BARTEE IS DENIED CLEMENCY

Douglas County Convict Not Given Release, as Prayed For.

HELD FOR STABBING A FRIEND

Former Commander of National Guard at Alton Asks and Secures Release from Mine Guard Duty.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Neb., Feb. 16.—(Special.)—William BarTEE, a convict sent up from Douglas county for second degree murder and serving a fifteen-year sentence, will not receive executive clemency if the governor takes the recommendation of the pardon board as final.

BarTEE was received at the pen April 22, 1906, and with good time allowance would be entitled to freedom August, 1913. He was sent up for killing Henry Brown in a resort run by Vic Duncan. It is alleged that the two men, who were friends, went to the resort in an intoxicated condition, and while there, quarrelled. BarTEE told Brown if he had a knife he would cut him up. BarTEE took a knife from his pocket, and after sharpening it on his shoe, handed it to BarTEE and told him to cut him up if he wanted to, and the latter grabbed the knife and jumped on Brown, stabbing him until he died.

The board considers that the prisoner is not entitled to clemency, and recommends that none be shown him by the executive.

George W. Osborn of Dodge county, who was convicted of second degree murder and given fifteen years, also asks clemency. He was received at the penitentiary December 30, 1910.

Osborn killed a man named Hector in Fremont, but was so drunk at the time that he had no remembrance of the crime. However, there was sufficient evidence to convict him. He lived for years in Blair. The board recommends that no clemency be shown Osborn.

Days Back to Nebraska

Guarding mines during the strike in Colorado did not appeal to Captain Leon H. Davis, formerly commander of a company of the National Guard at Alton in this state, who went to Colorado and enlisted in the National Guard of that state and was sent to guard the mines as a sergeant of a Colorado company.

Captain Davis wrote Adjutant General Hall of the Nebraska guard that he wanted to come back to Nebraska and his family, and asked the adjutant general to intercede with General Chase of the Colorado guard for his discharge. This morning General Hall received a letter from General Chase that he had listened to the pleadings of the Nebraska official and Sergeant Davis had been discharged and allowed to go back to his family in Nebraska.

New Deal on Game Laws

People who persist in fracturing the game laws of the state will have an opportunity to explain why they did so to the federal government from now on. Under the new law violations of the game law will be handled by the federal officials when an appeal is made by the state game warden and it is not likely that violators of the law will find it very easy adding when the government officials get after them. Such is the instruction received by Game Warden Rutenbeck this morning from W. F. Bancroft of the government service.

Controversy Over Deed

A deed recently issued to F. A. Warner under a contract by the commissioner of public lands of the state will be the bone of contention in court in a few days. When the time came for which a deed could be given Mr. Warner made application for the deed and made the usual showing as to payments, etc., and the deed was issued. Since the deed was sent out Williamson & Fisher, a Lincoln real estate firm, made application for a deed and for the same property and made a showing that they had been paying the rental on the land under the contract for several years. The land lies across the road from the farm on which Mr. Warner resides, in Deuel county. Williamson & Fisher have notified the land commissioner that they will begin court proceedings to have the deed issued to Warner set aside and a new deed made out to them.

LIBEL CHARGE FOR CARSON

Windsor Hotel Man at Lincoln Brings Criminal Accusation.

ANTI-SALOONIST GIVES BOND

Abraham Cease of Hastings Sentenced to Year in Federal Prison on White Slave Charge.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK MARKET

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, Feb. 16.—(Special Telegram.)—H. C. Carson, superintendent of the State Anti-Saloon league, was arrested this afternoon charged with criminal libel in connection with the charge filed by him against Chief of Police James Malone for laxity in enforcing the laws against prostitution, cigarette selling and gambling. The charge was made by J. S. Poll, landlord of the Windsor hotel, who closed the building November 27 last after it had been suitably rebuilt and renovated by the owner, Prof. August Hageweg.

Carson made the charge that the hotel was used by women soliciting on the streets as headquarters, and that detectives in the employ of Carson had been invited to the hotel. It is said, however, that these occurrences took place before Poll took charge of the place.

Carson was taken in charge by Sheriff Myers and his deputies and in county court was released on a $200 bond, which he furnished himself.

Several churches in Lincoln at their services yesterday endorsed the action of Superintendent Carson of the Anti-Saloon league in getting after the police department of Lincoln.

Year for White Slavery

Pleading guilty to the charge of white slavery Abraham Cease of Hastings was sentenced to serve one year in the Adams county jail on recommendation of District Attorney Howell.

