

WORDS OF OTHER MEANING

Mrs. Edholm Parries Carl Herring Over Subtle Distinctions.

CAME HERE FOR A DIVORCE

Court Suggests Herring Abandon Effort to Have Mrs. Edholm Admitted State of Mind Might Affect the Issue.

Encounters between Mrs. Katherine R. J. Edholm, testifying in her husband's divorce suit in Judge Sutton's district court, and Attorney Carl E. Herring of counsel for Albert Edholm, the Jeweler, in which subtle distinctions in the meanings of words were the ammunition, interested a crowd of spectators yesterday.

Mrs. Edholm, who formerly taught elocution and English, refused to allow Mr. Herring to put shades of meaning into expressions when she felt they should not be there. Once she denied that she became "mad" at Mr. Edholm, but said she was "sad and indignant."

At a time when, she said, she feared Mr. Edholm had "kidnaped" their daughter she went to the railway station because she knew she "could arrest him there." She explained that she meant she could "arrest his progress" or stop him.

Mrs. Edholm declared that Mr. Edholm expounded to their daughter Christian Science doctrine as follows: "Honey, dear, if you did not think you were sick you would not be so ill." He made the child weep, and the words had, she thought, an injurious effect, both mental and physical, upon her.

Efforts of Mr. Herring, who is a reader in the local Christian Science church, to secure from her an admission that she believed the state of the mind might affect the body, were baffled by her and were finally abandoned at the suggestion of the court.

Mrs. Edholm testified that she came to Omaha to secure a divorce, but that she had expected to remain here even before she became engaged to Mr. Edholm. She came here from her home in New York.

Rabbi Cohn to Have Special Services on Tenth Anniversary

In celebration of the tenth anniversary of Rabbi Frederick Cohn's pastorate at Temple Israel a special service will be conducted there Friday evening. Preceding the ceremony there will be a musical program and among the selections will be "Memories" on the organ by V. C. Bennett and violin solos by Helen Sommer. Rabbi Cohn will preach a sermon dealing with his service in the church during the last decade. Following will be a reception by the sisterhood of the congregation for Rabbi and Mrs. Cohn.

Temple Israel is the second congregation Rabbi Cohn has presided over since he graduated from the Hebrew Union college at Cincinnati in 1884. His first charge was at Fort Wayne, Ind., where he stayed for eight years. Since coming to Omaha he has been repeatedly called upon to address meetings on various topics and has been an active worker in behalf of the poorer classes. He is president of the advisory board of the Associated Charities and also a member of the directorate of the Jewish Hospital and the Wise Memorial hospital.

During the last four months Rabbi Cohn has attracted considerable attention with a series of lectures he is giving on religion. The attendance at Temple Israel on these occasions has been large and enumerated all classes and creeds of people. He will give the next of the series March 27, and it will be entitled "Religion of Science," dealing with the respect that scientific followers pay to divinity.

Rabbi Frederick Cohn was born at Attleboro, Mass., August 24, 1872. After graduating from the local schools there he entered the University of Cincinnati, where he received both bachelor of arts and master of arts degrees. He later entered the Hebrew Union college in the same city, where he graduated as a rabbi. In 1897 he earned a degree of doctor of philosophy at the University of Nebraska.

U. P. May Send Out Some Potatoes to Advertise State

Just as an advertising proposition the Union Pacific is considering the expenditure of several thousand dollars in the distribution of Nebraska, Wyoming and Idaho potatoes. The plan is that of Passenger Traffic Manager Fort, who is of the opinion that this distribution of potatoes would be a good advertisement for the company and a still better advertisement for the country tributary to the lines and where the spuds were grown.

If the plan is worked out and put in operation it will mean the distribution by parcel post of not less than 15,000 packages of potatoes. Two to four potatoes, depending upon the size, will be placed in a neat carton and mailed. These cartons will be sent to the company agents in the east and south and to people who it is understood are contemplating moving west.

GANGS GATHER FOR WORK ON NEW WYOMING LINES

Burlington headquarters officials here learn that the contractors who are to construct the Wyoming line from Casper to Orin Junction are gathering their forces preparatory to beginning work. The distance is about seventy miles and it is thought the grading will be completed by July 1 of this year. It is understood that the bridge gang will follow the graders and the track layers will not be far behind.

While the construction on the Wyoming line is not handled by the Omaha officials, they keep in pretty close touch with what is being done. They are of the opinion that the line will be in operation about September 1. It is not believed that construction on the gap between Orin Junction and Guernsey will be begun this year.

