THE necessity for spending a great deal of time and attention to the details of her attire is fully realized by the woman of today. It is surprising, indeed, when one stops to think "Just how much is the estimate of a new acquaintance based on the appearance that she makes?" The reply to this query would be appalling to the woman who gives scant attention to the subject of dress. According to some, they proclaim her defects, virtues and her frame of mind. Vanity, economy, refinement—in fact, the whole gamut of characteristics may be expressed. Sometimes it is simply a bow of ermine, a flaming rose, a trim set of cuffs and collar, a pert stick-up, a feather fastened at an amazing angle, a manish shirtwaist or a demure bonnet that is all that is required to cast the "decisive vote."

Along with the question of what to wear is the question of how to wear one's clothes? It is delightful to have pretty clothes, but it is even more delightful to know how to wear them to the best advantage. There is a dangerous tendency toward stooping shoulders in the limp, picturesque styles now in vogue. Of what use is it to have a dainty blouse if one stoops so that it wrinkles or sags, or to have a handsome gown if you stand so badly that its graceful lines are ruined? "What's in a dress?" A great deal, it is affirmed.

Laxative For Old People—"Cascarets"

Salts, Calomel and Pills act on Liver and Bowels like pepper acts in Nostrils—Danger! Get a 10-cent box now. Most old people must give to the bowels some regular help, else they suffer from constipation. The condition is perfectly natural. It is just as natural as it is for old people to walk slowly. For age is never so active as youth. The muscles are less elastic. And the bowels are muscular. So all old people need Cascarets. One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect this gentle aid to weak bowels. The bowels must be kept active. This is important at all ages, but never so much as at fifty.

Age is not a time for harsh physics. Youth may occasional whip the bowels into activity. But a lash can't be used every day. What the bowels of the old need is a gentle and natural tonic. One that can be constantly used without harm. The only such tonic is Cascarets, and they cost only 10 cents per box at any drug store. They work while you sleep.—Advertisement.

Fashion Hint

By LA RAconteuse.

A clamoring horde of school children trudge upstairs to the third floor of the public library yesterday to take advantage of the Fine Arts society's invitation to view its fifth annual art exhibit free. There were 250 of them, by actual count, they came from Clinton Hill, Monmouth Park and Miller Park schools. "Ge! ain't that swell," one of the youngsters exclaimed, viewing a $2.50 painting. "That's even better than our teacher 'in paint, an' she's some fine painter, too."

"I should think that Injun would get cold standing out there in the forest with hardly no clothes on," another of the kiddies ventured, upon seeing "Prayer to the Water God," one of the favorites of the exhibit.

"And there's a picture of a girl combing her hair, just like my sister does for half an hour every morning," a bright-eyed boy observed. "And say, guys, if there ain't a kid with more fiery hair than Patsy O'Brien, our red-haired runner?"

The children enjoyed the paintings immensely, the teachers said. Other schools will have a similar opportunity every morning during this week and next, says Mrs. Charles T. Koutze, chairman of the exhibit committee. Admission will also be free to the general public Thursday evening.

Albert Rothery will lecture at the exhibit Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Public Spirit Shown By Presbyterians at the Commercial Club

What might have been an ordinary church dinner was turned into a rousing, boisterous banquet for a bigger and a better Omaha, through the enterprise of the committee in charge and the public spirit displayed by the several prominent citizens who made addresses, and the 155 men who were present at the gathering of First Presbyterian church men at the Commercial club last evening.

The enthusiasm started with the dinner itself, which included everything from soup to cigars, with halves of spruce chicken sandwiched in, and was well worth $15.00, but for which only four bits was charged. Then C. M. Wilhelm, toastmaster of the evening, introduced Robert H. Manley, new commissioner of the Commercial club, and the spirit of boastfulness forthwith spread rapidly.

"It is recognized," he said, "that the church seeks the betterment of conditions in the city. Getting together and striving earnestly to bring about this betterment will accomplish wonders for Omaha."

"The mission of the church is to build up men and women of character who will prove to be the city's greatest asset," said Nelson H. Loomis, solicitor general of the Union Pacific and an elder of the church. "The church's mission is not so much to prepare people for a future state of happiness, as to prepare them for present usefulness in the community."

John L. Kennedy laid stress on the necessity of the church keeping pace with the rapid material progress of Omaha. Charles E. Black, king of Ak-Sar-Ben; A. V. Pease of Fairbury and N. M. Howard of the First Congregational church spoke of the efforts of churchmen to better the community, and alluded to the plans of the First Presbyterian church to build a magnificent new edifice at Thirty-fourth and Farnam streets as a step marking the progress of the city.

Rev. Edwin Hart Jenks, pastor of the church, expressed his unbounded confidence in the prosperous future ahead of Omaha people and institutions. The evening's activity was enlivened by considerable singing of Omaha booster songs from the Commercial club's "hymnal" by the men. Vocal solos were sung by George R. Johnson and W. H. Hunt and the whole gathering was characterized by lots of good fellowship.

