

KODAK LURE DRAWS MANY

Opening Night of Exhibition Brings Crowd to Auditorium.

STUCHELL'S LECTURE PLEASURES

Illustrated Talk Given with Views Taken with Camera for Amateurs Proves Revelation to Onlookers.

With over 200 photographic prints so remarkably artistic and attractive that they alone comprise a notable art exhibition well worth going to see, and with interesting traveling and motion pictures accompanied by instructive lectures, together with demonstrations of tank development of films and plates, and printing of pictures on Velox paper by artificial light, the $250,000 kodak exhibition opened at the Auditorium last evening with an attendance of well over 1,000 people.

It is a safe wager that many Omahans will soon kodak and let the children kodak, for to see the wonders and beauties of the work of amateur photographers displayed at the exhibit is to want to go and do likewise. And persons who already have become camera enthusiasts will probably be even more so, now that this exhibition is here to emphasize the possibilities for pleasure and profit which the art presents.

Wide Range of Views. The display of photographs, all beautifully toned enlargements, mostly the work of amateurs, rivals in pictorial interest and artistic appeal the best of regular art exhibits. The subjects included in the collection range from tropic wilds to arctic snows, animals to aquatic, athletics to architecture, landscapes and flowers to frontier and Indians, marines to mountains, children to commerce.

Throughout the exhibit nothing is offered for sale, and visitors are not even urged to use the goods demonstrated. Even the admission to the big affair is free to all who present tickets that are given away by kodak dealers. The Eastman Kodak company, under whose auspices the exhibition is presented, is said to have spent over a quarter of a million dollars in making and producing it, and depends upon the natural lure of the art, as illustrated in the collection of pictures, for the reward of that expenditure.

The Daily Program.

The daily program of illustrated travelogues and motion pictures, to be given at 2 and 4:15 o'clock, was begun last night by Dr. William Torrence Stuchell, a veteran globe-trotter, who delivered his illustrated talk on "The Kodak in Many Lands." All his slides are made from amateur photographs, and show points of interest in a trip around the world. This afternoon he will lecture on "The Kodak at Home," and will show many portraits and views of home life.

An interesting and amusing motion film, "Camp Brownie," was also shown last evening, and will be repeated this afternoon. Children are admitted to the exhibition, if accompanied by older persons, but all must have tickets. The Auditorium is open daily from 2 till 10 o'clock, and the exhibit will remain throughout the week, with a different program of lectures each day. Among the subjects to be discussed by Dr. Stuchell and illustrated on the screen are "Out in the Open," "Photography and Play" and "Young America and the Kodak." "A Kodak Honeymoon" is the subject of one of the movie reels.

A large staff of camera, lens and lantern experts, and developing and printing demonstrators and assistants is attached to the exhibition. The presentation of pictures on the screen is particularly smooth and skillful, which combined with Dr. Stuchell's pleasing lectures makes that part of the entertainment unusually attractive.

Throughout last evening, crowds of interested amateurs centered around the demonstration booths, gathering information concerning the successful finishing of films and prints without a dark room, by the kodak method. The appointments of the picture display are quite elaborate and expensive, making that department of the exhibit especially enjoyable. The cabinets in which the pictures are hung have a lineal extent of 40 feet around the four sides of the big building, and down its center. Each picture is framed, and the cabinets, frames and hangings all harmonize in a beautiful blending of turned oak, sage gray repp and velvet drapery. A special lighting system emphasizes the elegance and charm of the artistic assembly.

To Mandamus City to Give Contract for Hose to Low Bidder

John Paul Breen, appearing for the Austin-Dacon Manufacturing company, threatens the city commission with mandamus proceedings to compel the commission to let the contract for furnishing the city with 10,000 feet of fire hose to this company on the ground that the company was lowest bidder.

The contract has already been awarded, each of the several competing companies being awarded a contract for some of the hose.

Breen says the mandamus will be applied for on Friday.

City Purchasing Agent Richard Grotte said:

"We are under no obligation to let the contract to the lowest bidder."

H. W. Whitnell, commissioner of the fire department, said the contract was let to several companies because the council desired to test the value of the different makes of fire hose.

Merit business men and others testified as character witnesses for Sharkey and Osborne, who took the stand in their own defense. Beginning Today "Nobby Tread" Tires will be sold under our regular warranty—perfect workmanship and material—BUT any adjustment will be on a basis of

5,000 Miles

This applies also to all "Nobby Tread" Tires now in service on automobiles.

The "Nobby Tread" Tire was placed upon the market in 1909—it was built regardless of price competition, and built to accomplish two purposes:

- No. 1—To give American automobile owners the lowest "cost per mile" tire that could be built. No. 2—To give American automobile owners a real anti-skid tire.

The inherent wear-resisting quality—the quantity of rubber—the quantity of fabric—the methods of construction—all have been rigidly maintained in "Nobby Tread" Tires, and maintained regardless of cost and regardless of price competition.

The result is that—today, through sheer merit alone, "Nobby Tread" Tires are the largest selling high-grade anti-skid tires in the world.

But more than this—solely through their day in and day out mileage records, "Nobby Tread" Tires have proved that they are the most inexpensive tires in the end.

Therefore, based solely on their mileage records of over four years, "Nobby Tread" Tires can be, and now are, placed on this 5,000-mile basis of adjustment.

This applies to each and every "Nobby Tread" Tire in service on automobiles today or unsold in dealers' stock anywhere in the United States, carrying our regular warranty.