Cease promised when he got out to support his two children and do better. He was charged with having taken a divorced woman, Stella Bourlier, to St. Joseph and then to Marshalltown, Ia., for immoral purposes. Mrs. Bourlier has $2,000 received at the time of her divorce, but when found it had all disappeared but $900.

A section of land is offered on which the mill stands at $10 an acre. Frank Brown, editor of the Kearney Times, called on the Board of Control today and made the offer.

Two hundred acres of the tract offered is in alfalfa and all but ten acres can be cultivated.

LEVER BILL OF INTEREST TO FARMERS OF NEBRASKA

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Feb. 16.—(Special.)—As soon as the house and senate committees agree on the details of the Lever bill the amounts to be received by Nebraska for county demonstration work will be tabulated and announced by Carson Hil-dreth of the Agricultural Development commission. The Lever bill has been championed by the bankers and the business men of the state.

The bill passed the senate by a vote of 177 to 5. After certain amendments were made the bill passed the senate by unanimous vote. The senate doubled the various amounts provided by the house bill. As soon as the measure emerges from the conference committee the sums available for Nebraska can be computed.

As to the scope of the bill the measure provides the following: That co-operative agricultural extension work shall consist of the giving of instruction and practical demonstration in agriculture and home economics to persons not attending or residents in said colleges in the several communities, and imparting to such persons information on said subjects through field demonstrations, publications and otherwise; and this work shall be carried on in such manner as may be mutually agreed by the secretary of agriculture and the state agricultural college or colleges receiving the benefits of the act.

A Book of Value And of Beauty; in Blue and White and Gold

SUCH IS THE ECONOMY ADMINISTRATION COOK BOOK which has been written by 450 of America's most notable women. Nearly all of these women come from the great middle class where economy and industry flourish and where good house-keeping had its origin. The combined experience of these 450 good housekeepers is set down in this wonderfully clever and attractive volume—a work which will stand for all time a towering monument to the kindly help of these generous women.

THE ADMINISTRATION ECONOMY BOOK is dedicated to Mrs. Woodrow Wilson—the First Lady of the Land—who is a living exponent of the oft repeated claim that "higher education does not unfit women for domestic life." In the preparation of this unique culinary text book, which by the way, first saw the light of day at the White House, where it appeared among the most highly prized gifts of the bride—Mrs. Francis B. Sayre—the editors who assisted the ladies of the administration in preparing the book were inspired by the example of Martha Jefferson Randolph, who thought she could do the greatest good to the women of her time by giving them "Hints on Household Management," which she did in a little volume entitled "The Virginia Housewife," a copy of which has recently found its way into the official archives at Washington. The volume is attractive as well as eminently practical and is proof that good cooking and high thinking go hand in hand in long established households.

SPEAKING OF THE BOOK MRS. MARSHALL, wife of the Vice-President, says: "It is successful in suggesting to the average housewife, how, with a diminishing food supply, she can, not only keep the roses in the children's cheeks, but live within her husband's income."

One of the most interesting features of the book is the recipes contributed in facsimile from the cook book of the President's mother, which Mrs. Joseph E. Wilson, wife of the President's only brother, treasures and to whose ready discernment of its historic and culinary value the Administration Economy Book is a living tribute.

Mrs. Oscar W. Underwood, wife of the Democratic leader of the house of representatives, gives her opinion in a nutshell when she says, "It is the mission of every wise woman to give such attention to the food, rest and recreation of her husband as will insure his good health, and through it, his success in the world."

MRS. BRYAN, WIFE OF THE PREMIER OF THE CABINET, contributes her recipes for the strawberry conserve and cucumber relish, for which she is noted among her friends. Both are favorite dishes of Mr. Bryan.

Mrs. Lindley M. Garrison, wife of the secretary of war, famous for her sensible dishes and dinners, contributes a valuable portion of her experience for the benefit of every family purse.

Mrs. Enloe, wife of the postmaster general, tells the White House bride—and others, too—how to make "the best cornbread in the world." Of course, she calls it Texas cornbread, in memory of the waving corn-lands in her native state.

Mrs. Houston, wife of the secretary of agriculture, noted for the good health of her immediate family, gives a valuable hint in the remark, "We are never without baked apples in our home," and contributes her recipe for preparing the dish "for breakfast" and "for dinner." And so on down through the whose long list of notable women.

Through the whole wonderful book the thread of common sense, economy and right living runs, showing that one can "live content with small means, seek elegance rather than luxury, refinement, rather than fashion, be wealthy, not rich, study hard, think quietly, talk gently and act frankly."