Funeral services for Rev. J. W. Jennings will be held Friday afternoon, 2 o'clock, at Trinity Methodist Episcopal church. The body will arrive here that morning and will lie in state at the church until the time of the services, which will be in charge of Rev. Thomas Hittell, assisted by Rev. H. H. Millard of Norfolk and Rev. C. C. Wells of Gothenburg. Interment will be at Forest Lawn cemetery.

The pallbearers will be Rev. W. H. Underwood, Rev. C. N. Dawson, Rev. George A. Luce, J. H. Bexton, Martin Waugh and C. W. De Lematre.

She Darkened Her Gray Hair

A Kansas City Lady Darkened Her Gray Hair and Stimulated Its Growth by a Simple Home Process.

She Tells How She Did It. A well-known resident of Kansas City, Mo., who darkened her gray hair by a simple home process, made the following statement: "Any lady or gentleman can darken their gray or faded hair, stimulate its growth and make it soft and glossy with this simple recipe, which they can mix at home. To half pint of water add 1 oz. of bay rum, 1 small box of Barbo Compound and 1/4 oz. of glycerine. These ingredients can be purchased at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair every other day until the gray hair is darkened sufficiently, then every two weeks. This mixture relieves scalp troubles and is excellent for dandruff and falling hair. It does not stain the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off. It will make a gray haired person look 10 to 20 years younger."—Advertisement.

To Push Protest Against Bloom

The Anti-Saloon league and the Calvary Baptist church are both to be on hand Thursday morning to protest before the city commission against the renewal of the liquor license of A. F. Bloom to sell liquor at 1402 North Twenty-fourth streets. The Anti-Saloon league asserts it has a lot of evidence against Bloom to show that he has sold liquor in violation of the state law. It is likely that the league will present some of this evidence and put its private detectives on the stand to testify to what their experiences were in Bloom's saloon.

Exhibitors Busy Placing Exhibits for Cement Show

Placing Exhibits for Cement Show

Peter Palmer, president of the Nebraska Cement users' association is in Omaha looking after matters pertaining to the opening of the convention of the association next week. ### BED FELLOWS AT CITY JAIL GET INTO A BAD FIGHT

"It is terrible how some people must always fight," said the jailer at the police station after he had been called to look at an over-night inmate of the institution, all of whose teeth had been knocked out by his fellow. Frank Harris was the aggressor and Rufus Strokins the defendant in a flat fight that ensued from an argument, which the two men started after they had been given lodging for the night at the station. Both live in lodging houses, but had been thrown out because they had no money and so they sought asylum with the authorities. Beds are scarce at the old county jail where the men slept and so the two had to share the same mattress.

Harris thought Omaha ought to have the proposed regional bank in this territory and Strokins differed from him.

HEADACHES

Thousands of men and women suffer from headaches every day, other thousands have headaches every week or every month, and still others have headaches occasionally, but not at regular intervals. The best Doctor is often unable to find the cause of many of these headaches, and in most other cases, knowing the cause, he does not know what will remove it, so as to give permanent cure. All he can do is to prescribe the usual pain relievers, which give temporary relief, but the headache returns as usual, and treatment is again necessary. If you suffer from headaches, no matter what their nature, take Anti-Kamnia Tablets, and the results will be satisfactory in the highest degree. You can obtain them at all druggists in any quantity, 10c worth, 25c worth or more. Ask for A-K Tablets.

SICK-HEADACHES

Sick-headache, the most miserable of all sicknesses, loses its terrors when A-K Tablets are taken. When you feel an attack coming on, take two tablets, and in many cases, the attack will be warded off. During an attack take one A-K Tablet every two hours. The rest and comfort which follow, can be obtained in no other way.

Genuine A-K Tablets bear the K monogram. At all druggists. P. S.—A-K Salve for Skin Diseases.

More "Bread and Butter" Questions Answered by the Domestic Science Expert Question—Why do domestic science teachers approve "Glendale"? Answer—Because we teach good housekeeping. That means getting the best and most for the money. Q.—How does "Glendale" give that? A.—It is every bit as good as butter—pure, wholesome, nutritious, palatable—and costs much less. Q.—How do you know it's pure and wholesome? A.—Because it has been tested in every known way by all food experts everywhere and always proves up. There's no mystery about it—no secrets in it. Q.—Exactly what is "Glendale" made of? A.—It's made of the same choice animal fats you eat every day in other forms, with pure cream, butter and salt—nothing else. Q.—Why do you say it's so palatable? A.—Because the most finicky eaters like it, and think it's fancy butter if you don't tell them. Q.—What is the saving on "Glendale"? A.—At least a third in price per pound; more in actual practice. It is always uniform in quality, so there's no waste—nothing to throw away. A third saved on every pound makes a good many dollars a year that you can buy other things with. Q.—Is there any reason why we shouldn't all use "Glendale"? A.—None except prejudice against "substitutes" for butter. "Glendale" isn't a "substitute". It stands alone on its merits. Armour and Company deserve credit for putting out such a good article and telling the plain truth about it. Armour's "Glendale" Butterine wins the food buyers who know. Therefore the leading dealers in this community have arranged with Armour and Company to have "Glendale" for you all the year 'round. They will always have it fresh, pure and wholesome. Their names will appear in this paper February 7th. ARMOUR & COMPANY
