SOUTHWEST BREEZES

By Romaine Saunders
Mr. and Mrs. Snelson were O'Neill visitors one day last week.

Perhaps Mr. Brisbane's cup of joy is full now that Ethiopia is to be "civilized" by the legions from Italy.

Mr. Warwick was up from the lake Sunday with a horse and grain to unload at a farm in the north end of Swan.

Mrs. William Carpenter and daughter, Wanda, of Burwell, and Bernard Gargaleski visited at the home of Elliott Carpenter Sunday.

Raymond Bly had two fresh cows added to the milking list Friday morning and thinks he has to roll out a little earlier now to repair to the cow yard.

Hugh L. James and R. Saunders went to Lincoln Monday. They were joined at Ord by John Baker and a friend, all expecting to return by Tuesday.

Lowell Hall lopes back and forth morning and evening preparing ground at the Riley place for a crop, he farming a stretch of land there again this season.

In the closing months of Mr. Hoover's term as president it was bad enough but not until the full swing of New Deal days of '36 did Nebraskan's begin to eat crow.

Criticism comes more readily to the mind than helpful suggestion; is much easier to laud a virtue than to practice it and to denounce a vicious principle than to act in opposition to it.

Because of things appearing in this column friends sometimes address mail to me which is always welcome. All such should be addressed to Atkinson, though over 20 miles distant is the point which daily serves this portion of the southwest.

While spellbinders fulminate over increased prices of farm products the Holt county man draws little comfort out of it. The increased prices are mostly on things he has to buy and that which he has oceans of to sell there are no buyers at any price. Let the political price fixers give hay a boost.

At the home of Will Fryrear, Tom Baker and the writer experiments have begun with the much exploited Chinese Elm, from 100 to 200 of these seedlings being set out at each of the three places. Cotton woods and willows are as thrifty as sandburrs and these Oriental specimens are said to be more so.

The forgotten man has been heard from. Doctor Cook, venerable with age but able to retrieve a front page position, announces he is equipped to prove that he, not Perry, was the first to reach the north pole. From experiences last winter, it is not likely anyone out this way will ever enter into competition for polar exploration honors.

I am neither priest, preacher, prophet nor son of a prophet but had emphatic and insistent early training to regard profane and blasphemous speech as a crime against high heaven. "The Lord will not hold him guiltless that taketh his name in vain." Much is heard about crime against the state and too much can not be said. Why is so little said about the shocking crimes against the laws of the Divine Creator? Deference and respect is shown gentlemen of the cloth and the speech carefully guarded, but vitriolic explosions and profane outbursts are flaunted in the face of the Almighty.

is any oil any different?

Different because it's

We don't mean one of those "talking point" differences. We mean a real difference. Alloying Germ Processed oil goes beyond refining and re-refining. After every harmful element is cleaned out, the patented Conoco Germ Processing element is scientifically put IN.

That's what brings you this alloyed oil, with its strange attachment for pistons, cylinders, and all other engine parts—including every known type of bearing. All these parts really become oil-plated!

This oil-plating is extra. It's a plus—added to the tougher, more slippery, heat-beating Germ Processed oil film. You've got this high-durability oil film, sliding on thoroughly oil-plated surfaces, and so you're that much farther from wear and noise.

You're facing hotter days and harder runs. Out with dirty winter oil! Only the Conoco man can change you—quickly—to Germ Processed, the alloyed oil. Continental Oil Company.
