HAve you read "The Gold Fish," now running in the Saturday Evening Post? It is an autobiography of a rich society man of New York City written on his fiftieth birthday. Although a little pessimistic, it is amusing and interesting and worth reading. It writes about "How the Smart Society of New York Amuses Itself," and following is an extract concerning the popular tango:

"I had, until recently, assumed with some bitterness that my dancing days were over. My wife and I went to balls, to be sure, but not to dance. We left that to the younger generation, for the reason that my wife did not care to jeopardize her attire or her complexion. She was also conscious of the fact that the variety of waltz popular thirty years ago was an oddity, and that a middle-aged woman who went hopping about a ball room must be callous to the amusement that followed her gyrations.

"With the advent of the turkey trot and the tango, things have changed, however. No one is too stout, too old or too clumsy to go walking solemnly round in or out of time to the music. I confess to a consciousness of absurdity when, to the exciting rhythm of Tres Moutard, I back Mrs. Jones slowly down the room and up again.

"Do you grapevine?" she inquires ardently. Yes; I admit the soft impeachment, and at once she begins some astonishing convolvement with the lower part of her body, which I attempt to follow. After several entanglements we move triumphantly across the hall.

"How beautifully you dance!" she pants.

"Aged roisterer that I am, I fall for the compliment. She is a nice old thing, after all!"

"Fish walk?" asks she.

"I retort with total abandon: 'Come along!'"

"So, grabbing her tightly and keeping my legs entirely stiff—as per instructions from my son—I stalk swiftly along the floor, while she backs with prodigious velocity. Away we go, an odd four hundred pounds of us, until, exhausted, we collapse against the table where the champagne is being distributed.

"Though I have carefully followed the directions of my preceptor, I am aware that the effect produced by our efforts is somehow not the same as his. I observe him in a close embrace with a willow young thing, dipping gracefully in the distance. They pause, away, run a few steps, stop dead and suddenly sink to the floor—only to rise and repeat the performance.

"So the evening wears gayly on. I caper round—now sedately, now deliriously—knowing that, however big a fool I am making of myself, we are all in the same boat. My wife is doing it, too, to the obvious annoyance of our daughters. But this is the smartest ball of the season. When all the world is dancing it would be conspicuous to loiter in the doorway. Society has ruled that I must dance—it what I am doing can be so called."

Unity Study Club.

A reorganization of Unity club is under way and a preliminary meeting will be held Friday evening at 8 o'clock at the public library. The intention is that a course of lectures should be given under the auspices of the club to begin Wednesday evening, January 11. The club carried out a similar plan, very successfully, in 1907, when Mr. Mann, Mr. Gilder and Dr. Whitford were among the speakers. It is expected that the presence of a goodly number of former members will make the meeting both a pleasant reunion and an assurance of the old flavor of Unity club in the lecture course. The plans for the lectures are not yet in form, but talks on the income tax, the currency bill, Mexico and immigration are proposed. Those in charge are Mrs. G. W. Holdrege, Mr. Bernard C. Capen, Mr. E. Lewis Holland, Miss Jeannette McDonald, Miss Margaret Colvin and Miss Janet Monroe Wallace.

PLEADS FOR ACCUSED WOMAN

Judge Cooley Intercedes with Mayor for Mrs. Ciedzinowski.

SOLE SUPPORT OF HER FAMILY
Mother of Nine is Charged with Implication in Theft of $500, Who Stole from Railroad Boxes.

Mrs. Catherine Ciedzinowski, 1105 Miller street, and her nine children appealed to Mayor James C. Dahlman through her attorney, Julius Cooley, for aid Tuesday. The woman is charged with concealing property which a son stole from boxes in the railroad yards, and is held under a bond of $1,000 to appear in court January 10.

When Mrs. Ciedzinowski was arrested a pitiful condition of poverty was uncovered. On Christmas morning the mother and her children sat down to a meal of coffee and bread. Judge Cooley bought her a turkey and saw that a little Christmas cheer was provided for the Yuletide dinner.

"Mayor" Nick Dagarzewski of Shoneytown has become interested in the case and gave the bond which released Mrs. Ciedzinowski from jail. Prompt action in releasing the woman was absolutely necessary, for her little children were starving.

