DISTURBS PEACE AT THE HOME FOR FRIENDLESS

G. J. Germain, railroad laborer, was arrested Wednesday for disturbing the peace at the Home of the Friendless, 104-106 South Fourteenth street. Germain, without funds and in an intoxicated condition, demanded lodging and was twice ejected from the place. The third time he sneaked by those in charge, undressed and went to bed. Shortly afterward he was discovered and told to don his apparel and get out, which he refused to do. Officer Chapman was called and persuaded him to change his mind. Upon entering the main building, station Germain suddenly kicked Chapman's feet from under him, but the officer, maintaining his hold on the prisoner, fell to the walk, carrying Germain with him. At police headquarters Germain asserted that Chapman had done the kicking and broken several of his ribs in so doing. Dr. C. B. Foltz, upon examination, found otherwise. Germain was given twenty days' suspended sentence in police court.

MUNGER WITHHOLDS HIS SIGNATURE FROM CHECKS

On the ground that sufficient time for an appeal had not yet elapsed Judge T. C. Munger of the United States district court has refused to sign the checks for two of the reverends, the man of the Pacific for the robbery of one of their trains on the Lane cut-off in 1906. The checks were drawn by R. C. Hoyt, clerk of the court, and sent to Lincoln for the signature of Judge Munger. He refused to sign the two checks, which were for $6,000 each, because it has been only six days since the judgment was awarded, whereas the other plaintiffs in the case have six months in which to file an appeal.

STOLEN JEWELRY AT THE STATION AWAITS OWNERS

Captain of Detectives Maloney declares that considerable unidentified jewelry of the Norman Taylor robbery is on hand at the station and desires that those who have lost property of this nature appear at police headquarters and identify it.

Talk About Lawyers' Housecleaning; Denounce Perjury; Do Nothing to Stop It

THE ONE CLARION NOTE sounded at the recent meeting of the State Bar association was its vigorous protest AGAINST THE JUSTICE-CREATING CRIME OF PERJURY.

But are our lawyers going to stop, as they usually do, with merely passing fine sounding resolutions and appointing do-nothing committees? Unexpectedly to them, perhaps, the chance is at hand to make good on these praiseworthy professions by TACKLING THE REAL THING, regardless how close it may hit their own mutual admiration circle. For here is perjury in its ugliest form rising right up in open court, as if defying rebuke.

In a judicial hearing just closed one Gard, A CLIENT OF LAWYER BROME, is disclosed by the vast preponderance of evidence as PERJURING HIMSELF INTO A JURY BOX, where he might be of service to another client of Brome.

If this palpable piece of perjury were not enough, the oath-given story of this same Juror Gard detailing the jury room proceedings TO HELP BROME SECURE A NEW TRIAL is conclusively PROVED FALSE by the sworn contradiction of all eight of his fellow jurors.

But neither judge, nor county attorney, nor bar committee has yet made a move to make perjury odious or unprofitable.

Is perjury to be committed WITH IMPUNITY AND IMMUNITY, if only it inures to the benefit of a particular lawyer or set of lawyers?

Is it ANY WONDER MOST FOLKS JUST LAUGH when the lawyers, in feigned indignation, insist they are going to do their own housecleaning?

M. and M. Contest Fills Long Felt Want With Business Men

As a means of increasing sales, inducing distribution, and, in a great measure, preventing substitution, the Manufacturers' and Merchants' Voting contest now being conducted by The Bee seems to have hit the mark. There are three problems that every manufacturer and jobber has to confront more or less frequently. The valuable prizes and cash premiums and the easy plan outlined for securing votes on manufactured products make a special appeal to the consumer. The "here-is-something-just-as-good" plea is hard to "put over" on the woman who asks for an article that has a voting value. She wants that product for two reasons: First, she knows it has quality; and second, but almost as important, she wants the votes. Is it not surprising that the many contestants already nominated are enthusiastic? The number of prizes to be awarded is so large that success seems assured to practically all of the workers. Then, too, contestants have the satisfaction of knowing that the goods they have purchased to secure votes are equal to the best in their respective lines. To read the list of products that have a voting value is to renew the acquaintance of household names. In Omaha and the surrounding country good, clean, sanitary bread and "Butter Nut" mean precisely the same. Send me Calumet baking powder is a phone message that has become an old story to the grocer who handles high-grade goods. There isn't a food product manufactured in Omaha superior to Farmer's coffee, tea and spices. Ask the economical housewife what she thinks of DeFazio's starch, another Omaha product, and she will tell you that Defiance is not only the starch for ordinary laundry work, but that it is a friend to dainty shirtwaists, fancy collars and table covers. "Brierley's" candles, a home product that every lover of pure sweets will buy and recommend. When you say Hu-Ce and Tangier brands of canned goods you get top-notch quality, full weight guaranteed. Kellogg's toasted corn flakes and toasted wheat biscuits are found in the homes where delicious cereals are bought and appreciated. Eaton with Alamito pasteurized cream—well, what can equal such a dish for downright goodness. Much has been said for and against the gum-chewing habit, but how many of us know that Kel-I-Chin (cinnamon flavor) gum is a powerful mouth disinfectant. This is a fact that has been proven by analysis. Skinner's macaroni products have taken their place among the best and purest food products in the country, and, by way of a reminder, they are made in Omaha, too.

