

EGGS AND BUTTER GO DOWN

Both Products Take Slide to Lower Market Valuation.

OTHER STAPLES ABOUT SAME

Groceries and Vegetables Experience No Noticeable Fluctuation and Likely to Hold Their Own Until Spring.

While several thousand housewives and other inhabitants of Omaha interested in the high cost of living grinned with sly, the price of butter and eggs took another slide down the price chute, if they continued to take the toboggan trip it looks as if those staple articles will soon enter into the field of popular prices.

Butter now sells retail for 39 cents, and unless there is a radical change in existing conditions it will be selling for 23 cents within ten days or two weeks. Eggs took a bit bigger jump than butter. The barnyard product is now selling at 23 cents a dozen, which is 4 cents less than the price a week ago. Eggs will also continue to drop.

The open season is responsible in a large way for the reductions in price. The storage men had secured large shipments of butter and eggs preparatory to an era of high price, but the milder weather has forced the price down and the storage men have a large supply of butter and eggs on hand at the present time.

The foreign butter has been a large influence in reducing the price of butter. The shipments from Australia, New Zealand and Denmark are arriving in this country every day and commission firms even as far inland as this city have received shipments. As a result the price has dropped.

All other articles remain about the same in price. Flour, sugar, coffee, meats, fruits, vegetables, all are about the same and are expected to remain that way.

Creighton Uni to Observe Founders' Day on Saturday

Creighton university students and the faculty will celebrate founder's day in honor of Edward and Count John A. Creighton, founder's of the university. A holiday has been declared and no classes will be held in any of the five departments. Clinic at the dental college will remain open.

A special solemn high mass will be celebrated at St. John's church, Twenty-fifth and California street, at 9 o'clock in the morning. The mass will be attended by the 500 students of the arts college in a body. Rev. James W. McCarthy, pastor of St. Peter's church, will act as celebrant of the mass.

PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS

Mrs. J. F. Dale and daughters, the Misses Martha and Dorothy, returned Wednesday from Hartford, Conn., where they went to spend the holidays with Mr. Dale, who is there on business.

HALF DAY SESSIONS ARE HELD IN THE SCHOOLS

Owing to the cold weather half day sessions are being held in the public schools, the majority of the principals dismissing at noon. No trouble in heating the buildings was experienced, but the parents objected to their children going through the unusual cold.

Kugel Plans to Give the Social Service Board More Power

Enforcement of the law prohibiting spitting on sidewalks and in public places will be secured through the passage of an ordinance augmenting the powers of the social service board.

Police Commissioner A. C. Kugel, following a conference with the board members, gave his sanction to such an ordinance and Chairman T. F. Sturgess of the board will draft it.

The social service board complains that it is unable to enforce laws and has complained particularly of the spitting habit in theaters, public buildings and on sidewalks.

Wind Twists Heavy Gangway Around

As a result of the high wind the frame gangway erected in front of the new building of the Omaha Printing company, Thirteenth and Farnam streets, was twisted around about 12 o'clock Friday morning, so that street cars were blocked and passengers had to walk the rest of their way or else take different cars.

When the heavy structure was wrested from its place it narrowly missed several people who had their heads lowered on account of the cold. With the aid of a wrecking crew, the street was cleared and traffic was again resumed.

HOW MUCH HEAT WILL YOUR MONEY BUY? And how much Heat are you getting for your dollars? This is one of the vital questions that confronts all coal users, but there is this certainty that your dollars don't buy full heat value if you buy the so-called "cut price" coal, because it stands to reason that "cut price" concerns, operating on limited scale cannot buy quality coal any cheaper or even as cheap as an establishment of the size of the Central Coal & Coke Co. They may claim to give you the highest quality coal procurable, but do they? This question is decided when you figure up at the end of the year and find what your heat has cost you. You are guaranteed of efficient, full and correct weights when we sell you coal.

General Manager Holdrege Thinks Storm Will Not Affect Ranchers. WHEAT FIELDS ARE BENEFITED

Snow Covers Good Portion of Western Nebraska and Growing Grain is Being Protected.

General Manager Holdrege of the Burlington came in from the west this morning and states that the storm has been general all the way from Denver to Omaha, with below zero temperatures all along the line. Mr. Holdrege is of the opinion that the snow will be of great benefit to the winter wheat and that when it melts the moisture will leave the ground in perfect condition.

How in among the blades will remain. This means that every wheat field is covered with a blanket of snow as deep as the wheat is high. It is going to remain there and when it melts every drop of moisture will seep into the ground.

Relative to some talk that stock losses on the range will be considerable on account of the storm and the cold, Mr. Holdrege asserted that there is nothing to such rumors, adding: "Winter Has Been Mild."

"The winter has been so mild that cattle, and in fact all animals, both on the range and in the pastures and lots are in the best of condition. They are well prepared to stand bad weather in the event it should continue a long time. Then, too, this year there is plenty of coarse feed, and up to this time little of it has been used. Should the weather continue cold and should the snow become deep this feed will be given to the animals, and there is no possibility of their going hungry. Ranchers and stockmen generally have provided shelter, so that during the bad weather the cattle and other animals on the range and in the big pastures are given practically the same care as those on the smaller farms in the eastern part of the state and over in Iowa. My judgment is that if even bad weather should continue losses would not be worth mentioning. There was never a winter before when stockmen were so well prepared for caring for animals as now."

General Manager Walters of the North-western says that no matter what the weather may be there will be little stock loss along the company line in Nebraska, South Dakota and Wyoming. He adds: "All along our lines the cattle and sheep men prepared for a hard winter. Since the experience of several winters ago they do this now every fall. Now they put up plenty of hay and conserve their winter range. This having been done, there is no possibility of the losses reaching the minimum of most of the former winters."