Mrs. Ciedzinowski's husband ran away with another woman and left her with her progeny of nine, ranging in age from 1 to 17 years. Since then she has been struggling by hard labor to support the large family. One of her sons committed a misdemeanor which involved the mother, according to Judge Cooley, who, without hope of remuneration, is seeking to secure her discharge.

Mayor Dahlman is taking the case up with the good Polish people and will see that assistance can be given Mrs. Ciedzinowski before as well as after her trial.

Campaign Against Diluted Milk is On

Claude F. Bosak, city dairy inspector, has ordered a "raid" on every restaurant and cafe in the city to secure samples of milk sold.

These samples will be tested and if found to be adulterated prosecutions against the restaurants will be begun forthwith.

"These raids are under the direction of Health Commissioner Connell," said Bosak. "We raided the restaurants a short time ago and convicted nearly every person complained against."

Ten inspectors are securing the milk samples. They go into a restaurant, order a piece of pie or a ham sandwich and a glass of milk. The milk, delivered in unopened bottles, is poured into a bottle, sealed in the presence of the waiter and dated.

Railroads May Put in Homeseeker Rates in January

Rates in January

At its meeting a couple of months ago the Central Passenger association eliminated homeseeker rates for 1914 and so notified the Interstate Commerce commission. The Western association filed a mild protest, but as this association is outranked and is really a child of the Central, the protest counted for nothing. However, even with the decision of the Central association, it is very likely that the homeseekers' rates will be applied in Western association territory, which is taken to mean that inside of three months the rates will be general and the same as in the past.

The Katy and the Frisco are two of the western roads that have bolted the Central and taking affairs in their own hands, have notified the Interstate Commerce commission that they will have homeseekers' rates in effect for the first Tuesday in January, the date when the rates should have been effective under the old order of things.

The Katy and Frisco action has been noted by the other lines in Western association territory and it is expected the Burlington, the Union Pacific, the Western Pacific and the Milwaukee will wire the Interstate Commerce commission for permission to apply the rates.

In the matter of putting in new rates like the homeseekers', which are regarded as emergency rates, only three days' notice is required. This being so the passenger men expect to serve their notices and get word back in time to do the normal amount of advertising.

The homeseekers' rates were fought by the Central association on the ground that by being below the minimum statutory rates they resulted in many people moving out of localities where they were needed. For instance, these rates brought many new settlers into western Nebraska, Wyoming, Colorado and other western states, depleting the agricultural districts of Ohio and states to the east.

Hearing of a motion for a new trial of Cadet Taylor's libel suit against The Bee was postponed until next Saturday.

Timothy Kelly's Death Marks Tragedy

Timothy Kelly, formerly of Omaha and recently a court reporter at Pawlins, Wyo., was buried yesterday at Holy Republic cemetery, with services from St. Patrick's church. The circumstances of Mr. Kelly's death were indeed pathetic for he was to have been married on New Year's day and until just a few days before Christmas, the day upon which he died, he had enjoyed normal health. From the time that he was stricken with pneumonia until the last heart beat and from then to the last rites over the body Miss Mary Hawkins of Rawlins, the bride-to-be, was near the bedside of the vicar.

The mother of Mr. Kelly is also seriously ill out in California and her chances of living are not very bright. She is in such a weakened condition that she has not been told of her son's sudden death.

Mr. Kelly was a member of the Elks and had many friends in Omaha. After his arrival in Omaha the body was taken to the home of a brother, Joseph Kelly, 291 South Eighteenth street. Two other brothers, James and Thomas, and a sister survive the deceased.

WILLIAM CLAUSEN BEING HELD AT POLICE STATION

William Clausen, 1908 Burt street, wanted by the Omaha police because he is suspected of having issued forged checks, was arrested by Police Detectives Fleming and Murphy late last night. When the detectives first called for Clausen he was reported as being not at home, though they heard a suspicious sound in the rear of the house when they entered. They left and returned a few minutes later, but this time one of them went to the back door while the other knocked at the front door. That time Mr. Clausen was at home, but he met the officer at the back door. He was booked as a suspicious character at police headquarters.

Dropsy dropped forty-five pounds in fourteen days. In three months I was back to business."
