SOUTHWEST BREEZES

By Romaine Saunders
George Holcomb is again at home in Amelia, arriving recently from the winter's sojourn in Iowa.

Shearing is now going on gathering the wool from a number of bands of sheep on ranches of the southwest.

Remember when the celluloid cuffs with the horse head buttons were part of the togs of the village dandy?

Talking in the U. S. senate of another depression headed our way. Didn't know we were out of the old one.

George Cutler is having a well put down on the quarter a mile west of us which he is pasturing this season.

Is it the fish, the expanse of water or other liquid cheer that interests many of our presidents in fishing expeditions?

Since and including Abe Lincoln there have been sixteen individuals presiding at the White House, three of whom were democrats.

Tom Salem of Amelia and Joe Daas of Chambers, were over in South Dakota Sunday to see Mike Otte, who is reported very ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Peterson are having their property at Amelia improved by the construction of an inclosed porch on the west and south.

Light showers Sunday morning moistened the grass roots and washed the dust from an atmosphere that has been behaving rather badly of late.

With a local race track background of such notables as Jimmie Wynn, Al Heilman, Eddie Tierney and several others, who would have thought any O'Neill citizen need go to Kentucky to see a hoss race.

Mrs. Tom Baker entertains Thursday the ladies of the P. E. O. society of Atkinson, a secret order which no mere man is supposed to know anything about. Others of the family spent the day with a neighbor.

Mr. and Mrs. Hammer, the enterprising editors of the Chambers Sun, spent a pleasant half-hour with the compiler of the Breezes Sunday afternoon dividing the edifying discussion on the two great civilizers of mankind—printing and agriculture.

Bill Taylor rode thru here Friday on his way from the Star neighborhood westward headed for points in Rock county, thence to Brownlee. Stopping for dinner at our abode we had the privilege of getting word of friends of other years in northeast Holt.

The Iowa legislature put skunks on the protected game list. Nebraska passes a county officer recall law, and we haven't heard what became of the fellow's proposal to make it unlawful for anyone not holding a Union card with dues paid to do a day's work.

The county has been strewn with a scurrilous literature coming from a body of religionists which seems to think "the truth" consists in assailing priest and preacher of other faiths. To borrow from an eminent historical character, I do not believe much that they say but would defend to the last their right to say it.

I see my friend Editor Miles of the Independent intimates to his readers that he was the victim of a recent epidemic. As I understand George, the predominate characteristic did not become recognizable until the grand climax, when exterior evidence multiplied plentifully of an over charged interior. This may not be sans skunkiness or ambiguity, though I trust the county's leading democratic editor has incurred no abiding impairment thereby.

The unicameral is excelling all others in serving up a mess of potage in the form of amendments to be voted on at the next election. An amendment is the easiest thing in the world to put across as about 25 per cent of the voters take the trouble to find out what it is about. Among the citizens down here who denounce the so-called short ballot as it reposes too much authority in the hands of the governor and smacks of the spoils system is that veteran democrat, Jesse James.
