This community is about as much interested in airplanes as in arctic dog teams, but it could use a refund of tax on gasoline used on the ranch.

Had Henry Ford worked just thirty hours of the 144 the world's transportation would have never known the thrill of rolling along in a Model T.

I was one of the more than 17,000,000 republicans who voted for Alf Landon and a somewhat less number for Lloyd Gillespie, but have seen nothing yet to alter that choice.

Hiawatha strides have been made in science, industry and learning, but with 18,000,000 citizens—not of the "rough neck" class—at large with unmentionable venereal diseases there is something to do yet.

A neighboring editor tells of "thousands of geese" hovering around a lake in his vicinity. A lone hundred of these wild creatures of the air make a big showing and much noise. Count 'em over, brother.

For the eighth consecutive April, Rafe Shaw was over in east Swan Monday making out assessment schedules. Assessors are taking them as yearlings this year if the calves become a year old after April 1. Its the fashion to put everything thru the court test tube and some old timers from the prairie may see about this action of the assessors.

A Chambers business concern has closed out their store at Amelia, but the many friends of the Lindseys, who have managed the store, will learn with pleasure that they are stocking up to continue the business as their own. They purchased the building some time ago which has been their home and place of business so this change is effected with little effort.

In his 1932 acceptance speech Mr. Roosevelt said: "We must rightly and morally prevent the return of the saloon." The Nebraska legislature in its wisdom has just enacted a law increasing penalties for drunken driving. The country has licensed two and one-half times more places to turn out drunken drivers than ever before in our history. Such are some of our human inconsistencies.

The southwest was favored with a good rain Monday night, after a trying day of wind and dust that held something of the terror of the visitations from the "dust bowl" three years ago. The green of spring had already begun to show on meadow and distant hill and was needing the rain to quicken growth. Tuesday morning held promise of additional showers. Winter's coat of a dead sod will soon be replaced by the living colors of a new season's verdure.

SHIELDS

This community was saddened by the death of one of its most outstanding old timers and about one of the last that helped lay the corner-stone and build the foundation of the peaceful little colony that immigrated here from eastern Canada about 1880, Jacob Erb. Jake, as we all knew him, had been handicapped by a slight stroke that apparently effected his memory but prior to that time he was always noted for his quick wit, which made him a favorite with all who had the pleasure of meeting him, or the good wife who preceded him in death in July last year. Their devotion to their church and their family were paramount. They both lived to a ripe age and the vast throng of Menonite friends near and far, turned out to attend the funeral service and accompany him to his final resting place, bore mute testimony of a man who had made a place for himself in the hearts of a many.

It was a source of satisfaction to meet a vast number of the descendants of those Menonites who originally settled around us, and I will never forget their cheerfulness and appreciation for all their neighbors. Their achievements and never failing cheerfulness was ever noticeable down to the last. In about the early nineties, when I first used to mingle with them they always appeared to be of a progressive nature and when I met my old schoolmate, Mose Schuitzer, the other day I said, "Mose, this is the first time I've seen you since I traded my watch that Dennis Keely made me a present of when he left here, to you." Mose said that his business is now that of a jeweler.

There was not a house in this neighborhood that was not built by the Menonites. Christ Ernst had a staff under his control that could build anything and wouldn't squeeze the last cent you had out of you either. Undoubtedly he was the one that built the Menonite church that stands on the old Dan Yantzi homestead, which was always noticeable for its attendance and today it just stands as a remembrance of the past, and a resting place for those who are attached to their peaceful home. We all unite in expressing our sympathy to his many relatives and many friends. E. E.

ALPHA CLUB

The Alpha Club met at the home of Mrs. Mary Widtfeldt Wednesday, April 14. Eleven members, three guests and ten children were present. The guests were Mrs. E. G. Grover of Omaha, Mrs. Hans Egger of Columbus, and Mrs. Lloyd Whaley of O'Neill.

This meeting was children's day and the members gave their most outstanding childhood memory in answer to roll call. Very favorable reports were given on the food sale, which was held in March. Several of the members have heard from their capsule friend and are quite curious to know who it is. After the business meeting, Marie Lansworth gave a report on the child welfare law, and Evelyn Simonson gave a report on eugenic children. Mrs. Widtfeldt then served a delicious luncheon.

This court situation is developing so fast that some of these days we expect to see the girls go into divorce court taking their judges with them.

They used to say that hell was paved with good intentions and maybe that is why so many people go there driving ninety miles an hour.

1937 Ford V-8

● If you think that "all low-price cars cost about the same" — forget it! They don't.

● You can prove those figures — on the open road — in a car provided by the nearest Ford dealer.

● When you've finished your personal check-up, ask yourself: "Do I want to save money the day I buy my car and every mile I drive it?"

● "Do I want a safe, roomy, comfortable car of advanced design — created from the finest materials to the highest precision standards?"

● There's only one answer, of course — the 1937 Ford V-8.

● Of course, first cost doesn't prove "low cost" — you must consider operating cost also.

● The "60" has definitely established itself as the most economical car in Ford history. Ford cars have been famous for economy for 34 years, so that means something!

● Owners who have driven it thousands of miles report that the Ford "60" averages between 22 and 27 miles on a gallon of gasoline.
