The fact that his coat pockets were turned inside out leads the police to believe he was the victim of an attempted holdup, the thieves probably being frightened away before they could complete their work. Nothing was missing from his pockets.

The men were arrested yesterday by Police Captain Henry Carey and Special Officers Miller and Cashman of the Union Pacific Railroad company. Mrs. Pedigo is just 18 years old. When Mr. and Mrs. Parsley learned of the wedding surprise they bestowed their blessing and the evening was spent in celebration of the event at the home of the bride's parents, 1017 North Twenty-first street. Club to Celebrate.

Decrepit and aged persons will be politely escorted to the door and youthful, happy 1914 will be given a very welcome by the members and friends of the Centurion club of St. Bridget's parish New Year's eve at the club rooms, 1306 North Twenty-fourth street. The celebration will mark the end of the first and very successful year of the club's existence and will fittingly close the activities of the new year for the members.

A lengthy and entertaining program has been arranged for the occasion by George Parks, M. J. Heafey, T. J. Lichnovsky and J. J. Markey, the committee in charge. The program will consist of eighteen numbers, of musical and vocal selections and dramatic recitations. The board of directors which is composed of the elder parishioners, will make short addresses, giving a summary of the club's work since its organization a year ago and make plans for the ensuing year's work.

The club rooms will be elaborately decorated in holiday colors. Frank Smith, an expert designer, and a member of the club, will put up the decorations. Refreshments will be served and a general good old-fashioned time enjoyed.

The Rev. Father Ballou, assistant to the pastor of St. Bridget's church, was responsible for the organization of the club. His untiring work with the young men made them take interest in the project from the start.

With the completion of the new parochial school, Father Ballou will have the basement fitted up for club rooms for the young men. In the present quarters gymnasium work cannot be enjoyed by the members. When the school basement has been completed it will furnish an ideal club room and gymnasium. The basement will also be used as a hall for all social gatherings of the parish.

Every one will be tendered a hearty welcome at the New Year's celebration.

Lecture on New Zealand.

An appreciative audience assembled Friday night at the First Christian church to hear a stereoscopic lecture on "Social and Political Customs of New Zealand" given by Rev. William J. Hazle under the auspices of the Equal Franchise league. Mr. Hazle paid high tribute to the practical humanism of governmental affairs in New Zealand. He told of the conservation of human forces, of an eight-hour labor law enforced, of municipal control of public utilities and how the natural resources of the soil are not monopolized.

Mr. Hazle is an ardent advocate of woman suffrage, and he spoke highly of the influence of New Zealand women in public affairs. Equal suffrage has existed twenty years in New Zealand, and is said by priest and laymen to have exerted a refining influence on the home and public life there.

Rev. William A. Pollock, pastor of the United Presbyterian church, said that he favors equal suffrage; he believes his mother, his wife and other good women equally competent, and as much or more entitled to a voice in the public welfare than the masses of untrained men voters now allowed to vote and to exercise themselves at the polls. H. F. Bennett and the choir provided suitable music. The Equal Franchise league will meet Wednesday, January 7, at the women's parlors, Moose hall, 101 Independent Telephone building, with Mrs. E. E. Martin as hostess.

The city treasurer's office is the busiest department of the city now. The receipts Friday amounted to $2,000.

City Clerk Perry Wheeler went to Lincoln yesterday to have some city bonds registered at the office.

Thomas Sheehy is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Sheehy, Twenty-second and F streets, during the holidays.

A light run of sheep during the holiday season forced the prices up on the local market. Prices went up from 50 to 60 cents.

The South Omaha newboys will be given a banquet at the Greer hotel New Year's eve. Probation Officer Paul McAtuly and Chief of Police John Briggs will have charge.

The St. Bridget's parochial school is rapidly nearing completion. It is expected the Centurion club, composed of the young men of the parish, will take up quarters in the basement of the new building shortly after New Year's.

University Heads Talk of Building to House Students

There is a possibility that Creighton university will erect a large building in the business district of Omaha within the next few years to house the students of the professional departments. The proposed plan has been discussed by the faculty for some time. A number of the leading men on the faculty are understood to be in favor of construction of a $1,000,000 building.

The talk of a new building comes as a result of the rapidly increasing enrollment at Creighton, which now amounts to nearly 1,100 students. Of this number about 600 are students at the professional schools and would be affected by the change.

