Nomineees in M. and M. Contest Making a Very Good Showing

The nominees in the M. & M. voting contest, who live in the outside towns, are making a remarkably good showing. The free trip to Chicago is the chief incentive. Just who will comprise the jolly party that leaves Omaha on this delightful trip is hard to predict. So far no one of the young ladies competing has a "walk-away." Whoever wins will have the satisfaction of knowing that the time has been well spent. This outing will combine pleasure with educational sightseeing. The party will be specially chaperoned, and no effort will be spared to make this trip one of the events of a life-time.

The central committee of the Ancient Order of United Workmen has been putting in some hard work recently. The result of these efforts is to be seen in the large number of votes cast last week McKinley lodge, B'nai B'rith, at its meeting last night pledged its members to work for the $750 cash premium. The Ladies' auxilliary could use it very nicely. This is a new society in the contest with which the other organizations will have to reckon

The general interest among organizations is increasing. The fair, clear-cut sales plan on which The Bee's M. & M. voting contest is modeled, appeals to those who have investigated. The fact that not a cent is required to enter the contest-not a cent of extra charge on the goods that carry a voting valueplace this big sales plan in a class by itself. Fairness to all and an equal op portunity to each nominee, is the slogan that has made the M. & M. voting contest popular with the buying public of Omaha and the surrounding territory. A number of important changes will be made this week in the voting value of the various products. The new values will be effective Monday.

The services of the contest manager are at the disposal of nominees from 8:30 a. m, until 5 p. m. every week day excepting Monday. The office is 224 Bee building; the phone-Douglas 3119.

EVIDENCE IS CONTRADICTORY

Saloon Keeper Charges Anti-Saloon League with False Testimony.

WHISKY NOT BOUGHT THERE Bloom Insists He Never Sold the

Brand of Liquor Which Agents UNDERWEAR of League Say They Purchased in Saloon. Union suits and two-piece sey fittings; Kelley's

Flatly contradictory evidence was offered before the city council, sitting as an excise board to hear the protests of the Calvary Baptist church and the Anti-Saloon league on the granting of a liquor license to Joel Bloom, 1402 North Twentyfourth street. E. H. Wigg and L. H. Willeford, for the protestants, said under oath that they purchased Sunnybrook rye at the Bloom saloon after $ o'clock. Under oath Bloom said he did not now sell, nor had he sold for a year, Sunnybrook rye or any of the other brands of whisky offered as evidence.

By unanimous vote the council, at the afternoon session, declared the evidence did not sustain the protest and the license was ordered issued. Attorneys for the Anti-Saloon league gave notice of

J. A. Maxwell appeared as a witness 19.32 for the protestant. Bloom and his brother, Pete Bloom, formerly his bartender, were the only witnesses summoned by the applicants.

Is a Landmark. This saloon has been at 1402 North Twenty-fourth street for nearly twenty years, according to the testimony, and there has been a protest from the Calvary Baptist church nearly every year. Bloom grew angry on the stand, charg ing the representatives of the Anti-Saloon league with "telling the biggest lies he had ever heard."

RAILROADS AGREE ON HOMESEEKERS' RATES

Railroads in the different passenger associations have all agreed upon the homescekers' rates during the coming season, but they are restricted to some extent as compared with those in force during former years.

In Western association territory there will be no rates from interior points. Missouri river towns will continue to sell to the Pacific coast and into Texas. It is understood that most of the rates into the British northwest will be eliminated.
