

GRAIN AND PRODUCE MARKET

After Several Days' Decline Wheat Took a Rally Yesterday.

CORN MARKET TRIFLE BULLISH Data Specialists Say Prices Would Be Much Lower but for the Fact that There is a Large Shortage of Cars.

OMAHA, Nov. 1, 1912. It was natural that wheat should have some rally from an over-sold spot late yesterday after several days' decline, even without anything fresh in the way of bull news.

The opening up of about 2,000,000 bushels of wheat in the northwest markets in addition to the heavy shipments from Duluth to Chicago for export, has naturally attracted the trade's attention to the accumulation of stocks.

The weather in the northwest is somewhat better than it was, but only a temporary improvement, but only a temporary improvement, but only a temporary improvement.

Clearances were 14,000 bushels of corn, 8,000 bushels of wheat and flour equal to 1,400,000 bushels. Liverpool closed 5/16 lower on wheat and 1/16 lower on corn.

Holidays at Home and Abroad Serve to Curtail Operations. LOCAL BANKS CALLING LOANS Day's Business on Exchange Small.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Observance of religious holidays at all the principal European centers, Berlin excepted, and a holiday in London, have served to curtail today's operations on the local stock exchange.

Prospects of impairment of clearing house reserves prompted some calling of loans by local banks. In a general way, however, conditions were quiet.

Several prominent railroad systems returned to the market for the first time this month of 1912, while the Pennsylvania gained $27,000 on its eastern lines.

Bonds were firm with marked improvement in speculative issues. Total volume of sales, $1,440,000. United States government bonds were unchanged.