Work has already begun on the summer school for next summer, and attendance double that of last year is promised. One of our nuns not represented last year promises to send ten members.

ONE WOMAN HOLDUP IS CAUGHT, OTHER ESCAPES

Loyis Kazaska, 1516 Jackson street, turned the tables on two colored women who attempted to rob him last night shortly before midnight, in an alley between Cass and California on Twelfth street, and as a result one of them, Cora Callender, is in jail. Kazaska was walking up Twelfth street when he was stopped at the alley by the two women. They grabbed him and began to search him, taking a $5 bill out of his pocket. Kazaska shouted for help and attempted to fight the women off. In the fight one of the women slashed him across the head and neck with a knife or razor, and he was quite badly hurt. He suffered half a dozen other cuts. The police emergency car returning from a call in the vicinity was passing when officers heard his cries and stopped. Kazaska held one of the women, Cora Callender, but the other escaped before the officers arrived. The woman was lodged in jail, while Kazaska received emergency treatment from Police Surgeon Foltz. The woman who secured the $5 from Kazaska escaped and he was able to furnish but a meager description of her.

Yagar was wanted at Florence and also at Warsaw. It is believed, for passing worthless checks. Yagar is suspected of having secured money in Omaha under similar circumstances.

FORMER OMAHA MAN MEETS HIGHWAYMAN AT LOUISVILLE

News has been received in Omaha of an encounter with a highwayman experienced by R. W. Juneau, formerly manager of the Schlitz hotel, in which the robber came out "second best." Juneau left his saloon at Louisville about midnight and was accosted a few doors away. He was compelled to return to the saloon, but stepped inside and slammed the door. A shot from a pistol routed the highwayman.

APOPLEXY CAUSES DEATH OF OLD-TIME RESIDENT

A. J. Quistgard, one of the old residents of Omaha, died Saturday night at his residence, 2901 Wisconsin street, shortly after 7 o'clock of apoplexy. Mr. Quistgard was 95 years of age, and for thirty-six years had lived here. Last night he did not feel well at supper time, and he was taken violently ill soon after the evening meal, sinking rapidly until death came. He is survived by his widow and three

NIXY MEN ARE KEEP BUSY

Finders of Lost Addresses on the Jump in Postoffice.

QUEER COLLECTION ON HAND

Some Packages Contain Motley Assortment of Articles Lacking Only Evidence of Ownership.

With the exception of a single department, the rush of Christmas business is over, and that department is the "nixy." Just why it is so called is the topic of much conjecture about the postoffice, but why it is nixy it seems likely to remain a matter of more descriptive and convenient word is considered.

In the nixy department, where articles found loose in the mails without any mark to indicate the sender or addressee are sent, along with those improperly addressed, thousands of articles have accumulated during the last two weeks. The normal force has been increased to seven men to handle the work, and two more clerks will be added to the staff Monday.

Some 2,500 people who should have received Christmas greetings on postcards decorated with tinsel will not get them this year. Such matter cannot be sent through the mails unless it is enclosed in an envelope. The accumulation of 2,500 of these cards this season shows the general disregard or lack of information on the routing.

Among the queer articles and combinations of articles found in the nixy department are a Christmas tree, a corner cleaner, doll shoes and clothing, toy tin dishes, moose sticks, silk hose, muskrat hides, skunk hides, a dressed chicken, egg separator, shoes from Denmark, tobacco pouch, lady's garter, jewelry of all descriptions, baby rubber, pillow top and embroidery silk, a Lincoln highway marker, solder, screws, preserves, safety razors, thumbtacks, money, photographs, pocket knives and face powder. This comprises only a portion of the articles which are being listed and marked and put away until the senders or addressees are located.

One very curious package, from which the address had been taken, was an aluminum stew kettle, a box of candy, a doll, baby shoes, silk hose, children's stockings and a towel. The package evidently contained presents for several members of a family, who may have expected, but have not yet received their Christmas presents.

Student Senate at University of Omaha

The student senate organized at the University of Omaha three years ago is proving to be one of the most useful organizations of the school. The object is to carry out the wishes of the faculty. It also acts as a sort of advisory board to the faculty, giving it the opinion of the students, while on the other hand the faculty gets in closer touch with the students through the senate. Everything of interest that affects the students is brought before the senate. In this way the students practically govern themselves. Social functions at the school and other affairs are acted upon.

As the senate consists of students elected from each class, the entire school is represented. Each class is allowed one member for each school year. Thus the senior class has four representatives, the juniors three, the sophomores two and the freshmen one.