Flea Truth That's Worth Money. Using Foley's Honey and Tar for a cough and cold is just practical common sense. It is exactly made to stop a cough and check a cold and it prevents in advance, bronchitis or pneumonia. F. J. McLaughlin, Monmouth, Wis., says: "I am exposed to all kinds of weather and I find Foley's Honey and Tar Compound always fixes me up in good shape when I catch cold or have a bad cough. I recommend it gladly." Refuse substitutes. For sale by all dealers everywhere—Advertisement.

Howard Writes an Open Letter in Response to Pastor Savidge

In the last issue of the Columbus Telegram, its editor, Edgar Howard, printed another installment of correspondence with Rev. Charles W. Savidge, being his reply to the letter addressed to him by the Omaha pastor, already published in The Bee.

"Dear Brother Savidge: In reply to your urgent letter of yesterday I frankly confess responsibility for the article against which you complain, and in defense thereof only the plea that it was written in discharge of my duty as a country editor. My object in writing the article was to warn my readers against the approach of Fainting Bertha and her theatrical manager. Only this very day Fainting Bertha had visited my home country, peddling her shameful scarlet book. At a moment when a good man at Platte Center was ministering to her needs this same Fainting Bertha attempted to rob the cash drawer in the Platte Center depot, that cash drawer being in charge of the man who was in the act of performing a king office for the depraved woman. My duty as a conscientious country editor is to give my readers the benefit of such information as may be acquired regarding Fainting Bertha, so that by aid of the information they may protect their reputations from taint of contact with a professional haw, and their pockets from the touch of the fingers of a thief. I do not know the rule of duty devolving upon editors of great city newspapers, but certain it is that with the country press the rule maintains that it is the duty of the country editor to advise the public of all and every manner of contagion or danger which may menace. I have been gratified to observe in recent times that one of your great daily papers in Omaha has been adopting this country rule by warning the public against the machinations of quack doctors, fake medicines and clairvoyants—three constant affronts to the health, the purse and the lives of the good people of Nebraska ever stood in presence of greater danger to their reputations and their pocketbooks than when confronted by Fainting Bertha? How can words be framed to describe a meaner menace to society than is the theatrical agent who will pick up and capitalize such a character as Fainting Bertha?

"But why, Brother Savidge, should you jump at the conclusion that you were the person referred to when I wrote about Fainting Bertha and her theatrical manager? Your conduct in this matter is so at variance with your accustomed shrinking modesty that I really could not regard your letter to me as genuine had it not appeared upon your own printed letter paper. Indeed, it is difficult for me to believe that the official letter-head is your own product, because I cannot conceive how a minister of the sacred gospel of our Savior could so far debase his high calling as to advertise that he has married 2,900 couples, with the plain inference that he is hungering for the fees attached to more marriage ceremonies. I have often heard you say that you despised a ministry which worked for money, and that you had left a regular pastorate in the Methodist Episcopal church in order that you might be free to preach the gospel of Christ without being listed as a seeker after dollars. Yet this official letter-head on the paper on which the stenographer wrote your letter to me contains the boldest bid for marriage fees that any Christian minister ever disgraced his calling by issuing. It is practically impossible for me to entertain the thought that one of your modest and retiring nature would ever seek dollars as a harvest of marriage fees. Such a thought is so repugnant that I instantly reject it, and as quickly reach the conclusion that some evil person has caused that advertising letter-head to be printed in your name for the purpose of doing you harm.

"And it follows, naturally, that somebody committed forgery when he wrote that letter to the Omaha Bee, attaching your name to the communication. It seems altogether impossible that a man of your retiring and unostentatious nature, with your proverbial aversion to newspaper notoriety, could have written such a letter for the public press.

"So thorough is my acquaintance with you and your ministry, Brother Savidge, that I am fully convinced that you would regard it high privilege to be reviled for the Master's sake, thus being assured the reward of those against whom all manner of evil is said, falsely, for His sake. And I will know that you are so devoted to the cause in which you labor that you would instantly accept as mark of honor, rather than a brand of shame, any and all statements which might be lodged against you in your sacred capacity as a disciple of the lowly Nazarene.

"And so believing, nothing remains for me at this present than to testify my belief that the letter bearing your name, and printed in the Omaha Bee, was a bold forgery, as also, the letter purporting to come to me from your own hand. Very truly, your,

"EDGAR HOWARD."

Tens of Thousands Want a Six Like This

This was conclusively proved at the Omaha automobile show. At the show I closed four retail sales.

The HUDSON Six-40 is the first Six in America to offer these things to car buyers:

- A high-grade Six which undersells any comparable Four.
- A Six which underweighs all Fours of equal size and power.
- A Six which shows less operative cost than Fours of like capacity.

