SOUTHWEST BREEZES

By Romaine Saunders

Cap Addison was a guest for dinner Monday at the James ranch.

Charles Peters is erecting a large barn at the ranch for the storage of hay.

The Elliott Carpenter family spent Easter at the Sigman home northeast of Amelia.

Victor Howth started spring work with a new spreader recently purchased in O'Neill.

John Bower, one of the southwest's old time ranchers, sent a load of cattle to market Monday.

John J. Brunner made a trip to Atkinson Tuesday to see what there was of interest in the sale ring.

Five head of reactors were sent out from the Art Doolittle ranch on Monday enroute to the Omaha market.

The Clemens and Saunders boys were at Atkinson Saturday night, getting home without incident around midnight.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. James are enjoying a visit from their daughter, Mrs. Jack Record and little son Jack, of Minneapolis.

Croaking frogs, a lone plowman in a distant field, an emerald sheen spreading the hills, music from a multitude of feathered throats, evening fires burning on a far-flung horizon all proclaim the glad springtime.

John Baker was up from the south Sunday for a visit at the home of his sister, Mrs. Hazelbaker. He expects to move his saw-rig to the locality south of Stuart where he has some 40,000 feet of sawing to do.

At the 1932 democratic convention a large sign was displayed, "Out of the Red with Roosevelt." Money experts tell us our government is in the red to an extent never before known. Catchy phrases are very unreliable.

One of the first things the one house legislature should do for Nebraska is to do away with holding two elections the same year and give us back the convention. If the national nominations are left to conventions, why not state and local? The returns in Swan show a cost to the county of over a dollar a vote.

in a botanical way makes a significant difference. It is the latter that Edgar Peterson has been interesting neighbors in by introducing the weeping willow. Having more of the cuttings than he could make use of a nice bunch was sent out this way to be inserted in the moist earth.

The only game in the southwest which did not suffer severely was the few white tail deer that have their hangout at a far distant section of Swan. The deer flourish be the weather cold or hot and are on an encouraging increase. Hundreds of pheasants and rabbits perished from the severe cold and snow of January and February, while no small number of meadow larks met a like fate from the snow and cold which ushered in April after a warm spell late in March.

CONGRESS—AS SEEN

BY A NEBRASKAN

official body that the project would destroy Florida's fresh water supply and would never be a paying proposition. For this project the first allocation of five million dollars was made with the explanation that it was relief money as well as canal money. This was also true of a later allocation of two million dollars. Six thousand men are at work on the canal and there is sufficient money left to last until July, but operations will be hampered then if some guarantee of additional funds is not forthcoming. If no more funds are granted, the now busy and impressive Camp Roosevelt canal headquarters will become a deserted village and a monument to waste and extravagance.

Just what was the total of rental and benefit payments under the old AAA? This is the question being asked in the congressional office. John B. Payne, comptroller in the AAA department of the department of agriculture answers these questions officially. And here is the result of his official report:

Rental and Benefit Payments.

Uncle Sam apparently made a bad deal when he bought the Virgin Islands from Denmark in 1916. We paid Denmark twenty million dollars for those islands. Since that time it cost the taxpayers of the United States twelve million dollars for administrative expenses there. There are twenty-five thousand people living on those islands—mostly Africans. They can raise only about $140,000 a year in taxes, so Uncle Sam puts in about $375,000 or more every year to help them live. Besides that Uncle Sam put in a million and a half emergency money last year—some of which he hopes to get back.

Nobody really believes that those islands will be self-supporting. Only ten per cent of the land there can be cultivated. There is sixteen per cent illiteracy and the representatives of the natives came to Washington the other day asking for some changes in their organic laws. They think they have enough education to spend their own money. The governor of the islands, whose name is Lawrence Cramer also came to Washington, asking for a change in the organic laws—a change suggested by the interior department, which really runs the islands. But the representatives of the people don't like all of the proposed changes suggested by the interior department, so they have their own suggestions. Both factions appeared before the house committee on insular affairs yesterday, arguing for their individual proposals and a lot of interesting things developed in the hearing about which the general public never hears, and about which little is said.

Because the islands are so expensive to the American taxpayers; because the people there raise only $140,000 in taxes against the million and a half Uncle Sam puts up every year, some members of the committee appear to favor the interior department bill, which will give a better check on how Uncle Sam's money is spent, and at the same time give the natives more freedom and more suffrage.

Ford - FOR ECONOMY

"The Ford V-8 uses less fuel and oil for the power it gives than any other car we have ever made

AND ITS UP-KEEP COST IS THE LOWEST"

ENTHUSIASTIC sales talk often begins and ends with gasoline mileage. Some salesmen would like you to believe it is the whole story of automobile economy.

But drivers ought to know better. For the fact is, it's way down the list. More value for every dollar you pay. Lower cost for repairs and service.

The big items of car economy are low first cost, low up-keep cost and low depreciation. Savings here can make a great deal of difference in cost per mile. Gasoline mileage is more of a talking point than an economy factor.

Check up and you will find that the difference between 17 and 19 miles a gallon is less than $10 for a whole year's average driving (8400 miles at 18 cents a gallon). Here are the big items that make the Ford the most economical car: Quality means economy and the 1936 Ford V-8 gives you more real quality than any other low-price car. No other car under $1645 has a V-8 engine. No other low-price car has Center-Poise Riding, safe, sure mechanical brakes and Safety Glass all around at no extra cost.

$25 A MONTH WITH USUAL LOW DOWN-PAYMENT, BUYS ANY NEW FORD V-8 CAR ON NEW UCC ½% PER MONTH FINANCE PLANS.