There is an inclination among Omaha consumers that is fast becoming a habit, and that is to demand home-made goods. The M. & M. voting contest is doing a great deal to foster that habit and when the campaign is ended the results of this beneficial influence will be much more apparent than it is at this period of the contest. Judging from the way in which votes for organizations are coming into the contest department the friends and members of the lodges and societies nominated are doing some mighty effective work. One thing, however, is certain, it is not going to be a walk-away for any one particular organization or individual. Who has carried off the bonus prizes for January? That is the question that is uppermost in the minds of the women districts. On January 23, at noon, the tale is to be told. Then after the prizes are distributed comes the February bonus premiums. The M. & M. voting contest always has something good in view for the nominees up to the final day, March 22. Come up to the contest department, 224 Bee building, and let the contest manager tell you all about the M. & M. voting contest. It's worth your while. The phone is Douglas 3118.

W. F. Taylor Arrested on Forgery Charge

W. F. Taylor, 63 North Fifteenth street, was arrested by Detectives Sullivan and Leahy upon a charge of forgery. The total of the checks passed by Taylor will likely be several hundred dollars. He is a single man 40 years of age and has been following the trade of paperhanger. The checks were made payable to him and bore the forged names of James P. Naveille and J. B. Robinson. Those so far collected by the police are made out in amounts as follows: Harry Olsen, $2.65; Omaha Wall Paper company, $1.00; Bert Mosher, $4; Tom Harte, $5; Munson & Anderson, $4.60. Furs furs, furs, now selling at just off price. Julius Orkin, 1518 Douglas street.

Lady Moosers Sore Because Neglected

Local lady bull moosers are stamping their tiny feet in righteous indignation because the progressive party inveigled them into selling season tickets to the bull moose lectures under the promise that fifteen minutes or more would be devoted at each lecture to eulogy of the equal suffrage campaign, and at the very first meeting Bainbridge Colby, the speaker, forgot the party pledge. "Well, of all things," said a suffragist, "and we sold enough tickets to fill the hall," said another.

A prominent bull mooser, who attended the Paxton meeting Wednesday night, said: "The women are sorer than wet hens. And why shouldn't they be? We promised to talk suffrage for fifteen minutes or more, and Colby barely referred to the suffrage campaign in this state."

Men Seeking Work Scarce in Omaha

That the army of unemployed in Omaha is not as strong as has been made out by many was forcibly brought to the attention of the Union Pacific officials, who this week had to thoroughly scour the city to find eighty men to take to the fields of North Platte, where the Union Pacific has started its annual ice harvest.

SPRINGFIELD PASTOR HAS ACCEPTED CALL TO OMAHA

Rev. Arthur J. Morris, pastor of the First Baptist church of Springfield, O., has accepted a call to the pulpit of the Immanuel Baptist church of this city and will resign from the Springfield church February 8, preparatory to coming to Omaha. Rev. Mr. Morris is one of the powerful preachers in the Baptist church in Ohio and the spirit of harmony and good fellowship which he maintained between himself and his congregation during the seven years he occupied the Springfield pulpit was one of the reasons for the unanimous call to the Immanuel church here. The congregation at Springfield is sojourning to permit Mr. Morris to come to Omaha, and it will hold a meeting after prayer meeting this week to take some action on the resignation. Until such action is taken it will not be definitely known whether Mr. Morris will be able to come.

DUKE COMES TOO LATE TO SEE THE TORNADO SHOW

"Yes, we do some implement business even in a little town like Beemer," said Duke Miller of that little village, attending the convention of implement dealers in Omaha. "I sold thirty-eight wagons myself this fall." Beemer is a village in Cumming county of a scant 200 inhabitants. "I was so darned busy," said Miller, "that I had to wait till now to come to see the wreckage of the tornado." "But we have been busy, too," an Omaha man told him, "and the result is that there is no tornado wreckage to see now, and hasn't been for practically six months. While you have been selling thirty-eight wagons we have been rebuilding thousands of homes wrecked in the tornado. You are late, Duke; you are late. Go back and sell more wagons. This is no tornado show."

REPORTS HIS PURSE WAS STOLEN, THEN DENIES IT

Walter De Lue, Denver, Colo., appeared at police headquarters Wednesday night with the information that he had been held up and robbed of a purse containing $10 at Twelfth and Pacific streets.

De Lue later broke down, declaring he had not lost any money, but thought by telling such a tale the police might out of pity secure a ticket for him to Chicago, where his mother is seriously ill. He asserts his true name is De Lue and that he is a son of Leonard De Lue, a police inspector of the Denver force. On the strength of this he was given quarters in the matron's department, while communication with his father is being made by the police here.

EXPERT TO PLAY CHESS HERE SATURDAY NIGHT

At the rooms of the Omaha Chess and Checker club, on the third floor of the Continental block, Saturday evening, Mark M. Pamer, one of the organization's strong players, will undertake to defeat all comers simultaneously. Any and all chess players in the city are invited to take a board against Mr. Pamer. Last Saturday night LaRue Williams, a club member, played ten boards simultaneously. He won seven games, lost two and one was a draw.
