O'NEILL HIGH BAND IS RATED SUPERIOR IN DISTRICT MEET

peted in the girls' high voice division, with Tierney's "Alice Blue Gown" and Lehman's "Fairies at the Bottom of Our Garden." Miss Miller characterized her performance as good. The same rating was awarded by Professor Bennett to Charles Yarnell, a Sophomore, competing in the Boys' Low Voice division. His number was the always loved "Sylvia" of Speaks.

According to contest regulations, all contestants who ranked in the Superior and Excellent groups at the Albion contest are eligible to compete in the state contest to be held at Hastings April 30 and May 1. It is predicted that between 2500 and 3,000 students will compete in this state contest. O'Neill High may well be proud of the students who won for her the right to represent her there at that time.

ASH GROVE PROJECT CLUB

The "lamb triumphs over the lion." Result: On this last day of March we arrive untruffled for our project lesson at a house spelled HOME. Dinner was the first consideration and our motto might well be, "We Live to Eat."

The meeting was called to order by the president. Illness and "spring migration" have decreased our roll call. By appointment Mrs. C. V. Cole takes the office of secretary-treasurer, made vacant by Mrs. Jack Cleveland's change of residence.

Our business completed we enjoyed a short interval of games, after which our diligent leaders, Mrs. Hendrick and Miss Wertz, demonstrated the lesson. We spent a good deal of time taking the "work" out of working hours. With a clatter of tack hammers and tongues we finished the lesson and bade good bye to our smiling hostess, Mrs. George Rector.

GRATTAN PROJECT CLUB

The Grattan Project Club met at the home of Mrs. Julia Barrett on March 30. Nine members were present and two visitors, Mrs. Rose Ryan and Mrs. D. J. Baker, of Thermopolis, Wyo. A delicious dinner was served at noon.

The lesson "Shortening the Work Hours" was given by the leaders. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. George Weingartner.

Third District Youth Selected for Annapolis

Nominations to fill a single vacancy at the United States Naval Academy accredited to the Third congressional district of Nebraska have been sent to the Chief of the Bureau of Navigation, Navy Department, as follows:

Principal, Thomas Malone, Madison; First Alternate, Dale Malison, Clarks; Second Alternate, Raymond Rabeler, Leigh, and Third Alternate, Robert B. Short, Norfolk, Nebr.

These nominations have resulted from a competition which was conducted under the auspices of the Civil Service commission, Dec. 12, 1936. Several weeks prior to that time, Congressman Stefan had publicly announced the existence of a vacancy at the Naval Academy thru-out the district and had invited the filing of applications by interested young men.

Forty-six young men, all legal residents of the district, took the examination in the full understanding that the nominations would be based solely upon the results of the examination. In other words, that the nominations would go to the men earning the highest grades.

The nominations that have now been made have gone to the four men that earned the highest grades in the competition in the precise order of their relative standing.

A newspaper editor is something like a preacher. He can go along doing pretty well for months and nobody pays any attention to him. But if he makes one mistake—then he gets plenty of criticism.

"Spending" is Washington Slogan

Letters from home indicate that some of these young men and women drawing $1,200 to $1,600 a year ought to save a little money or send a little money home to the folks who are down and out and need relief. But these young people say that under the Washington racket where every merchant makes it "easy" for them to "buy" and to "charge" and where everything is so high in price a great majority of these young people are broke and many have to borrow a few dollars "until pay day" from their fellow workers. The government pays twice a month. Payday is sure, here. Most of the money goes to the Washington hotels, rooming houses, boarding houses and to the merchants. "Spending" is the Washington slogan.

Debt Burden Foundation for Inflation

The House, without a record vote passed the $121,177,000, appropriation bill for the Justice, Commerce and Labor departments. There was not an audible vote against the bill. Some old time members say the amount was "too small to make a fuss over." Members, however, are beginning to discuss finances and debts and members of both parties are starting to make speeches on the debt and money question. The government's debt burden is growing by leaps and bounds. Talks on "economy in government" expenditures are scheduled for next week by some leaders on both sides. Members gather into small groups occasionally these days and discuss the stock market and the bond market. Some attention is given to the fact that government bonds show some decrease these days. That brings up talk that more inflation is coming. There is also talk that deflation is due. None of the so-called "money" experts agree but most of the liberals in the House tell each other that inflation is on the horizon and that about the best thing in the world to own is a farm or a house and lot or actual property.

Easter in Washington

The House adjourned over the week-end because there wasn't anything for members to do. The weather here is beautiful. Jonquils and other flowers are in bloom. Many members who live near Washington went home for Good Friday and Easter church services. A lot of people were at Arlington cemetery for the sunrise services which many officials and members of the White House family attended. The churches were practically out of available seats for Easter services as usual. The annual egg rolling contest on the White House lawn was arranged for. Washington makes a great display of Easter festivities and about the same things are done here as at home except on a larger scale and by people who have a lot more money with which to put on these displays. The Easter parade of clothing is one of the high lights in these programs and for weeks the stores were jammed with men and women buying Easter finery. The civic centers here and some of the charitable organizations continue crowded with penniless and jobless men getting free coffee and lunch.

Tourist Season Opens

The warm weather is bringing into town thousands of tourists. Young people in many busses are unloaded at the various places of historic interest and the guides and souvenir salesmen are starting their busy season. The kodaks are in use again with the arrival of sunshine, and employees are everywhere taking snapshots.

Appropriate Money for Insect Control

Before adjourning for the week, the House favorably accepted the report on appropriations for insect control. This carries two million dollars and will give the department authority to use any unexpended balances for this purpose. The grasshopper control committees will soon be busy with the county committees. Many letters from county agents have been received making inquiries as to when funds will be available for grasshopper eradication. The birdweed eradication money is in the "noxious weed" bill which the house has passed.

Veteran Aid

War veterans will be pleased to hear that the House yesterday passed and sent to the Senate a bill which will restore the benefits to about 2,000 world war veterans who are sick with paralysis, paresis, blindness or bedridden, not withstanding the "misconduct" question which has often been raised. In the 1933 economy act, these benefits had been removed. Members of the veterans committee, especially John Rankin, the chairman, feel that this new bill will aid many veterans who have been unjustly treated. Rankin, who comes from Mississippi, is one of the staunchest friends the veterans have in the house. He plans to introduce another bill if the present one does not take care of many veterans who have suffered as a result of the 1935 Act. The House unanimously joined Rankin in his present fight to help these sick World War veterans.

THE NEBRASKA SCENE

By the Lowell Service

"Your office would be a non-existent one, and you would be unable to take and hold the office. You would be an officer without an office, and you could not draw salary from the state." This is part of an opinion rendered by the attorney general's office at the request of Leo Swanson, then land commissioner, on Sept. 6, 1935, and just released by Attorney General Richard Hunter. The opinion was written by former Attorney General William Wright after Swanson had asked, before election, what his status would be in case his office were abolished at the election.

As the result of criticisms of the state department of agriculture by Kenneth Wherry of Pawnee City, there may be a legislative investigation.

Attorney General Hunter has indicated interest in the activities of a coterie of Lincoln lawyers commonly classed by the people of the Capitol City as shysters.
