body but told the jury he did not know whether Hatton was dead at that time. He said he did not see the man until after the car ran over him. He then notified the authorities and Sheriff Duffy went out to the scene of the accident about 4 o'clock Wednesday morning.

Accident At Stuart
William T. Brown, 60, of Stuart, was struck on the streets there on Sunday morning while crossing a street of that village, by a car driven by former County Judge George Hillberg, of Bassett. He died from his injuries Sunday afternoon.

Sheriff Duffy and W. J. Hammond, the latter representing the county attorney who was attending court at Ainsworth, drove to Stuart Tuesday morning to look into the case.

An inquest was held and the jury found that the deceased came to his death by being hit by an automobile driven by former County Judge Hillberg, of Bassett.

We learn that at the inquest it was brought out that Hillberg was driving at a moderate rate of speed, only 15 or 20 miles an hour, and that Brown was crossing the street and another man also crossing the street and that they met and tarried a moment in the street talking. When they noticed the car Brown evidently became confused and he was hit by the car and seriously injured. Brown had been a resident of Stuart for several years and was operating a lunch counter there.

HOSPITAL NOTES
Clark Standford, of Kearney, who was seriously injured some time ago, went to the home of friends for a few days convalescing.

Zeb Warner is again in the hospital suffering another heart attack. At present his condition is quite serious.

Mrs. E. M. Jarmen of Chambers, was operated on Friday the 10th, for acute appendicitis. She is convalescing nicely.

George Wilson had his tonsils removed Wednesday morning.

Mrs. Harold Wier was admitted Tuesday night for treatment.
