MANY BOWLERS TO TOURNEY

Omaha Will Send a Large Delegation to Kansas City Next Month.

GOLD WATCHES FOR PRIZES

Instead of Conventional Gold Medals for First Honors Fifty-Dollar Engraved Watches Will Take the Place.

On November 27 the Midwest Bowling association will open their sixth annual tournament. The games will be rolled on the Grand alleys, Kansas City, lasting until December 1.

On September 29 the board of directors and a few bowling enthusiasts held a meeting in Kansas City to make plans for this year's bowling event second only to the big American Bowling congress which meets in Toledo, O., next year.

With the increased enthusiasm and the central location, this year's tournament promises to be the best in the history of the association. Teams of five men and many individuals are assured from St. Louis, Des Moines, Omaha, Milwaukee, St. Joseph, Excelsior Springs, Marshalltown, Ia.; Chicago, Sioux City, St. Paul, Denver and many other western cities, which, with an entry of seventy-five teams from Kansas City, should bring the list of five men teams up to 100.

But few changes were made in the rules of the tournament. Gold watches, valued at $50 each, will be given as prizes in the contests this season instead of medals. The entry fee was placed at $5 per man for each event. The contracts for the use of the alleys were drawn up and the officials of the event are now at work on the program. This will be announced at an early date in order that teams from out of the city will know on what dates their matches are scheduled.

Omaha, no doubt, will have the largest attendance at this tournament they have ever had. The following teams have announced their intention of going: Luxus, Hurley Envelope Co., Metz, Old Saxon, Jetter's Old Age, Wroth's Old Boys, Jetter's Gold Tops of South Omaha, Peterson's Kandy Kids of South Omaha, Advos, Booster league team, a team representing the Association alleys and a team representing the Morrison alleys.

It is possible arrangements will be made to have all of the Omaha teams play their games on the same dates so that they may have the use of special cars to and from Kansas City. Secretary Weber is assisting the Omaha end of the tournament, and urges all team captains to send in their entry fee at the earliest possible date. This will greatly facilitate the making up of the schedule.

Ann Arbor Men Go Up Against a Number of Bad Punts, All of Which Prove to Be Disastrous.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Oct. 26.—The Syracuse eleven fought itself this afternoon in the game against the University of Michigan and "Hurry Up" Yost's team was defeated 18 to 7. The game, which was played on a wet field and with a light rain falling, was the most spectacular yet seen here.

Lewis Castle, right halfback of the Orange, was the particular star, making a forty-five-yard run for a touchdown after scooping up the ball and dashing by two Michigan backs. He made another run of thirty yards and one of twenty yards, as well as many short plunges through and around the line.

Seymour, the diminutive Orange right end also shone, making several sensational tackles and receiving one forward pass from Castle for a gain of thirty yards.

For Michigan Captain Thompson and Craig played the best game. Hush and quarter made many fumbles of the ball, who was in at center several times during the game.

The Michigan score had carried their thirty-yard line down gains without losing finally with a three Huel kicked goal.

Nebraska Coach Will Challenge Closest Rival to Post-Season Game.

LOOKS LIKE AGGIES AT FINISH

Ames Appears to Be Strongest Other Team in Valley and Probably Will Have to Meet Cornhuskers for Championship.

BY JAMES E. LAWRENCE. LINCOLN, Oct. 26.—(Special.)—There will be no question as to who is champion of the Missouri valley in football if Coach Ewald O. Stiehm of the University of Nebraska has his way. Provided the Cornhuskers remain in the running until the close of the season, which now seems extremely likely, then Stiehm will issue a challenge to the closest rival for a post-season game to determine the championship.

The Nebraska mentor is determined once and for all to put an end to the quibbling which Des Moines papers carried on last fall at the close of the season on behalf of Ames. Indications now point that Nebraska will challenge the winner of the Ames-Drake game, the post-season contest to be played either in Lincoln or in the Drake stadium at Des Moines. It is pointed out that such a game would attract thousands and help to insure the finances of the college.

The question is pushed to the front by the approach of the Missouri game, which marks Nebraska's first Missouri Valley conference opponent, although Ames saw to it that the Tigers' ambition was promptly nipped in the bud. Nebraska must slide carefully through the Missouri and Kansas games in order to have a shot at the winning team in the Ames-Drake contest.

Owing to the incomplete schedule of the Missouri valley colleges, each year the question of the title to premier football in the valley is always the matter of dispute. Last season, when the Cornhuskers had one of the best teams that ever graced a football field at Nebraska, the Aggies claimed that because Ames had played a tie game early in the season with the Cornhuskers they were entitled to equal rank in the championship award with the Cornhuskers.

Most sporting editors paid little attention to the claims and Nebraska was generally recognized as champion of the valley. Nebraska asked Ames to base the championship on comparative scores, but the Iowa authorities refused. Had the title rested on the comparative scores of the two teams, the Cornhuskers would have won easily.

Nebraska managed to pile up an enormous score against Missouri, while but a week previous to the Nebraska-Missouri game, Ames had a terrific fight to win from the Tigers.

Stiehm will listen to no such plans this year. The teams that lead in the Missouri valley, if they have not already met on the gridiron, will be matched for a post-season game, if Stiehm has anything to do with it, in which the title is at stake.

Until the outcome of the Missouri and Kansas games, the Nebraska coach can take no steps towards solving the present tangle in the Missouri Valley conference. Unless Nebraska is successful in both of these games, it is beyond Stiehm's province to attempt to interfere. The Nebraska squad should enter the Missouri game presenting the strongest front that it has presented this season. Except for unforeseen accident, the hospital list will be reduced to the minimum by the time of the game, and for the first time this season the coach will be able to present his regular lineup at the outset of the game.