This Six-40 weighs 2,980 pounds certified railway weight. That is 400 pounds less than our last year's Four—the HUDSON "37." It consumes one-fourth less fuel under same conditions. And compared with other Fours anywhere near in this class the difference is as great or greater.

NOTE WHAT THIS MEANS

Here is a Six-40 with the new streamline body—handsomer than any Four on the market today.

It is designed by Howard E. Coffin, who for many years has held first rank among automobile engineers.

It comes from a factory which is among the world's largest builders of Sixes, the factory which builds the HUDSON Six-54, which last year outsold any other Six ever built.

- It has a 123-inch wheelbase—
- The true streamline body—
- Two disappearing tonneau seats—
- Gasoline tank in the cowl dash—
- "One-Man" Pantasote top.
- Quick adjustable side curtains carried in envelope in the top, invisible and without interference with passenger head-room.

The extra tires are carried ahead of the front door. Every device and feature accords with the latest practice. It has the Delco patented system of electric starter and lights. Headlights have dimming attachment. And this car sells for $1,750 f. o. b. Detroit.

ITS ENORMOUS FIELD

Tens of thousands of men have, every year, paid more than this price for Fours. Now comes a Six-40 of the highest grade, at a smaller price, with lesser weight and lower operative cost.

Down to this class, Sixes already have won the field from Fours. Can anyone thing that Fours in this class can compete with this new Six-40?

The evidence is that they can't. The demand for this new car is breaking all HUDSON records.

This car offers dealers a great opportunity. Please write us about it.

Several Robberies Reported to Police for Last Few Nights

Several robberies were reported to the police as having taken place during the last three nights. The Walter G. Clarke company reports that between the hours of 11 and 2 o'clock Tuesday night some nefarious powers broke into the store and, after knocking over a show case, stole twenty revolvers valued at $300 and smaller sporting articles valued at $100.

Mrs. Charles Neveito, 1004 South Thirtieth street, reports that Sunday night thieves stole cigars, tobacco, razors and miscellaneous articles to considerable value. Charles Neveito is at present lodged behind the bars of the city jail, waiting trial before the grand jury on an indictment charge. A week ago Neveito was found out in the street yelling for the fire department, because his place was on fire and investigation proved that coal oil was a means to spread the blaze.

Max Furth, 1706 Clark street, was robbed Monday night of $22, which was safely encased in a savings bank until burglars broke into the house and then broke into the bank.

Mrs. William Quinlan, 428 DeCatur street, reports that silverware, valued at $25 was taken from the premises of her home Monday night.

Novelty Company Buys Fixtures and Stock of the Fair

The Novelty company has bought the stock and fixtures of the Fair store, sold by the receiver in bankruptcy to the highest bidder Monday, and the stock is now being removed to North Sixteenth street and the fixtures will be sold at auction at the Fair store's old stand on Twelfth and Farnam streets, at 10 o'clock Friday morning.

The stock represents every line in wearing apparel for men, women and children and is a tremendous stock and it will be sold by the Novelty company some time next week. The date of sale will be advertised in the newspapers and according to the management of the Novelty company it's the biggest buy they have ever made since the existence of this firm and it is a great victory for the buying public of Omaha and vicinity, as this stock has been bought for less than 40 cents on the dollar. Most of the stock is medium class of goods and of good standard makes and brands, which will give the medium class of Omaha an opportunity to supply themselves for less money than the goods could be manufactured or imported.

BLACK TONY'S FATHER DECLARES SON GOOD BOY

Tony Ciavetta's aged father, Girardo Ciavetta, took the witness stand in the trial of his son on a first degree murder charge and swore that the slayer of Henry E. Nickell was only 15 years old and had always been "a good boy." "He no shoot," the old man declared.

Williams, the leader of the trio of robbers who held up Hazel McVey's resort last January, was exhibited to the jury when he was called to the witness stand and was asked a few questions by counsel for the defense.

It is expected that the case will go to the jury today, the state having rested and the defense having already introduced a considerable part of its evidence.

MISSOURI PACIFIC SAYS WILL PUSH VIADUCT WORK

General Superintendent D'Bernardi of the Missouri Pacific is in town from Kansas City, noting the progress being made of the construction of the Nicholas street viaduct. PEDESTRIAN SMELLS THE TOUCH OF SPRING

Surely the gladness spring has come, for was not a vestige man seen walking down the main thoroughfare of our great city today? He strode with sprightly step also, and now and then lifted his face heavenward to inhale more deeply the bracing air of the mild weather. Moreover, by frequent furtive glances he showed positive signs of spring fever, for at every mall which he passed he searched longingly but in vain for the "hook" sign he felt should be displayed.