The senate meets twice each month, with special meetings called when matters of interest come up. The president of the university is presiding officer. A secretary elected from members of the senate is the only other officer.

BEER FOUND ON TABLE OF CAFE DURING RAID

The deft Chinese waiters at the Turf cafe, 1306 Douglas street, were just a little slow in getting the beer off the tables last night, and when Sergeant Vanous led a raiding party into the place, which is upstairs, an open bottle of beer was found on one of the tables. As a result, Joe Yee was arrested and charged with keeping a disorderly house, while three persons, two men and a woman, were also arrested and charged with being inmates of a disorderly house. These three were later released on cash bonds of $10 each.

A quantity of beer was taken to the police station as evidence, in the raid, along with the open bottle which was conspicuous when the officers entered the chop suey parlor.

Thomas H. Dailey, Pioneer and War Veteran, Is Dead

Thomas H. Dailey, veteran of the civil war and of a year's age, deputy city clerk, died at his home, 1834 Sherman avenue, Saturday night, at the age of 69 years.

At the age of 16 years, Mr. Dailey enlisted in the Second Wisconsin infantry, answering President Lincoln's first call for volunteers, issued just after the fall of Fort Sumter. He was wounded at the battle of Bull Run, but recovered and again entered the service.

Thomas Dailey was a member of the famous Iron Brigade, which was so named by General McClelland during the battle of Antietam. As a gunner in Company H of the Wisconsin battery, he was in the first day's fighting at Gettysburg, and was one of the first of the gunners to open the fire on Lee's forces.

He was wounded in that engagement and removed to the temporary hospital which had been opened in the court house at Gettysburg. Lying there, he viewed the great battle which was waged less than a mile away.

Mr. Dailey came to Nebraska in 1869, entered the railroad service. Up to the time he retired from this work in 1901 under J. H. McConnell, superintendent of motive power, under the Burt regime, he was connected with the Union Pacific.

He served two terms as deputy county clerk, and later entered the office as deputy city clerk.

The wounds which he received during the civil war were said to have been factors, which contributed to his death.

Besides his widow, Mr. Dailey is survived by two sons and a daughter. The sons are E. H. Dailey, assistant district judge in office in New York; J. F. Dailey, who holds a responsible position with the Union Pacific in Omaha; Mrs. W. C. Leighty, the daughter, also resides in Omaha.

Reference Books For Business Men Come to Library

A shipment of reference books bought with endowment funds left by the late Frank Murphy has just been received at the Omaha public library and will be placed on the shelves for the use of business men as soon as the work is completed of placing the Murphy book plate, bearing his coat of arms, in each volume.

The books are the last received by the library of several hundred reference works intended especially for the use of business men, that have been bought with the income of the endowment bequest of $10,000 which Mr. Murphy provided in his will. He died December 12, 1904, and the last order for the books was placed exactly nine years after that date.

Since his death the sum has been invested at 4 1/2 per cent, netting the library $50 annually. It constitutes the only endowment fund of the institution. Most of the income thus far has been expended for the business reference books, all of which bear the monogram book plate of the donor.

Miss Edith Tobitt, librarian, and the library board are much pleased with the bequest. In addition to the purchase of the books a small part of the income from the fund is used to conduct a class in civics for foreigners. Mrs. Ida M. Hanchett of Council Bluffs is the teacher. Although the class will be continued by the library, the balance of the $50 annual income from the Murphy endowment will be used only for the purchase of business reference books, according to Miss Tobitt.

What ordinary soaps do to the skin

ORDINARY toilet soap makes your skin look white and clean to the naked eye—but look at it through a magnifying glass. You will find that the "free" alkali, which ordinary soap contains, has roughened, irritated and parched your skin; and this may in time cause blotches, pimples, blackheads and other skin troubles.

Resinol Soap cleans, soothes and protects the skin

You need a soap which not only cleans your skin, but also soothes, heals and protects it—that is why you should get a cake of Resinol Soap from your druggist. This pure and delightful toilet soap contains the same medication as Resinol Ointment, the standard prescription for skin troubles. It therefore affords an antiseptic protection to the skin, which merely pure soap does not do. Resinol Soap keeps the skin in a clean, healthy condition and insures a clear, natural complexion.

Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment are sold by all druggists. For trial size of each free, write to Dept. 16-S, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.
